The Story of Us: Aboriginal Peoples of the Americas

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Aboriginal Visual Culture
Course Type: Studio/Seminar
Credits: 0.50

This interdisciplinary studio seminar course examines the historical and contemporary culture of North and South American aboriginal peoples. Various linguistic and cultural areas of the New World are considered, including the Inuit, the Northwest Coast and Woodland cultures of Canada, the Southwest, Great Plains and Eastern regions of the United States and the Aztec, Mayan and Incan empires. Through a consideration of the social, economic and political issues affecting aboriginal peoples, students contextualize and respond in the studio to the issues pertaining to the aboriginal arts and cultures of the New World.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of first-year liberal arts & sciences (including the Writing course with a minimum passing grade of 60%).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken ACAD 3B19 and VISC 3B19 may not take this course for further credit.

Notes: This course may be used to fulfill 0.5 credit in VISC at the 200-level.

ABVC 3B01

Bringing Visual Literacy to Aboriginal Communities (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Aboriginal Visual Culture
Course Type: Studio/Seminar
Credits: 0.50

This summer course offers 3rd year students from all faculties an opportunity to spend two months in a total-immersion environment in remote and fly-in First Nations communities in Central and Northern Ontario. Students will develop and teach curriculum in visual literacy in a variety of media and formats for First Nations children and youth, and gain valuable teaching skills and life experience within a challenging and stimulating environment. Successful applicants will participate in a preparatory seminar and orientation, will receive travel and lodging, and be equipped with supplies and media equipment to support their teaching. They will document and report their progress throughout and upon completion of the program to an off-site supervising OCADU faculty.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits) and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Notes: Registration in this course requires approval by Bonnie Devine of the Aboriginal Visual Culture Program (ABVC), 113 McCaul St, Room 1401.

Advertising Concept 1

Department: Design
Subject: Advertising
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

In this introductory studio course, students will begin to understand issues of communication in the context of contemporary advertising. Through case studies and assignments, students learn the importance of assessing, and responding to, consumer needs in the development of creative and effective advertising. Strong emphasis is placed on concept development and students are introduced to the importance of marketing communication. Typical assignments will include newspaper, outdoor, magazine and other media projects that utilize layout, typographic and photographic skills. Course delivery includes lectures, one-on-one consultations and in-class critiques. All assignments require verbal and written presentations that include research and visual components.

Prerequisites: GDES 1B18 Communication Design 2 (minimum grade of 60%)

or GDES 1B27 Graphic Communication (minimum grade of 60%)

and 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

Anti-requisites: ADVR 2K01 Advertising Concept 1

Conditions: Requires a minimum grade of 60% to advance to Advertising Concept 2.

ADVR 2B06

Advertising/Layout

Department: Design
Subject: Advertising
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Students work in a variety of media to develop an understanding of the principles of design in order to produce effective concepts that communicate. Students will learn how to construct conceptual layouts that communicate their ideas; to handle the basic elements of image making, including colour, form, photographic and illustrative images, and to sharpen typographic skills through a variety of exercises. The theories of advertising brand character as it exists in print and online, will be explored. The course is delivered using lectures, in-class discussions, personal consultations and critiques. Most assignments will require research along with written and verbal presentations.

Prerequisites: 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

Typography 1

Department: Design

Subject: Advertising

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course will provide students with a fundamental understanding of typographic form and function. Through analysis and rendering of letterforms, students will gain an understanding of the origins of our alphabet and its use in the creation of effective communication. Readability, legibility and hierarchy of typography are explored with attention given to both headline (display) and text applications. Course content will be delivered using computer-assisted lectures, in-class discussions and critiques. Assignments will require the development of acute observational skills and rendering proficiency. Theoretical knowledge will be reinforced in studio projects requiring research, analysis, preparation of reports, and multi-stage visual presentations.

Prerequisites: 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

ADVR 2B08

Advertising Concept 2

Department: Design

Subject: Advertising

Course Type: Studio

ADVR 3B04

Advertising Copywriting 1

Department: Design

Subject: Advertising

Course Type: Studio/Seminar

Credits: 0.50

The goal of this course is to instruct would-be copywriters in the essentials of effective writing for advertising. The course also recognizes that professional art directors and designers are better equipped to express their visual ideas coherently with a firm sense of the role copy plays.

The power of the written word in all advertising media is of course a key pillar in this course, providing students a firm understanding of the relevant rules of writing within every form - broadcast, print, on-line, outdoor, etc.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Typography 2

Department: Design
Subject: Advertising
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

This intermediate level course in advertising typography will require students to advance their knowledge and further develop their creative skills in the craft of typography. Through the use of research and design, and the techniques of hierarchy, structure and technical skills, students will produce creative typographic solutions. Projects for various media will be assigned including: newspapers, magazines, brochures and posters. A working knowledge of typefaces, their styles and origins, as well as computer applications is expected. Students will be expected to craft advertising headlines and text in an intelligent, effective and professional way.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

ADVR 3B13

Advertising Research

Department: Design
Subject: Advertising
Course Type: Studio/Seminar
Credits: 0.50

This course prepares students for the rigors of qualitative and quantitative research as it pertains to Advertising. It supports student success by giving them the "tools" to write a provocative and compelling Thesis Statement or Research protocol. Students gain the knowledge to form the structure, plan the best use of time and some research skills that will help them conduct the research for their chosen subject.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: ADVR 3A02 Advertising Thesis Project Prep

ADVR 3B14

Advertising Concept 4/Convergence

Department: Design

Subject: Advertising

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course continues to develop the students understanding of the trans-media narrative and challenges students to measurably improve and refine the skills they have learned when applying them to projects and assignments that are of a “real-world” nature – the complete Brand narrative. Students will evolve their knowledge of design and advertising theory, challenged through projects in the different advertising media, from mass, digital and unconventional. The need to grasp and embrace each project as a conceptual problem grounded to a strategic solution, solving that problem, and executing it with innovative and ethical values will be a focus of this course.

Prerequisites: ADVR 3B02 Advertising Concept 3/Consumption (minimum grade of 60%) and ADVR 3B03 Concept 3/Community (minimum grade of 60%) or ADVR 3B02 Advertising Concept 3 (minimum grade of 60%) and ADVR 3B03 Time-Based/Transmedia Narrative (minimum grade of 60%)

or ADVR 3K01 Advertising Concept 3 (minimum grade of 60%)

and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: ADVR 3K02 Advertising Concept 4

Conditions: Requires a minimum grade of 60% to advance to Advertising Concept 5 or Advertising Thesis Project 1.

ADVR 4B04

Advertising Copywriting 2

Department: Design

Subject: Advertising

Course Type: Studio/Seminar

Credits: 0.50

As an essential skill for both art direction and copy-focused students, this final-year, advanced course in writing advertising copy helps students polish their skills. Classes include lecture material and assignments based on writing compelling and memorable headlines and varied lengths of advertising copy, created according to strategies and objectives and in a variety of media. How the specific merging of words and pictures informs and motivates consumers, is a central theme of the course.

As an extension of Advertising Copywriting 1, the course further deepens student exposure to and agility with English language copywriting and crafting a polished portfolio.

Prerequisites: ADVR 3B04 Advertising Copywriting 1

and 14.0 credits, including all first-year and second- year requirement (10.0 credits)

ADVR 4B08

Retail Branding Project

Department: Design

Subject: Advertising

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

In addition to the Advertising Concept 6, students are expected to complete a major project which would include corporate branding (re-branding), visualization of the brand in the physical environment including overall space layout, appropriate materials / colour choices, fixtures, labeling, signage and/or interior way-finding, plus an integrated marketing campaign which would include as a minimum, up to 6 media choices and executions for all. Colour, structure and design are explored for their optimal effectiveness, resulting in a full single-voice identity program. A concluding presentation and rationale is required.

Advertising Concept 5

Department: Design

Subject: Advertising

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 1.00

Advertising Concept 5 presents advanced level projects in studio that explore a new era of advertising thinking and challenge the student to find intersections between new and old media. Though advertising has long tried to incorporate unified messages across multiple media from billboards to television to banner-ads - the rapid growth of digital technology and the degree of interconnectivity it has enabled has dramatically changed the reach and nature of the message. This is an exploration of the Convergence Culture that has begun to dominate the traditional Advertising Agency.

Prerequisites: ADVR 3K02 Advertising Concept 4 (minimum grade of 60%)

or ADVR 3B14 Advertising Concept 4/Convergence (minimum grade of 60%)

and 14.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirement (10.0 credits)

Should a student be unsuccessful in attaining a 60% average in ADVR 4C02, they will be required, regardless of their mark in ADVR 4C01, to repeat the fall component, ADVR 4C01, as well as the winter component, ADVR 4C02 and its companion course ADVR 4B08.

Notes: Students must register in the same SECTION for both ADVR 4C01 and ADVR 4C02 to allow for continuity within the class and both courses must be taken in the same academic year.

ADVR 4C02

Advertising Concept 6

Department: Design

Subject: Advertising

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 1.00

Advertising Concept 6 continues the exploration of the Convergence Culture in Advertising with a focus on completing larger projects that are worthy as portfolio pieces.

The course content concentrates on how media creators and consumers understand and make use of the new forms of media and it's content – Web 2.0, trans-media, and the concepts of participatory culture and collective intelligence are all deeply explored from concept to execution. Students search for new forms of communication and understanding between different media sources, the influence of trends, culture and current society, and even more specifically the way we conceive and execute advertising properties.

Prerequisites: ADVR 4C01 Advertising Concept 5 (minimum grade of 60%)

and 14.0 credits, including all first-year and second- year requirement (10.0 credits)

Co-requisites: ADVR 4B08 Retail Branding Project

Art & Social Change I NOT OFFERED
2012/2013

Department: Art

Subject: Interdisciplinary

Course Type: Studio/Seminar

Credits: 0.50

Covering topics from indigeneity, biodiversity, anti-racist politics and feminism, to LGBTTTQ2 issues, workers rights, civic organizing and deliberative democracy, Art & Social Change I is based on the model of a one-room schoolhouse where students engage in experiential and dialogic learning with their peers, across learning levels and program majors. Each semester begins with a field trip where students discuss key social issues including the intersections of subject formations along such lines as race, gender, class, disability, nation, systemic forms of social oppression and resistance movements. Guest speakers and community members, field trips, readings, collaborative and individual studio assignments facilitate an understanding of activism, ethics, community engagement, and project development towards a critical and reflective art practice.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Conditions: Upon the successful completion of the course students will be granted a 200 level Studio/Seminar credit.

In their 300 level ASOC Minors register for Art & Social Change II which meets with Art & Social Change I, in a combined 200/300 level course.

ASOC 3B01

Community Practice

Department: Art

Subject: Interdisciplinary

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This discipline-based service-learning course is designed to give students enrolled in a studio-based art degree a chance to work in the broader art community. It will provide an opportunity for reflection on participatory and community-based strategies for artists within a working environment. The core of this course is the placement of the individual student in an art-related work situation. Students can fulfill this requirement either through external or internal placements. Students will choose from among placements that have been suggested by Career Development in tandem with the Faculty of Art.

Prerequisites: Minimum of 10 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

ASOC 3B02

Local Global Mashup

Department: Art

Subject: Interdisciplinary

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

As more people move around the globe, local spaces become sites for new cultural encounters. This course explores artistic, intellectual and political responses to questions of migration, diaspora and indigeneity. What artistic strategies and analytical vocabularies are being developed to express increasingly transcultural and hybrid realities? How do artists, thinkers and activists engage questions of cultural exchange and cultural domination, displacement and home? With shifts in identities, values and meanings as a starting point for investigation, students create insightful works in their chosen art or design media. The class provides an inclusive and collaborative environment for studio production, viewing, reading, research, conversation, and critique.

Prerequisites: 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

BUSI 3B03

IP: The Value of Intangibles

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Business
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

The synthesis of imagination and practice can manifest the most remarkable creations: the songs of birds are streamed, toys teach literacy, developments in the entertainment field animate medical diagnosis. Such innovations are branded the “intellectual property” of the creator. How can that be? IP laws have been created to protect artists, inventors, designers, and even the public from confusing one source with another. In this course we’ll explore how and why that happens through an examination of the recent history and legislation of IP, including the rights of creators and users, how ideas are developed and protected, and brand management. The course will differentiate among trademarks, copyright, moral rights, industrial designs, trade secrets and patents in the Canadian and Global context.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits) and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken GDES 4B06: Business and Studio Practice or ILLU 4B14: Professional Practice may not take this course for further credit.

Notes: This course will fulfill 0.5 credit towards art electives in the Faculty of Art.

This course does not fulfill any Liberal Arts & Sciences requirements.

BUSI 4B01

Entrepreneurship

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: Business

Course Type: Academic Course

Credits: 0.50

The course introduces art and design students to concepts of small business and entrepreneurship, and explores the roles that entrepreneurs and smaller firms play in society. The course is also concerned with issues that relate to conceptualizing, developing and managing successful new ventures. Students will participate in a negotiated simulation exercise, visit small firms and interview entrepreneurs, and undertake an opportunity assessment (precursor to a business plan).

Prerequisites: 10.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits) and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Notes: This course will fulfill 0.5 credit towards art electives in the Faculty of Art and 0.5 credit towards expansion studios for Industrial Design majors in the Faculty of Design.

This course does not fulfill any Liberal Arts & Sciences requirements.

Understanding Trends (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: Business

Course Type: Academic Course

Credits: 0.50

In times of uncertainty, the practice of foresighting guides decision-makers through understanding and responding to change. Significantly, the practice of foresighting, is evolving as a standard practice not only for governments and large businesses, but also for artists, designers and innovators that are working within highly dynamic fields, who are designing for future needs, or who are interested in directing change – or creating a better future. This course surveys the range of techniques in foresighting but focuses on the back-bone of foresight inquiry: trend scanning and scenario planning. The course is a studio and seminar course that guides students through trend identification and tracking, scenario creation, strategic and design implications of scenario building. The course ends with student presentations of innovative concepts as responses to change.

Prerequisites: 10.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits) and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Notes: This course will fulfill 0.5 credit towards art electives in the Faculty of Art.

This course does not fulfill any Liberal Arts & Sciences requirements.

Making Community NOT OFFERED 2012/2013

*Department: Art
Subject: Criticism & Curatorial
Credits: 0.50*

This Studio course builds upon the ideas and approaches developed in the Special Focus: Talking Community course. Under faculty supervision, students undertake an internship with a community arts organization or senior artist practitioner on a specific project. The student will work collaboratively with a mentor in a manner that democratically establishes issues, ideas, goals, process and conditions of the collaboration. Students will work closely with mentors in the preparation and undertaking of art project(s).

Prerequisites: CRCP 3B03 Special Focus: Talking Community with a minimum grade of 65% and 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: Priority in registration is given to Criticism & Curatorial Practice Majors.

CRCP 3B05

A Question of Beauty

*Department: Art
Subject: Criticism & Curatorial
Course Type: Studio/Seminar
Credits: 0.50*

This advanced-level seminar investigates the complex ideas surrounding notions of beauty as they have come to be represented in the culture of Post-Modernity. Exploring the notion of beauty in art practice and theory, this course is designed to encourage active discussion and participation in a seminar setting. Text analysis, guest appearances, debates and student presentations become forums for the discussions around Post-Modernity and notions of beauty.

Prerequisites: One of the following - Contemporary Issues: Art Today courses, CRCP 2B01, DRPT 2B13, INTM 2B22 PHOT 2B12, PRNT 2B25 or SCIN 2B09 and 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken CRCP 4B01 A Question of Beauty may not take may not take this course for credit.

Notes: Priority in registration is given to Criticism & Curatorial Practice Majors.

Exhibitions: Processes, Procedures, Pragmatics

Department: Art
Subject: Criticism & Curatorial
Course Type: Studio/Seminar
Credits: 0.50

This course will introduce students to art and design museums and galleries and how they create exhibitions and bring them to public view. The course will examine and analyze the overarching process, procedures and pragmatics involved in the administration and production of exhibitions and their public reception in public museums/galleries and contemporary art galleries. The course materials will focus on a number of case studies of art and design exhibitions from the conceptual, administrative, and financial level and will investigate the theory and critical practices of museums and galleries and how they have changed and shifted as these institutions have evolved over time.

Prerequisites: CRCP 2B02 Museums, Galleries and Alternative Spaces and 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: Required for Criticism & Curatorial Practice Majors. Priority in registration is given to Criticism & Curatorial Practice Majors

Publications 2

Department: Art
Subject: Criticism & Curatorial
Course Type: Studio/Seminar
Credits: 0.50

This course builds upon the investigation and practice of publishing begun in Publications 1. Students analyse and critique current publication models in order to develop their own approach to production and dissemination. Students work collaboratively to create a catalogue, monograph or periodical designed for print and electronic distribution. Production aspects, including content and art direction, the language of the editor, fact-checking and associated research, image-sourcing, and the basic elements of layout and graphic design will constitute an important part of this course.

Prerequisites: CRCP 3B07 or CRCP 2B03, Publications 1 and 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken INTR 3B06 Visual Culture Publications II may not take may not take this course for credit

CRCP 4B02

Art Writing: A Workshop in Practice and Ideas

Department: Art
Subject: Criticism & Curatorial
Course Type: Studio/Seminar
Credits: 0.50

This advanced-level seminar enables students to develop their knowledge and understanding of critical art writing while practicing their own writing. Instruction proceeds through readings and discussion, followed by an examination of case studies as models of practice. Students work on reviews and articles of varying lengths for class analysis, engaging in both the writing and editing processes of art criticism. Although the emphasis is on active production, this course draws upon the students' studies in contemporary critical theory, including the examination and debate of issues relevant to contemporary criticism.

Prerequisites: One the following - Contemporary Issues: Art Today, CRCP 2B01, DRPT 2B13, INTM 2B22, PHOT 2B12, PRNT 2B25, or SCIN 2B09 and 13.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirements (10.0 credits).

Notes: Priority in registration is given to Criticism & Curatorial Practice Majors.

CRCP 4C01

CRCP Thesis: Research

Department: Art
Subject: Criticism & Curatorial
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 1.00

In this advanced Studio course, students use their own individual experience, research and analytical skills to develop methodologies for applying critical and curatorial practices to the discourse of art. Organized as a reading course, it allows students to work with the supervising faculty to establish areas of research applicable to their objectives. In their Research Report, students will develop the framework for a critical perspective and thesis project that will form the basis for the Thesis Presentation course (CRCP 4C02). Methods for analyzing, critiquing and curating artworks, exhibitions and texts are the subject of seminars. Students present their current research at regular meetings of the thesis group.

Prerequisites: All required 200- and 300-level CRCP courses and 3.0 credits of Liberal Studies.

Notes: Required for Criticism & Curatorial Practice Majors. Studio Thesis Research and Studio Thesis Presentation must be completed in the same academic year.

CRCP Thesis: Presentation

Department: Art

Subject: Criticism & Curatorial

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 1.00

This advanced course in Criticism and Curatorial Practice builds upon experience gained by students in their previous studies and provides them with an environment in which to bring to completion one of three thesis projects: an exhibition with a catalogue essay (which may take any form agreed upon with the supervising faculty); a major piece of critical writing; or a community based art project. Students work primarily with their supervisor and deliver presentations on the development of their project at regular meetings of the thesis group.

Prerequisites: CRCP 4C01 CRCP Thesis: Research

Notes: Required for Criticism & Curatorial Practice Majors.

DIGF 1B01

Sketching Ideas

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: DF: TIDA

Course Type: Studio/Seminar

Credits: 0.50

Digital visualizations are ubiquitous in our networked information society. This studio seminar course provides practical and theoretical studies of ideas and concepts geared towards the outcome of presentable communicated formats. The types of application range from drawing by hand, i.e. employing gesture drawing, quick sketching and simple mouse drawings, to more advanced expression using digital and haptic technologies. Class exercises will lead to informed choice-making of the appropriate tool for a particular concept or idea. Through the presentation of case studies the student will learn to examine the vast range of data and information visualization methods and be able to build their own techniques for future presentations in class or in other meetings.

DIGF 1B03

Cross-Disciplinary Collaboration

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: DF: TIDA

Course Type: Studio/Seminar

Credits: 0.50

From concept to implementation, most projects require a diversity of people and skills in order to make the project successful or feasible. This course examines different models of collaboration, team formation, and communication to ensure success. It discusses the value and implications of different skill sets and problem-solving orientations over project life-cycles and group decision making. The course comprises reading discussions, small-exercises and student reflections with the aim to understanding the conditions and stages for high-functioning teams and successful projects.

DIGF 1B04

Accio

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: DF: TIDA

Course Type: Studio/Seminar

Credits: 0.50

Everyone needs those formative conversations and debates that happen late into the night. The purpose of this course is to provide a focal point for dialogue and reflection on the digital futures program. The course encourages entering students to develop a personal interpretation and direction within the program, as well as an understanding of the broader context of the field digital futures. It offers a place to think about the big picture and provides cohesion across areas of focus in the program. The course also engages with industry and the digital community through seminars, inspirational visits and shows.

Notes: Priority registration for DF: TIDA majors.

DIGF 2B03

Physical Computing

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: DF: TIDA
Course Type: Studio/Seminar
Credits: 0.50

Physical computing is a human-centric approach to the ways in which we bridge the analog and digital worlds. Starting with a single computer chip, students learn to use a selection of sensors, actuators, and programmed logic to create embedded, expressive, reactive, and interactive systems that are suitable for both the intended application and the human form. This course is specifically geared toward the creative mind, leveraging hardware and software platforms that promote quick prototyping and iterative design. Through the use of hardware and software, students will create a variety of working prototypes, artworks, installations, and physical environments.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio (including GART 1B70 Art & Code), and 1.0 credit of first-year liberal arts & sciences (including the Writing course with a minimum passing grade of 60%).

Notes: Priority registration for DF: TIDA majors.

This course will fulfill 0.5 credit towards art electives in the Faculty of Art.

This course does not fulfill any Liberal Arts & Sciences requirements.

DIGF 3B01

Networked Communities and Environments

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Interdisciplinary
Course Type: Studio/Seminar
Credits: 0.50

This studio seminar course is a cross-disciplinary opportunity for art and design students interested in the social aspects of digital media. It offers a rigorous exploration of theories, practices, and tools related to networked communities and environments. The course will be comprised of in-class workshops orienting students to current and emerging technologies, and student-led group seminars on topics of technological and social change. Students will undertake individual and collaborative projects, carrying concepts of communities, environments, and social media networks from research through to the creation of robust interactive artworks and design prototypes.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits) and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Notes: New title: formerly Virtual Communities and Environments.

This is a core required course for the Interdisciplinary Minors in Digital Media and On-Screen Media.

This course will fulfill 0.5 credit towards art electives in the Faculty of Art and 0.5 credit towards expansion studios in the Faculty of Design (except for Illustration majors).

This course does not fulfill any Liberal Arts & Sciences requirements.

DIGF 3B02

Synthesis: Thesis Proposal

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: DF: TIDA

Course Type: Studio/Seminar

Credits: 0.50

This course will synthesize the conceptual, practical, technical and innovative knowledge learned to date. Drawing from quantitative and qualitative research methods acquired in Thinking Data, a methodological approach will be chosen by individual students in order to propose a plan of study for the production of a significant culminating project or artwork in their fourth year. Developing a proposal in third year provides an opportunity for students to hone their skills and build a framework of research and creation for their thesis project. Classes will follow a seminar structure and will concentrate on students' research and steps to realization of the chosen project/artwork.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM), and SCTM 3B02: Thinking Statistics: Data, Meaning & Analysis.

Notes: DF: TIDA majors only.

DIGF 4B01

Leadership in the Digital Economy (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: DF: TIDA

Course Type: Studio/Seminar

Credits: 0.50

This course draws on the principles and foundations from the 1st year course: Cross-disciplinary Collaboration, as well as learner experiences of executing projects during the intervening time at OCAD U. The course supplements discussions on collaboration and team functioning and focuses on issues of leadership, conflict management, decision-making models, organizational change, and inclusivity. This is a seminar that draws on experiences of learners, as well as readings from diverse professional domains of business, sociology, cultural, and science and technology studies. The course progression will also be guided by key guest lecturers and case studies.

Prerequisites: DIGF 1B03: Cross-disciplinary Collaboration

Notes: Priority registration for DF: TIDA majors.

This course will fulfill 0.5 credit towards art electives in the Faculty of Art.

This course does not fulfill any Liberal Arts & Sciences requirements.

DRPT 1C01

Introduction to Painting

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 1.00

In this full-year course students develop the foundational skills required to pursue a Major in Drawing & Painting. Students progress through a series of projects that build skill acquisition along with an exposure to a diversity of contemporary painting practices today. Working from observation, figuration, abstraction and digital processes to explore varied approaches to painting, students will investigate materiality, colour, design, historical context and concept. Along with building strong painterly skills students discover the conventions of painting to consider their cultural meanings and push at established boundaries.

Prerequisites: Drawing & Painting Program, Direct Entry

Conditions: DRPT 1C01 will meet for 3 hours, during the same time slot, in both the fall and winter semesters, Duration 1

Notes: This course has material fees associated with it.

DRPT 1C02

Drawing

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 1.00

This intense studio environment involves students in a variety of drawing processes, media and subject matter. In semester 1, observational exercises refer students to historical and contemporary drawing perspectives and stress the development of perceptual and technical skills. Students will be introduced to contemporary Canadian figurative practices while working with the human figure.

In semester 2, students continue work grounded in observation, while expanding their understanding of 2D-visualization and pictorial conventions using diverse media including print, digital, and animation processes.

Conceptually based assignments emphasize idea development, drawing's application to creative practice, and will initiate exploration into some of the current issues in contemporary drawing.

Prerequisites: Drawing & Painting Program, Direct Entry

Conditions: DRPT 1C02 will meet for 3 hours, during the same time slot, in both the fall and winter semesters, Duration 1

Notes: This course has material fees associated with it. Students who have taken GART 1C00 Drawing may not take may not take this course for credit

DRPT 2B01

Painting: Observation

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Painting from direct observation develops and expands our ability to see, perceive and translate experience. Systems of representation are examined through various subjects. Techniques such as underpainting, glazing, scumbling and alla prima (direct) painting are utilized to explore the expressive potential of painting media.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

DRPT 2B02

Abstract Painting

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course introduces students to expressive and experiential nature of abstract painting. Students develop their own painting vocabulary and an understanding of abstract form through a series of projects that emphasize the meaning of colour, gesture, form and compositional design that belie the flatness of picture plane.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

DRPT 2B03

Drawing Workshop

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Drawing is essential to visual communication as both a preparatory tool and as a distinct medium of expression. Building on the drawing techniques and the principles of perspective and composition acquired in GART 1C00, and through formal exercises utilizing a range of media, techniques and subject matter, various approaches to drawing are explored, including investigative, observational and experimental practices. This course is appropriate for both Art and Design students and requires minimal drawing experience.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

DRPT 2B05

Alternative Media /Techniques (DRPT)

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Non-traditional materials combine with drawing and painting to allow for non-conventional applications. The understanding of certain tools and media, materials and processes -- including imagery transfer techniques, traditional and non-traditional glazing, gold and metal leaf, found objects, built surfaces, wood burning and projection - are introduced through demonstrations, workshops, gallery visit(s). Students are introduced to visual strategies that explore alternative themes in contemporary art practice. Health and safety issues are highlighted.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Notes: This course is also offered through PRNT. A materials fee is collected in the first class.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

DRPT 2B06

Colour & Structure

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Colour is both a descriptive and a formal compositional element. It can express or deny spatial depth and the illusion of form, as well as create various sensory and psychological effects. Students in this course build on GART 1B04 and learn about the theory and history of colour in painting.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Notes: This course is recommended prior to taking DRPT 3B14 Intermediate Painting.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

DRPT 2B07

Figurative Drawing

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course focuses on drawing from human figure. In a range of structured exercises varying from short gestures to sustained poses, the principles of composition, proportion and volume are explored through line and tone and the modelling of light and shadow. Anatomy and portraiture are introduced, as well as techniques such as measuring and reference point, hatching and contour drawing.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

DRPT 2B08

Camera Art: Combining Media

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

An array of issues arises for artists using cameras as tools for creative expression when applied to drawing and painting practices. Through a series of workshops, slide presentations and concept development exercises, the relationship of drawing and painting to contemporary photographic practice is examined and explored.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Conditions: Basic darkroom experience is required.

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

DRPT 2B09Issues of Representation*

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Representation is a critical issue which each artist addresses in a different way, from the use of symbolism to realism, from autobiography to the appropriation of images from popular culture. This studio class encourages students to develop problem solving skills and to articulate approaches to representation which reflect their artistic concerns in drawing and painting. Lectures and slide presentations introduce students to artists who address a range of approaches to representation in their work.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

DRPT 2B19
Figurative Painting

Department: Art
Subject: Drawing & Painting
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Approaches to rendering the human figure are explored and developed through studies, sketches and studio paintings from life models. Oil and/or acrylic mediums, grounds and techniques are developed as well as solvent-free oil processes. Students build on basic painting practices developed in GART courses, focusing on techniques that relate to the painting of the figure such as ala prima, glazing, scumbling and other brushwork.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

DRPT 2B24
Materials and Processes(DRPT)

Department: Art
Subject: Drawing & Painting
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

A fundamental understanding of media results when students make their own paint and gesso. Selected painting and drawing materials, processes and techniques are introduced in slide lectures and workshops. A range of media is explored, including oils, temperas, metalpoint and encaustic wax. Processes for study include opaque and transparent systems, optical colour mixing and altering viscosity through the use of mediums. Healthy and safe studio practice is emphasized.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Notes: This is a prerequisite for DRPT 3B21 Process as Art: Meaning of Materials.

This course carries a $50 production material fee associated with it.

DRPT 2B31

Metaphor, Image and Process

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Metaphors are carriers of meaning. For the visual artist, images are the conveyors of metaphor. Students engage in the process of building an image vocabulary developed from conscious and unconscious sources. Various means of working with a personal bank of images are introduced, including serial processes, journals and working from memory. Self-generated mythologies and narratives are used as resources to create paintings.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

DRPT 2B35

Watercolour

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

The luminous transparency and fluid viscosity characteristic of watercolour are explored in this intensive medium-based workshop. Watercolour painting materials, processes and techniques are experienced as a means of expression. Students learn to handle masses of colour and gain control of this classic medium in a variety of applications.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

DRPT 2B38

Anatomy for Artists

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

In this course, students study and analyze the anatomical structure of human body in two-dimensional form and develop an understanding of proportions, bone and muscle structure, as well as the mechanics of motion. Anatomy is put into context compositionally, facilitated by sustained poses.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

DRPT 2B39Painting & Digital Imaging 1*

Department: ArtSubject: Drawing & PaintingCourse Type: StudioCredits: 0.50

The capacity to manipulate and synthesize images digitally from a vast number of sources allows artists increased latitude in generating ideas for paintings. In this studio/lab-based course, students use computers, digital cameras, tablets and scanners to gather images and create compositions for their paintings. Through a combination of painting, digital experiments and animation, students explore a range of possibilities for expanding the painter's vocabulary.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it. New title: formerly Painting and Digital Imaging

DRPT 2C03*Painting Studio*

Department: ArtSubject: Drawing & PaintingCourse Type: StudioCredits: 1.00

Contemporary practices are introduced in a series of paintings that sequentially identify and build technical and critical vocabulary. Basic skills are defined and developed through projects that relate materials and techniques to concept development and presentation. Multiple acrylic painting systems are explored through a variety of subjects. Students learn to build and prepare a range of painting supports. Safe and healthy procedures are introduced.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Notes: Must be completed at the 200 level by all Drawing & Painting Majors. Priority in registration is given to Drawing & Painting Majors.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

DRPT 2C05

Painting Studio: Observation

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 1.00

Developing perception - the consciousness with which we see, envision and understand the visible world - is vital to visual practice. Students explore both perceptual aspects and the expressive potential of observational painting, using a range of subject matter. Emphasis is on developing the ability to recognize, analyze and understand visual elements and transpose them onto a two-dimensional surface. Oils are used and safe and healthy practices are introduced. A variety of methods and techniques are explored involving discussions about 'representation'.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

DRPT 3B01

Intermediate Painting: Figurative

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Rapid and sustained studies from life models, demonstrations and individual critiques build the in-depth knowledge of painting processes and techniques that students need to represent the human figure. The emphasis is on building surfaces, the application of colours, brushstrokes and glazes, and on interpreting light and form within figure/ground relationships.

Prerequisites: 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

DRPT 3B04

Intermediate Drawing: Figurative

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course focuses on depiction and interpretation of the human figure through drawing. Building upon essential drawing techniques and anatomical studies, detailed technical instruction is provided in contour drawing, hatching and tonal rendering, using a variety of drawing media on a range of supports.

Prerequisites: 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

DRPT 3B06

Representation From Memory and Desire

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Artists' images and ideas develop from personal experience, dreams and fantasies, as well as from sources such as popular culture and mass media. To represent these visually, various materials and approaches are explored, leading to the creation of drawing or painting series of particular themes and narratives. Studio exercises and independent projects are complemented by discussions, slide and video presentations, talks by visiting artists and gallery visits.

Prerequisites: 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

DRPT 3B11

From Landscape to the Environment

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio/Seminar

Credits: 0.50

Students follow the development of the concept of "landscape" as it appears in narrative references and various art works. Both the "built" environment and nature have been interpreted and recorded in many different ways including cartography, the figure in the environment, earthworks and the imagined landscape. Emphasis is on the political and social role of these images in colonialism, imperialism and the development of a national identity. Cultural attitudes towards the environment are also discussed.

Prerequisites: One of the following – Contemporary Issues: Art Today courses, CRCP 2B01, DRPT 2B13, INTM 2B22 PHOT 2B12, PRNT 2B25 or SCIN 2B09 and 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits).

Notes: This course is part of a menu of required 3rd year DRPT Studio/Seminar courses. Priority in registration is given to Drawing & Painting Majors.

DRPT 3B14

Intermediate Painting Workshop

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Building upon the examples of historical and contemporary painting, students investigate a range of pictorial strategies common to both representational and abstract art. Additional focus is placed on developing critical skills necessary to the construction of complex visual language. A series of directed exercises lead to a body of work that explores a personal, visual vocabulary and expands technical authority through either drawing or painting.

Prerequisites: 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: This course sequentially follows from DRPT 2B06 Colour & Structure although the latter is not a prerequisite.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

DRPT 3B15

Drawing: Portraiture

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

The study of portraiture builds an understanding of anatomy, gesture and body language as vehicles of expression and communication. Using a variety of graphic media, students interpret the human face within the constructs of figurative drawing. Examples and slides of contemporary and historical portraiture, as well as demonstrations, create a context for exploration.

Prerequisites: 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

DRPT 3B16

Painting: Portraiture

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Various approaches to portraiture are explored in relation to issues of identity, figuration, and self-representation. Using a range of painting materials and methods, students work from life and further their understanding of the anatomy of human body and gesture. Slide demonstrations, support students' contextual understanding of both historical and contemporary approaches to portraiture.

Prerequisites: 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

DRPT 3B20

The Language of Abstraction

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Abstract painting is now being practiced by artists who explore the vocabulary of Modernism but reject Modernist claims to originality and purism. Students explore this history and its application to practice, as well as abstraction's move from Modernist ideas that described painting as an autonomous surface, to Post-Modern ideas surrounding painting as a cultural, textual site. The issues surrounding abstraction today, historical contexts and contemporary approaches to painting are addressed through studio projects, slide lectures and readings.

Prerequisites: One of the following – Contemporary Issues: Art Today courses, CRCP 2B01, DRPT 2B13, INTM 2B22 PHOT 2B12, PRNT 2B25 or SCIN 2B09 and 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits).

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

DRPT 3B21

Process as Art: Meaning of Materials

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

If “the medium is the message”, what are the implications of using prepackaged, manufactured paint and surfaces? In this course students are encouraged to transform existing paints as well as make their own from “found” materials and consider deeply the implications of their choices. Students propose studies from a broad range of media including encaustic, oils, temperas, acrylic, plastic and latex products, spray paints, digitally generated/altered images, and experiment with materials and processes to express content and intent. Depth of experience is achieved through the development of a series of related works undertaken as independent research directed by the faculty.

Prerequisites: 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: A materials fee is applied to this course.

DRPT 3B22

Contemporary Collage Methodologies

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course examines the implications of collage methodologies in the context of contemporary painting. Drawing upon the historical practices of Cubism, Dada and Constructivism, students do research and produce conceptually-based projects that reference post-modern architecture, electronic music, literary criticism, and cinematography. Also, this course promotes students' understanding of the concepts of appropriation, deconstruction, hybridization, as well as interdisciplinary approaches to painting.

Prerequisites: DRPT 2C03 Painting Studio or any 200-level DRPT studio course and 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

DRPT 3B23

The Convincing Picture: Critical Views on Painting

Department: Art
Subject: Drawing & Painting
Course Type: Studio/Seminar
Credits: 0.50

This course will examine some of the critiques levelled against paintings' relevance and offers a means of responding in both written and visual forms to these debates. The role of painting in contemporary visual culture and the expanding virtual realm are amongst the topics to be considered. As a studio seminar, students will read critical texts, participate in seminar presentations, write essays and make artwork responding to post-modern speculations on the validity of painting.

Prerequisites: One of the following – Contemporary Issues: Art Today courses, CRCP 2B01, DRPT 2B13, INTM 2B22 PHOT 2B12, PRNT 2B25 or SCIN 2B09 and 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: This course is part of a menu of required 3rd year DRPT Studio/Seminar courses. Priority in registration is given to Drawing & Painting Majors.

DRPT 3B24

Rethinking Abstraction from an Aboriginal Perspective

Department: Art
Subject: Drawing & Painting
Course Type: Studio/Seminar
Credits: 0.50

Students will explore the history of abstract image making from an aboriginal perspective. Theoretical and historical developments in aboriginal pictorial practice and their impact and influence on the development of American modernist notions of abstraction will be considered within the studio environment, in slide presentations and through readings. In studio projects and written assignments students will investigate and respond to contemporary expressions of meaning, narrative and spirituality, and innovative approaches to aboriginal abstract painting.

Prerequisites: One of the following – Contemporary Issues: Art Today courses, CRCP 2B01, DRPT 2B13, INTM 2B22 PHOT 2B12, PRNT 2B25 or SCIN 2B09, DRPT 2C03 Painting Studio and 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits).

Notes: This course is part of a menu of required 3rd year DRPT Studio/Seminar courses. Priority in registration is given to Drawing & Painting Majors.

DRPT 3B25

Beyond Pictorial Conventions

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio/Seminar

Credits: 0.50

This studio-seminar exposes students to the work of contemporary artists that challenges the disciplinary boundaries of drawing and painting and the notion of medium specificity. Through lectures, slide/video demonstrations, gallery visits, assigned readings, and two studio projects, students develop critical views and methodologies that allow them to further their contextual awareness of art and conceptualize interdisciplinary approaches to pictorial investigations.

Prerequisites: One of the following – Contemporary Issues: Art Today courses, CRCP 2B01, DRPT 2B13, INTM 2B22 PHOT 2B12, PRNT 2B25 or SCIN 2B09 and 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken DRPT 4B07 Beyond Pictorial Conventions may not take may not take this course for credit

DRPT 3C02

Figurative Painting Studio

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 1.00

Technical and expressive approaches to the human figure are explored as they pertain to an understanding of historical and contemporary developments in figurative representation. Through demonstrations and critiques, students deepen their understanding of the painting processes and techniques used to express and interpret psychological aspects of the figure. Practice in anatomy, colour application, the development of surface and brushstrokes are emphasized using a variety of painting media.

Prerequisites: Minimum 0.5 credit in 200-level DRPT course in figurative studies - DRPT 2B07 Figurative Drawing, DRPT 2B19 Figurative Painting or DRPT 2B38 Anatomy for Artists AND 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits).

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

DRPT 3C06

Figurative Drawing Studio

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 1.00

At this level, students develop a personal approach to figure work and explore the psychological and emotional dimensions of the drawing vocabulary. An understanding of the principles of tone, proportion and form is expanded and augmented by the course's focus on anatomy, composition and atmospheric effects. Demonstrations provide explanations, examples and instruction for students refining drawing techniques such as modelling light and shadow and contour drawing.

Prerequisites: Minimum 0.5 credit in 200-level DRPT course in figurative studies - DRPT 2B07 Figurative Drawing, DRPT 2B19 Figurative Painting or DRPT 2B38 Anatomy for Artists AND 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits).

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

DRPT 3C08

Landscape Studio

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 1.00

The landscape as subject is explored through the idea of place; a site made up of various layers of individual experiences, multiple histories and social constructs. Emphasis is on informing students of the range of contemporary approaches to place, land, nature and environment. Students develop a body of studio work that reflects their own connection to the subject. Studio processes and techniques are combined with on-site investigation.

Prerequisites: DRPT 2C03 Painting Studio or DRPT 2C05 Painting Studio: Observation and 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits).

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

DRPT 3C11

Intermediate Painting Studio

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 1.00

Through a series of directed projects, this course develops the critical and interpretative skills students need to understand contemporary issues in relation to painting practice. Students build on their knowledge of contemporary and historical practices and investigate a range of pictorial strategies common to both representational and abstract painting. Formal, technical and conceptual concerns are addressed in projects, critiques, discussions and presentations.

Prerequisites: DRPT 2C03 Painting Studio, 2.0 credits Liberal Studies and 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits) .

Notes: Must be completed at the 300 level by Drawing & Painting Majors. Priority in registration is given to Drawing & Painting Majors.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

DRPT 3C12

Painting Studio: Portraiture

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 1.00

Understanding the anatomy, gesture and language of the human head, hands or full-figure portrait as vehicles for expression and communication, deepens the artist's capacity to address issues surrounding identity, figurative representation and self-representation. Experimenting with various painting materials and methods and working from life, students explore portraiture within contemporary and historical contexts. The study of drapery and clothing strengthens an understanding of the figure's context. Slide lectures and demonstrations provide examples of a range of approaches to interpreting the uniqueness of the human personality or character.

Prerequisites: Minimum 0.5 credit in 200-level DRPT course in figurative studies - DRPT 2B07 Figurative Drawing, DRPT 2B19 Figurative Painting or DRPT 2B38 Anatomy for Artists AND 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits).

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

DRPT 3C14

Landscape Site

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 1.00

Descriptive approaches and interpretive connections to the landscape are introduced and explored. Students work primarily on-site from direct observation and later in the studio from sketches, photography, memory and imagination. They experience a range of representations of the landscape and develop a variety of techniques and processes while considering landscape from multiple points of view. Emphasis is placed on developing compositional skills expressing the form, colour and light effects of on-location painting.

Prerequisites: DRPT 2C03 Painting Studio or DRPT 2C05 Painting Studio: Observation and 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits).

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

DRPT 3C15

Painting & Digital Imaging 2

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 1.00

The capacity to manipulate and synthesize images from a vast number of sources allows artists increased latitude in generating visual ideas for paintings. Students use digital cameras, tablets and scanners to gather images from a range of sites, exploring the process of translating images from the analog to the digital and back again. Experimenting with advanced features of Photoshop, students create both compositional studies and finished digital works. Other digital techniques such as 3D, animation and projection will be considered as tools to expand the painter's vocabulary.

Prerequisites: DRPT 2B39 Painting and Digital Imaging or basic skills in Photoshop and 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: New title: formerly Digital Painting

DRPT 4B01

Advanced Painting: Figurative

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Students experiment with some of the conceptual innovations in contemporary figure painting as they deepen their proficiency with the conventions of figurative technique. At the advanced level, experience of the human subject is articulated through personal exploration of the principles of tonality and colour applied while working directly from life.

DRPT 4B06Painting – Contemporary Alchemy*

Department: ArtSubject: Drawing & PaintingCourse Type: StudioCredits: 0.50

This course will provide students with advanced study in process-based painting. Special emphasis is placed on the alteration and adaptation of manufactured and found materials, and the transformative value of writing as a tool to drive work forward. A cohesive body of work will be realized. Students propose their subject matter and field of research through investigations utilizing media including encaustic, oil, acrylic, plastic, latex, spray paints, digital and computer-generated/altered images. The course methodology is one of independent student research directed by the faculty. This course may be of particular interest as a support for Thesis project work.

Prerequisites: 13.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirements (10.0 credits)

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it. New title: formerly Painting - Alchemy and Art

DRPT 4B08*Photogenic Painting*

Department: ArtSubject: Drawing & PaintingCourse Type: StudioCredits: 0.50

Drawing on the concept of photogenic painting as proposed by Michel Foucault and Gilles Deleuze, this advanced studio course engages students in questioning the implications of photography in research, conceptualization and aesthetics of contemporary painting practice. Working on a set of self-directed projects, students develop interdisciplinary methodologies that stress the relationship between analogue and digital imaginations, beauty and the sublime. Studio work is accompanied by critiques, readings, slide and film demonstrations, and guest artist-critics presentations.

Prerequisites: Minimum 0.5 credit in 300-level DRPT course and one of the following courses – Contemporary Issues: Art Today, CRCP 2B01, DRPT 2B13, INTM 2B22, PHOT 2B12, PRNT 2B25 or SCIN 2B09 AND 13.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirements (10.0 credits).

DRPT Studio Thesis: Research

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 1.00

Drawing & Painting majors meet with a faculty panel in order to develop a thesis-based body of work. Drawing upon a thesis project proposal submitted to faculty at the beginning of the course, students engage in research and present their studio work regularly for peer and faculty reviews and discussions. The foundation of a professional practice is established through participation in lectures by visiting artists, gallery visits and panel discussions. This is a six-hour course that continues in the winter semester, resulting in a coherent body of work supported by an artist's statement, written thesis paper and oral presentation.

Prerequisites: All required 200- and 300-level DRPT Studio and STU/SEM courses and 3.0 credits in Liberal Studies AND 13.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirements (10.0 credits).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken DRPT 4C11 Advanced Studio may not take may not take this course for credit

Notes: Required for Drawing & Painting Thesis Majors. DRPT 4C01 Studio Thesis: Research and DRPT 4C03 Studio Thesis: Presentation must be completed during the same academic year.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

DRPT 4C02

Critical Response to Contemporary Figuration I

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 1.00

Character perspective, narrative tension, photo imagery and media references may challenge the viewer's notion of both aesthetics and the human body. In this advanced oil painting course, a critical understanding of the "figure as subject" is explored and expanded. Students continue to develop technical skills while learning how conceptual devices operate within contemporary contexts. Slide lectures focus on the works of international contemporary artists who utilize the human figure in new ways.

Prerequisites: Minimum 0.5 credit in 300-level DRPT course in figurative studies - DRPT 3B01, DRPT 3B04, DRPT 3C02, DRPT 3C06, DRPT 3B15, DRPT 3B16 or DRPT 3C12 AND 13.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirements (10.0 credits).

DRPT Studio Thesis: Presentation

Department: Art
Subject: Drawing & Painting
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 1.00

Drawing and painting majors further develop their work and meet with their peers and the thesis faculty panel for individual and group critiques. Building on research pursued in the first semester, students produce a cohesive body of visual work accompanied by an artist's statement, thesis paper and oral presentation. Specific emphasis is placed on contextualizing artwork within broader cultural and historical contexts, as well as the refinement of critical and presentation skills. Final evaluation is based on the completion of both the studio project and the written thesis paper.

Prerequisites: DRPT 4C01 DRPT Studio Thesis: Research

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken DRPT 4C11 Advanced Studio may not take may not take this course for credit

Notes: Required for Drawing & Painting Thesis Majors.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

DRPT 4C06

Advanced Drawing Studio: Figurative I

Department: Art
Subject: Drawing & Painting
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 1.00

This advanced-level six-hour drawing Studio course provides the opportunity to create large-scale, finished works involving multiple figures situated in a variety of environments. While experiencing highly focused individual instruction in the application of various technical skills, students define their own style and create compositions pertinent to their specific practice. The challenge of contemporary figurative image making in response to the present subject is central to this course.

DRPT 4C08

Painting in the Expanded Field

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 1.00

Since the 1980's artists have embraced painting in ways where "purity" is no longer the focus. Wallworks, floorworks, free standing structured canvas, time-based and installation work have become common practice in the expanded field of painting. Building on the history and theory of site-specific and installation art and its commonality with other disciplines, this course involves the students in pictorial and spatial investigations in the pursuit of contemporary painting practice. Through research that involves readings, gallery visits, slide lectures, drawings, and maquette constructions students will build on the skills learned in their previous courses and personal field of interests. Students will mount installation work that addresses both conventional and non-conventional materials and explore the immaterial qualities of painting.

Prerequisites: Any 0.5 300-level painting studio and 13.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirements (10.0 credits)

Conditions: Recommended prerequisite(s): DRPT 3C11 Intermediate Painting Studio & DRPT 3B22 Contemporary Collage Methodologies

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

Advanced Studio

Department: Art
Subject: Drawing & Painting
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 1.00

Students concentrate on developing a body of work while exploring current issues in drawing and painting. In tandem with their own individual interests students will conduct research that supports an indepth exploration of process and ideas. Studio practise will be supported by a research paper and oral presentations. Team taught and scheduled concurrently with DRPT Thesis, students will have access to a shared studio space for the duration of their course work. Artist presentations, panel discussions, readings and visits to art exhibitions will create context and heighten awareness of the issues impacting contemporary painting practice today.

Prerequisites: DRPT 3C11 Intermediate Painting Studio, 3.0 credits Liberal Studies AND 13.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirements (10.0 credits).

Notes: Required for Drawing & Painting Directed Studio Majors. Drawing & Painting Thesis Majors may not enroll in this course. Priority in registration is given to Drawing & Painting Majors.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

DRPT 4C13

Advanced Drawing Studio

Department: Art
Subject: Drawing & Painting
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 1.00

This course explores multiple approaches to contemporary drawing. A variety of supports, scales, working methods and installation strategies are considered. Slide presentations, readings and exhibitions that heighten awareness of contemporary drawing practices are integral to the course. Students concentrate on developing a body of work related to their own knowledge and experiences while exploring issues central to contemporary practice.

Prerequisites: Minimum 0.5 credit in 300-level DRPT course 13.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirements (10.0 credits).

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

DRPT 4C15

Graphic Representation of Contemporary Culture

Department: Art
Subject: Drawing & Painting
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 1.00

Cultural consciousness is explored through the study of graphic visual culture. Students will be engaged with looking for visual sources for work from the internet, video and film genres, television and journalism. The possibilities to expand their drawing practice into time-based media will be explored through the use of various digital applications. Readings, gallery visits, videos, and slide lectures will further investigate how cultural consciousness is expressed in traditional media and through new technologies. Students will create a range of self-directed work supported by meetings with the faculty, group critiques and seminars.

Prerequisites: One of the Contemporary Issues: Art Today courses - CRCP 2B01, DRPT 2B13, INTM 2B22, PHOT 2B12, PRNT 2B25 or SCIN 2B09 AND 13.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirements (10.0 credits).

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

ENGL 2B01

Introduction to Creative Writing

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

This seminar course offers students the opportunity to develop, critique and refine a body of writing with an emphasis on the exploration of individual style. Through lectures, writing exercises, class discussion, readings, presentations, and individual critiques, the elements and strategies involved in both the craft and the creative process of writing are examined, as are different critical theories of literature. As a way of understanding cultural and social influences on artistic vision and the creative imagination, students are exposed to a range of writers of diverse cultural and aesthetic backgrounds.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of first-year liberal arts & sciences (including the Writing course with a minimum passing grade of 60%).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken ACAD3B11 or ENGL 3B11 may not take this course for further credit.

Notes: Alumni students who are considering taking this course to fulfill their writing course requirement must make an advising appointment with the Liberal Arts & Sciences office for approval.

ENGL 2B03

Introduction to Literary Criticism

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: Liberal Studies

Course Type: Academic Course

Credits: 0.50

The focus of this course will be twofold. Firstly, it will seek to articulate the ways in which critical thinking has developed in literary criticism from the classical to the contemporary period. From this perspective, we will trace the influences of classical thought on contemporary schools by introducing students to a range of methodologies, which will include the following: formalism, semiotics, new criticism, Marxism, feminism, postmodernism, queer theory and critical race studies. Secondly, by using this historical and theoretical paradigm as a frame of reference, the course will shift into a critical analysis of theorizing by questioning the presuppositions that underlie various developments in the tradition of critical thinking. Students will be encouraged to consider the relevance of both ancient and current methodologies in relation to issues of representation and power relations in the contemporary world.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of first-year liberal arts & sciences (including the Writing course with a minimum passing grade of 60%).

Notes: This course is strongly recommended in advance of 300 or 400-level ENGL courses.

ENGL 2B06

Postcolonial Literature

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: Liberal Studies

Course Type: Academic Course

Credits: 0.50

This course looks at national and transnational literatures in a comparative perspective, focusing particularly on constructs of nation, gender, colonialism, and difference. Its aim is to imagine multiple literary times and spaces grounded in different parts of the world and in their different histories. That is, rather than creating a snapshot or conducting a literary tour of the world, this course seeks to refuse an easy commodification of Literature as a global product. All texts will be studied in their original English or in English translation.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of first-year liberal arts & sciences (including the Writing course with a minimum passing grade of 60%).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken ENGL 4B02: Topics in World Literatures or ENGL 2B06: World Literatures may not take this course for further credit.

Notes: Year level change 2010-11

Title change 2012-13

ENGL 2B10

Studies in British Literature

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: Liberal Studies

Course Type: Academic Course

Credits: 0.50

A survey of major works in British literature, through an examination of various time periods. Taking a close look at individual texts and traditions, this course considers notions of the British canon through literary representations of various time periods. Texts studied may range from Chaucer to present, to narratives of the empire, to the changing face of British literature.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of first-year liberal arts & sciences (including the Writing course with a minimum passing grade of 60%).

ENGL 3B03

Children's Literature

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: Liberal Studies

Course Type: Academic Course

Credits: 0.50

This course aims to answer the question: What is children's literature? The course will survey children's fiction, poetry, and picture-books to introduce students to a wide range of children's literature. We will examine different cultural and critical approaches to this field in relation to cultural interpretations of childhood and gender. As we discuss the social and political visions put forth in these texts, we will consider the effects of publishing and the media (for example, the Harry Potter films) on the field of contemporary children's literature. Our analysis of genre will include the study of the relationship between text and illustration. Course readings may include works by Carroll, The Brothers Grimm, Lewis, Rowling, Seuss, and others.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/MISD/VISM).

Notes: ENGL 2B03 is strongly recommended in advance of 300 or 400 level ENGL Literature courses.

ENGL 3B04

Science and Technology in Literature (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

We live in a culture in which science and technology influence how we imagine and inhabit the world. The relationship between humans and technology has long been a concern of both literary and science writers who have produced such engaging figures as the raging machine that turns on its creator and the cyborg. What are the limits of our responsibility for the technology we create and use? In this course, we will study literary and scientific representations of science and technology and the people who use it. We will consider how writers' wrestle with such concepts as destiny, free will, and utopia. Genres studied will include speculative fiction, fantasy, science writing, and creative non-fiction. Course readings may include texts by Gibson, Hopkinson, LeGuin, Orwell, Shelley, and others.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Notes: ENGL 2B03 is strongly recommended in advance of 300 or 400 level ENGL Literature courses.

ENGL 3B06

Studies in Canadian Literature

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

Taking a close look at individual texts and traditions, this course considers notions of Canada through literary representations of its people, languages, and landscapes, and through Canada's different models of verbal art (Aboriginal, African, European, and others). Texts studied may range from pre-contact indigenous myths, the diaries of early pioneers, novels of the immigrant condition, to French-Canadian works in translation. Traditions may include folklore, hip hop, the Anglo-American modernist literary tradition, and the contemporary, urban avant-garde.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken ENGL 2B02 may not take this course for further credit.

Notes: ENGL 2B03 is strongly recommended in advance of 300 or 400 level ENGL Literature courses.

ENGL 3B08

Ways of Telling: Aboriginal Literature and Narrative Tradition (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

Through a survey of Aboriginal authors, this course will introduce students to the rich literary tradition of the Americas. The course begins with the Popol Vuh codices of the ancient Maya extending to the to great oral cycle stories of the Iroquoian and Anishnaabe peoples. The course will trace Aboriginal literary development from early narratives in picture writing to contemporary expression in fiction, theatre, poetry and the essay.

Authors covered will include: novelists Eden Robinson, Joseph Boyden and Sherman Alexie; poets, Pauline Johnson, Lee Maracle, Simon J. Ortiz; playwrights Thomson Highway and Drew Hayden Taylor; and essayists Marcia Crosby, Margaret Archuleta and Gerald Vizenor.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken ABVC 3B08 may not take this course for further credit.

Notes: ENGL 2B03 is strongly recommended in advance of 300 or 400 level ENGL Literature courses.

ENGL 3B09

Creative Writing: Poetry (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

In this intensive seminar-workshop, students will learn to identify, utilize, and manipulate the building blocks of poetry: lines and stanzas, meter and rhythm, images, symbols, and figurative language. Through in-class exercises, close reading of texts produced by a diverse range of poets, and focused critique of each other's work, students will learn to effectively convey their insights and experiences, and explore ideas through powerful images and poetic structures.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM) and ENGL 2B01: Introduction to Creative Writing or permission of instructor.

Notes: Alumni students who are considering taking this course to fulfill their writing course requirement must make an advising appointment with the Liberal Arts & Sciences office for approval.

ENGL 3B10

Creative Writing: Nonfiction

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

Biography, memoir and graphic memoir, personal essay, and literary journalism: this course examines historical and contemporary incarnations of experience-based text, and asks students to draw upon their own lives to produce literary nonfiction. Students will explore such topics as the use of memorabilia and marginalia in memoir, the reliable narrator, recrafting memory, the ethics of factual accuracy, writing trauma, and veiling and unveiling truth. The class will read from a wide range of authors working in the genre (and sub-genres), including: Joan Didion, Lynn Hejninian, Diane Ackermann, Mary Karr, May Sarton, Virginia Woolf, Patrick Lane, Oscar Wilde, Truman Capote, Hunter S. Thompson, and David Sedaris.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM), and ENGL 2B01: Introduction to Creative Writing or permission of instructor.

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken ENGL 2B05: Introduction to Creative Nonfiction may not take this course for further credit.

Notes: Alumni students who are considering taking this course to fulfill their writing course requirement must make an advising appointment with the Liberal Arts & Sciences office for approval.

Year level and title change 2012-13

ENGL 3B12

Creative Writing: Short Fiction

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

In this writing-intensive seminar, students will engage in weekly workshops and in critical analysis of short stories from a diverse range of contemporary authors working in a variety of styles and forms. Through in-class exercises and guided writing activities, students will learn to craft short fiction with attention to plot, structure, character, dialogue, scene, point of view, tone and style. The in-class workshops will provide students with the language of critical analysis and with strategies for revision. Readings may include short fiction by Atwood, Capote, Carver, Cheever, Davis, Gowdy, Hemingway, Hempel, Kinciad, Marquez and Munro.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM), and ENGL 2B01: Introduction to Creative Writing or permission of instructor.

Notes: Alumni students who are considering taking this course to fulfill their writing course requirement must make an advising appointment with the Liberal Arts & Sciences office for approval.

ENGL 3B13

Studies in American Literature (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

A survey of major works in American literature, through an examination of various time periods. Taking a close look at individual texts and traditions, this course considers notions of America through literary representations of its people, languages, and landscapes. Texts studied may range from slave narratives to novels to short stories to poetry. Traditions may include folklore, hip hop, and the contemporary, urban avant-garde.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Notes: ENGL 2B03 is strongly recommended in advance of 300 or 400 level ENGL Literature courses.

ENGL 3B21

Writings by Artists (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

The tradition of artists who write is long and venerable. Since its explosion in the 1960s, the practice of artists writing has reached the point where every artist needs to write fluently. However, this institution goes back far beyond that, encompassing aesthetics, art criticism, art history, autobiography and fiction, among other genres. Through discussion, close readings and written assignments, students will explore key books in the past and present of this fertile legacy to examine — and perhaps participate in — the mutually enriching exchange between literature and visual art.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken VISC 3B92: Special Topic in Visual Culture: Artists' Autobiographies may not take this course for further credit.

Notes: ENGL 2B03 is strongly recommended in advance of 300 or 400 level ENGL Literature courses.

ENGL 3B90

Special Topic in English: Caribbean Literature

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

Caribbean literature has become, and perhaps always was, an international literature, as much of it was produced by Caribbean writers living outside of their nations of origin. The cultural and literary production of Caribbean literature will be the focus of this course, specifically looking at the period from the 1960s onward, a time when many of these countries were asserting their independence and were no longer viewing themselves as part of the "Commonwealth." Much of this creative production was thus a marker of various nationalisms, while at the same time being produced in several international metropolises. The push and pull of nation-state and diaspora will be examined in this course, which will also examine the texts within the context of postcolonial theory, considering how history, politics, race, ethnicity, and regionalism affect the creative process.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Notes: This "Special Topic" course provides more advanced analysis of a topic of general interest or relevance. This course fulfills 0.5 credit toward the Liberal Studies requirements for a BFA or BDes.

ENGL 4B04

Diasporic Writings

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

The historical legacies and lived experiences of immigration, migration and forced displacement (whether by slavery, economics, political repression or war) have produced some of the most interesting and controversial writers in contemporary literature. This course focuses on a range of diaspora communities to consider how different authors forge new forms of expressions and challenge nationalist literary histories. The class will discuss how diasporic writing raises issues of place and belonging, identity and memory, cultural multiplicities and coming to voice, citizenship and transnationalism. Readings will include literary works and contextual articles on historical, cultural and social issues to equip students with the necessary skills to conduct research in writing criticism of these literatures.

Please Note: Themes and authors may change from year to year.

Prerequisites: 10.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits) and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Notes: ENGL 2B03 is strongly recommended in advance of 300 or 400 level ENGL Literature courses.

ENGL 4B05

Digital Texts (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

This course explores how contemporary writers and artists have attempted to experiment with the post-print era - characterized by the strategies of fragmentation and recombination that digital hyperspaces make possible. By analysing digital texts and the work of cultural theorists on the nature and impact of this new medium, students will address the implications of the rise of computing and the internet for the future of literary and other cultural practices.

Prerequisites: 10.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits) and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Notes: ENGL 2B03 is strongly recommended in advance of 300 or 400 level ENGL Literature courses.

ENGL 4B06

Dub, Spoken Word & Performance Writing (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

This is a writing-intensive course where students from a range of backgrounds and poetic sensibilities engage and experiment with the transformative potential of creating socially relevant poetry as they learn how to embody their words and empower their artistic vision in performance contexts. This seminar workshop will chart and contextualize the evolution of Dub Poetry and Spoken Word and hip hop poetics through the examination of critical writings on the subject and a range of written works that live dynamically off the page.

Prerequisites: 10.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM), and ENGL 2B01: Introduction to Creative Writing or permission of instructor.

Notes: Alumni students who are considering taking this course to fulfill their writing course requirement must make an advising appointment with the Liberal Arts & Sciences office for approval.

ENGL 4B07
Graphic Novels

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

A detailed look at book-length sequential art, this course will examine the history of comic book publishing and readership, including superhero, science-fiction, historical, and autobiographical forms, as well as various international types, such as manga or historietas. Also under consideration will be an exploration of how the terms "graphic novel," "comic book," and "popular culture" affect perceptions of the genre. How meaning is approached and understood when text and images are incorporated will be a central theme of the course.

Prerequisites: 10.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits) and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Notes: ENGL 2B03 is strongly recommended in advance of 300 or 400 level ENGL Literature courses.

ENGL 4B08
Queer Literature

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

This course explores the ways in which sexualities, gender identities, and sexual politics are addressed through a body of literature known as "queer" (including but not limited to lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgendered, twin-spirited, and gender transient). Together we will examine ways in which race, gender, language, and culture have intersected with representations of queerness in classical and contemporary literature.

Prerequisites: 10.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits) and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Notes: ENGL 2B03 is strongly recommended in advance of 300 or 400 level ENGL Literature courses.

ENGL 4B09

Hybrid & Experimental Writing (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

Post-modernism has ushered in unprecedented possibilities for new writing forms, including but by no means limited to: image narrative, cross-genre, electronic, experimental, inter-disciplinary works, performance and post-genre writing. Through seminars, workshops, and peer group critiquing, this course will provide students an opportunity to explore the possibilities of contemporary creative writing as they bring their vision and voice to new and emerging literary forms.

Prerequisites: 10.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM), and ENGL 2B01: Introduction to Creative Writing or permission of instructor.

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken ENGL 3B90: Special Topic in English: Creative Writing: Contemporary and Experimental Forms in 2006, 2007, 2008 or ENGL 3B05: Creative Writing: Contemporary and Experimental Forms may not take this course for further credit.

Notes: Alumni students who are considering taking this course to fulfill their writing course requirement must make an advising appointment with the Liberal Arts & Sciences office for approval.

Course level and title change 2012-13

ENVR 1B01

Environmental Design 1

Department: Design
Subject: Environmental Design
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

This course will introduce students to the visual language required to express creative ideas in two and three dimensions. Using a variety of tools, techniques and materials, students will become familiar with the conceptual frameworks, organizational principles and creative processes employed in environmental design. Emphasis will be placed on the creation of three-dimensional artifacts, on the two-dimensional drawing techniques required to represent these artifacts, and on the iteration between dimensions required to advance a comprehensive and compelling environmental design proposition. In support of meaningful creativity, students will be introduced to the use and implications of analogue fabrication, such as prototype- and model-making, as well as analogue representation, such as freehand, hard-line paraline and perspective drawing. Students will also be challenged to observe, explore and evaluate the designed world they inhabit, in order to locate their own creations in a contemporary and historic context.

Notes: It is recommended that students register with the SAME INSTRUCTOR for ENVR 1B01, ENVR 1B02, ENVR 1B05 and GDES 1B13.

ENVR 1B02

Environmental Design 2

Department: Design

Subject: Environmental Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course will introduce students to the common problems of architectural, landscape, interior and urban design. Students will be exposed to issues of structure and material, personal and universal spatial concepts, aesthetic and experience against the backdrop of contemporary economic, social and environmental sustainability. This course will explore the design and representations of space using both 2D and 3D methods. In addition to the ongoing development of analogue abilities, students will be introduced to the use and implications of digital technology, such as computer-aided drawing, modeling, rendering and fabrication.

Prerequisites: ENVR 1B01 Environmental Design 1

Conditions: This is a core Environmental Design course. Students must achieve a minimum grade of 60% in this course to advance to ENVR 2B17: Exploration Studio/Personal Space.

Notes: It is recommended that students register with the SAME INSTRUCTOR for ENVR 1B01, ENVR 1B02, ENVR 1B05 and GDES 1B13.

ENVR 1B04

Materials and Methods

Department: Design

Subject: Environmental Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Materials and Methods introduces students to the materials of wood and metal and the working methods and properties associated with them. Students will explore the material properties, characteristics and appropriateness for specific design outcomes. Students will also develop familiarity with workshop protocols including an understanding of health and safety procedures and familiarity with basic hand and machine tools.

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

ENVR 1B05

Concept Drawing

Department: Design

Subject: Environmental Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Concept Drawing introduces the student to the sketching tools required to explore and represent both direct observation and conceptual thinking. Employing both manual and digital drawing tools, this course exposes the student to analytical methods, scale, measurement and proportion, orthographic, axonometric and perspective projection. Teaching methods include lectures, studio labs, readings and exercises.

Prerequisites: GDES 1B13 Solid & Void: Drawing Form and Space

Anti-requisites: ENVR 2B20 Concept Drawing

Notes: It is recommended that students register with the SAME INSTRUCTOR for ENVR 1B01, ENVR 1B02, ENVR 1B05 and GDES 1B13.

ENVR 2B15

Research Studio/Colour & Form

Department: Design

Subject: Environmental Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

An understanding of colour and light as conceptual, formal and psycho-physical determinants of space/form is important to environmental design practitioners. Through studio assignments, this course will focus on colour and light as interconnected environmental forces which affect human perception of space/form/time. Students will study the physical and psychological implications of light and colour as design elements. Light and its absence will be explored as primary purveyors of shape and form, emotive power and ambient atmosphere. Experiments with colour relativity and modes of colour selection will enhance the ability of students to use colour confidently in a variety of design applications. Colour trends and colour forecasting, natural and human-made materials, lighting sources and their colouristic as well as psycho-physiological impact will also be investigated. Projects will require the student to conduct research, construct three-dimensional models and prepare presentations, both verbal and visual.

Prerequisites: 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

ENVR 2B17

Exploration Studio/Personal Space

Department: Design

Subject: Environmental Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course will introduce students to a conceptual approach to the design of form and environment, with a special focus on design at a smaller human scale. The positive support of a person's intimate interaction with and utilization of space and object, as well as its impact on space and form, will be studied through careful review of spatial components and ergonomics. Emphasis will be on three-dimensional design and will require the student to develop, build and present models of their work.

When registering for ENVR 2B17, students must choose an accompanying lab in either Metal or Wood. In these labs, students are introduced to the tools, machinery, materials and processes related to fabricating.

Prerequisites: GDES 1B28 Objects & Environments (mimimum grade of 60%) or ENVR 1B02 Environmental Design 2 (mimimum grade of 60%)

and 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

Co-requisites: Students are required to select on Exploration Studio/Personal Space Lab, working in either metal or wood (3 hrs per week)

Anti-requisites: ENVR 2K01 Exploration Studio/Personal Space

Conditions: Requires a minimum grade of 60% to advance to ENVR 2B19 Exploration Studio/Social Space.

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

ENVR 2B18

Building Technology & Structure 1

Department: Design

Subject: Environmental Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Students will gain a thorough understanding of building materials and construction techniques. This knowledge impact on initial design decisions and is essential to the successful completion of structures. An understanding of fundamentals of natural and man-made structures is equally necessary for the development of strong and functional design. An investigation of engineered construction systems, fabrication and assembly techniques, as applicable to building structures will enable the student to realize the more pragmatic construction nature of their conceptual designs. Studio assignments will develop the student's skill in CAD drawing in support of developing an understanding of building technology, material and structures.

Prerequisites: 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

Anti-requisites: ENVR 2A04 Building Technology & Structure 1

ENVR 2B19

Exploration Studio/Social Space

Department: Design

Subject: Environmental Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Using the design knowledge gained in the fall Research Studio, students will learn creative methods in the design of large scale social spaces, including architecture, urban design and landscape. Emphasis will be placed on the concept and the three-dimensional development of form. Projects will require students to develop, present and build models of their work in order to develop a full understanding of human interaction with utilization of social spaces.

Experimentation will involve the design and siting of multiple, inter-related buildings, landscape and urban design.

When registering for ENVR 2B19, students must choose whichever accompanying lab was not taken in the fall (either Metal or Wood). In these labs, students are introduced to the tools, machinery, materials and processes related to fabricating.

Prerequisites: ENVR 2K01 Exploration Studio/Personal Space (mimimum grade of 60%) or ENVR 2B17 Exploration Studio/Personal Space (mimimum grade of 60%)

and 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

Co-requisites: Students are required to register for the Exploration Studio/Social Space Lab, working in either metal or wood, which was not taken in the fall. (3 hrs per week)

Anti-requisites: ENVR 2K02 Exploration Studio/Social Space

Conditions: Requires a minimum grade of 60% to advance to ENVR 3B21 Core Project Studio/Residential.

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

ENVR 2B20

Concept Drawing

Department: Design
Subject: Environmental Design
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

The designer's need to express ideas clearly when transmitting pragmatic information and to depict concept and form effectively is paramount in successful design. In this course, students will develop their sketching skills for visualization and idea development as well as orthographic drawing to communicate those ideas.

Assignments will address the varying requirements of design drawing through the students' studio work as well as that of existing environments. Students will review, explore and discuss examples of sketching techniques in order to find their own voice.

Prerequisites: 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

Anti-requisites: ENVR 1B05 Concept Drawing

ENVR 2B21

Research Studio/Social Space

Department: Design
Subject: Environmental Design
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Students will research, investigate and interpret a range of social spaces including architecture, urban design and landscape. Students will examine existing public projects through a formal series of studio assignments utilizing various documentation media and techniques. Existing spaces will be analyzed using traditional research methods, and students will formulate critiques and propose new conceptual, structural and elemental interpretations. They will explore the spatial language of plan, section, elevation and their implied volumes in learning to see, measure and critique the dimensions, spatial patterns and characteristics of social space.

Prerequisites: 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

Anti-requisites: ENVR 1B03 Research Studio/Social Space

Notes: To be offered in 2013/14

ENVR 2B22

Presentation Drawing and Rendering

Department: Design

Subject: Environmental Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Designers must learn to select and develop suitable drawing and rendering techniques to communicate effectively the concept, mood, form and structure of an interior project. This course examines the variety of media used by professional designers. Students experiment, develop and apply these techniques to studio projects. Graphite, ink, marker and coloured pencil on paper or mylar are typical of techniques used to produce presentation drawings. The role of the computer with respect to hand rendering is also explored and discussed.

Prerequisites: ENVR 1B05 Concept Drawing

and 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

For 2012/13 only, the prerequisite for this course will be completion of GDES 1B06 and GDES 1B13 since ENVR 1B05 did not exist in 2011/12.

Anti-requisites: ENVR 3B23 Presentation Drawing and Rendering or ENVR 3A01 Presentation Drawing and Rendering

ENVR 3B17

Myths, Beliefs and Imagery

Department: Design

Subject: Environmental Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This studio focuses on creating an initial understanding of the scope and richness of our world's mythologies and belief systems while developing methods of recognizing these systems within a design project. Students will research systems particularly relevant to their own studies and interests, and utilize this understanding within the development of a studio project. Participants will share their research and design within the classroom, creating a collective understanding of the fertility and depth of the topic. This studio is intended to enhance breadth in the student's evolving iconographic vocabulary and develop their ability to generate and participate in a relevant dialogue within the context of the multiple heritages of our modern society.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

ENVR 3B18

Building Systems & Interior Materials: Residential

Department: Design
Subject: Environmental Design
Course Type: Studio/Seminar
Credits: 0.50

This course examines the principles, regulations, systems, materials and details of residential interior design within the context of the Ontario Building Code. Construction systems, plumbing, acoustics, lighting, security systems, heating, electrical, as well as sustainable design are introduced. Course work is studio based with outside guest lecturers as appropriate. In the studio project, students will prepare contract documentation which will include floor plans, wall elevations and sections, reflected ceiling plans, as well as schedules.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

ENVR 3B19

Building Systems & Interior Materials: Commercial

Department: Design
Subject: Environmental Design
Course Type: Studio/Seminar
Credits: 0.50

This course examines the principles, regulations, systems, materials and details of commercial interior design within the context of the Ontario Building Code. Construction systems, building services, electrical systems, lighting systems, heating, ventilation, air conditioning systems (HVAC), data/voice telecommunication systems, fire ratings, and plumbing including sprinkler systems, energy management, power distribution systems and acoustics. The principles and practice of sustainable design, as well as Leed certification are continued. Course work is studio based with visiting guest lecturers as appropriate. In the studio based project, students will prepare contract documentation which will include reflected ceiling plans, partition sections, floor plans, fixture schedules and finish schedules.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

ENVR 3B20

Core Project Studio/Retail & Hospitality

Department: Design

Subject: Environmental Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This core studio focuses on the more commercial project work involved in design for retail merchandising and hospitality environments which explore issues related to retail, restaurant and hotel environments. While the course focus is on the development of convincing and imaginative design ideas, students must give consideration to defined programmatic requirements. Developed designs are communicated through models, sketches and orthographic drawings.

Prerequisites: ENVR 3K02 Core Project Studio/Residential (minimum grade of 60%) or ENVR 3B21 Core Project Studio/Residential (minimum grade of 60%)

and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: ENVR 3K01 Core Project Studio/Retail & Hospitality

Conditions: Requires a minimum grade of 60% to advance to ENVR 4C01 Environmental Design Thesis I or ENVR 4C03 Environmental Design Studio 1.

ENVR 3B21

Core Project Studio/Residential

Department: Design

Subject: Environmental Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This core studio course focuses on project work involved in the design of a residential project typical of the profession. Students investigate methods of generating conceptual ideas which can be utilized throughout the various stages of the project. Emphasis is on the reinforcement of the conceptual ideas in the planning and three-dimensional design development stages, incorporating the pragmatic and functional aspects of residential design. Developed designs are communicated through sketches, orthographic drawings and models. This is a studio course utilizing lectures, discussion and individual critiques to develop design portrayed by models, drawings, verbal and visual presentations.

Prerequisites: ENVR 2K02 Exploration Studio/Social Space (minimum grade of 60%) or ENVR 2B19 Exploration Studio/Social Space (minimum grade of 60%)

and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: ENVR 3K02 Core Project Studio/Residential Conditions: Requires a minimum grade of 60% to advance to ENVR 3B20 Core Project Studio/Retail & Hospitality Design

Introduction to Lighting

Department: Design

Subject: Environmental Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

The use of light and materials as complementary elements to create environments that have emotive, spiritual and experiential qualities is key in design. This course focuses on the design of lighting in the context of space and materials to create strong qualitative experiences. Students develop their understanding of the applicable principles in lighting design through lectures and studio work focused on developing experience to demonstrate key design approaches.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: ENVR 4A02 Lighting & Materials

ENVR 3B23

Presentation Drawing and Rendering

Department: Design

Building Technology & Structure 2

Department: Design

Subject: Environmental Design

Course Type: Studio/Seminar

Credits: 0.50

This course focuses on the nature of the detail and fabrication phases of the design process. Students select a small studio design project to be developed through the detailing of structure, cladding and materials. Pertinent lectures and take-home exam materials on the Ontario building code support project work culminating in a complete working drawing package.

Prerequisites: ENVR 2A04 Building Technology & Structure 1 or ENVR 2B18 Building Technology & Structure 1

and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

ENVR 3B25

Universal and Accessible Design for the Built Environment

Department: Design

Subject: Environmental Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course will provide students with an overview of the philosophy and evolution of the Universal Design movement, the ergonomic / functional issues associated with the diversity of human ability, as well as the legislative, economic and demographic factors that apply to the built environment. Strategies for creating inclusive outcomes, in residential, commercial, institutional, retail and landscape environments will be addressed, along with the limitations of design for accessibility and the differences between Accessible and Universal Design. Studio work will address how Universal Design principles can be applied to removing the numerous barriers in the built environment, which prevent individuals from gaining access to and fully participating in important activities such as jobs, education and the use of services and facilities.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: ENVR 2B16 Universal and Accessible Design for the Built Environment

Notes: To be offered in 2013/14

Professional Practice

Department: Design

Subject: Environmental Design

Course Type: Studio/Seminar

Credits: 0.50

This course provides practical information on professional interior design business practices. Contracts, pricing, fees, government regulations, financial planning, client relations and time management are covered. The course discusses types of business organizations, managerial skills and procedures for starting a business and is of interest to environmental students who will be providing design services, marketing their designs or obtaining and negotiating commissions.

Prerequisites: 14.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirement (10.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: ENVR 4A03 Professional Practice

ENVR 4C01

Environmental Design Thesis I

Department: Design
Subject: Environmental Design
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 1.00

This studio is designed to support a student in the exploration of an approved thesis topic. Students will be required to submit a Thesis Proposal in advance of this studio. The purpose of the Thesis Proposal is to aide the student and the faculty in developing a meaningful direction for the development and execution into an approved area of investigation. In Thesis I students will be expected to refine their thesis idea and to define the project scope by developing an outline program exploring the context of a site and the beginnings of an articulated architectural formal language.

Prerequisites: ENVR 3K01 Core Project Studio/Retail & Hospitality (minimum grade of 60%) or ENVR 3B20 Core Project Studio/Retail & Hospitality (minimum grade of 60%)

and 14.0 credits, including all first-year and second- year requirement (10.0 credits)

Conditions: Requires a minimum grade of 60% to advance to ENVR 4C02 Environmental Design Thesis II.

Should a student be unsuccessful in attaining a 60% average in ENVR 4C02, they will be required, regardless of their mark in ENVR 4C01 to repeat the fall component of Thesis, ENVR 4C01, as well as the winter component of Thesis, ENVR 4C02.

Notes: Due to course content, it is required that students register with the SAME INSTRUCTORS for ENVR 4C01 and ENVR 4C02 and both courses must be taken in the same academic year.

ENVR 4C02

Environmental Design Thesis II

Department: Design
Subject: Environmental Design
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 1.00

This studio is designed to support the student in the exploration of an approved Thesis Topic and follows on the successful completion of ENVR 4C01 Environmental Design Thesis I. Thesis II will explore in deliberate terms the research and ideas developed and presented at the conclusion of Thesis I and to apply this knowledge in a successful and comprehensive design solution. The work of Thesis II will be brought to a successful conclusion with a public presentation of the design outcome and submission of a final report to be archived in the OCADU Library.

Prerequisites: ENVR 4C01 Environmental Design Thesis I (minimum grade of 60%) and 14.0 credits, including all first-year and second- year requirement (10.0 credits)

Conditions: Students must achieve a minimum grade of 60% in this course as a condition for graduating.

Should a student be unsuccessful in attaining a 60% average in ENVR 4C02, they will be required, regardless of their mark in ENVR 4C01 to repeat the fall component of Thesis, ENVR 4C01, as well as the winter component of Thesis, ENVR 4C02.

Notes: Due to course content, it is required that students register with the SAME INSTRUCTORS for ENVR 4C01 and ENVR 4C02 and both courses must be taken in the same academic year.

ENVR 4C03

Environmental Design Studio 1

Department: Design

Subject: Environmental Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 1.00

This advanced studio will focus on the exploration of complex physical, special and functional programs in the built environment. It is intended to extend the knowledge gained in all previous core studios and core courses to present comprehensive design solutions that are socially, technically and creatively crafted. Studio topics will be determined by their capacity to challenge the students' creativity allowing the student to select topics from health care and interior-imaging to housing and urban ecology.

Prerequisites: ENVR 3K01 Core Project Studio/Retail & Hospitality (minimum grade of 60%) or ENVR 3B20 Core Project Studio/Retail & Hospitality (minimum grade of 60%)

and 14.0 credits, including all first-year and second- year requirement (10.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: ENVR 4C01 Thesis II Project Development

Conditions: Requires a minimum grade of 60% to advance to ENVR 4C04 Environmental Design Studio 2.

Should a student be unsuccessful in attaining a 60% average in ENVR 4C04, they will be required, regardless of their mark in ENVR 4C03 to repeat the fall component of of this course, ENVR 4C03, as well as the winter component, ENVR 4C04.

Notes: Due to course content, it is required that students register with the SAME INSTRUCTORS for ENVR 4C03 and ENVR 4C04 and both courses must be taken in the same academic year.

ENVR 4C04

Environmental Design Studio 2

Department: Design

Subject: Environmental Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 1.00

This advanced studio will extend the exploration of complex physical, special and functional programs in the built environment started in ENVR 4C03. Like ENVR 4C03 it is intended to demonstrate the knowledge gained in all previous core studios and core courses to present comprehensive design solutions that are socially, technically and creatively crafted. This studio culminates in the presentation of the full years work and includes a complete set of design drawings and models that fully represent the design intent. The use of both analogue and digital production will be encouraged to fully represent both the design process and final design outcome. Students will be expected to have addressed issues of accessibility and sustainable design solutions.

Prerequisites: ENVR 4C03 Environmental Design Studio 1 (minimum grade of 60%)

and 14.0 credits, including all first-year and second- year requirement (10.0 credits)

Conditions: Students must achieve a minimum grade of 60% in this course as a condition for graduating.

Should a student be unsuccessful in attaining a 60% average in ENVR 4C04, they will be required, regardless of their mark in ENVR 4C03 to repeat the fall component of this course ENVR 4C03, as well as the winter component, ENVR 4C04.

Notes: Due to course content, it is required that students register with the SAME INSTRUCTORS for ENVR 4C03 and ENVR 4C04 and both courses must be taken in the same academic year.

FABR 2B01

Introduction to Fabrication: Bronze Casting & Digital Process

Department: Art
Subject: Fabrication Studios
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

This studio course presents a creative approach to fundamental skills and techniques involved in the making of cast bronze and aluminum sculpture. Students will produce small sculptural forms through the lost wax process and be introduced to 3D technology and Rapid Prototyping (RP) computer automated fabrication. Through both analogue and digital approaches, students will be introduced to bronze casting applications in contemporary art and design. Students are encouraged to link their bronze casting project with multi media sculpture/installation concepts.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Notes: Priority in registration is given to Sculpture/Installation Majors.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it. New title: formerly Introduction to Fabrication: Bronze Casting

FABR 2B02

Introduction to Fabrication: Metal

Department: Art
Subject: Fabrication Studios
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Students investigate a range of available metal products, techniques, and applications. Students also learn to work competently with basic tools and materials. Though an emphasis is placed upon skills development, students also explore the application of metal fabrication processes in contemporary art and design. Students are encouraged to link their metal fabrication projects to their studies in other areas.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Notes: Priority in registration is given to Sculpture/Installation Majors.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

FABR 2B03

Introduction to Fabrication: Mouldmaking

Department: Art

Subject: Fabrication Studios

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Students begin to investigate the range of available mouldmaking materials, techniques and applications, while learning to cast objects in a variety of materials. Though an emphasis is placed upon skill development, students also explore the applications of mouldmaking in contemporary art and design. Students are encouraged to link their mouldmaking projects with work in other areas of study.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

APPLICABLE TO SECTIONS OFFERED AS FIRST-YEAR ELECTIVES ONLY: Students must have completed

a minimum of 1.0 credit of First-year studio curriculum including GART 1B05 Form and Structure.

Notes: Priority in registration is given to Sculpture/Installation Majors.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

FABR 2B04

Introduction to Fabrication: Plastics

Department: Art

Subject: Fabrication Studios

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Students investigate a range of plastic materials, techniques and applications and learn to work competently with basic tools (including power and hand tools and their application to standard construction practices). Though an emphasis is placed upon skill development, students also explore the applications of plastic fabrication through examples of contemporary art and design. Students are encouraged to link their plastic fabrication projects to their studies in other areas.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

APPLICABLE TO SECTIONS OFFERED AS FIRST-YEAR ELECTIVES ONLY: Students must have completed

a minimum of 1.0 credit of First-year studio curriculum including GART 1B05 Form and Structure.

Notes: Priority in registration is given to Sculpture/Installation Majors.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

FABR 2B05

Introduction to Fabrication: Wood

Department: Art

Subject: Fabrication Studios

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Students investigate a range of available wood products, techniques, and applications and learn to work competently with basic tools and equipment. This course is intended for "beginners" who have had no previous training and experience using basic hand tools or simple woodworking machines. Though an emphasis is placed on skills development, students also explore the application of wood fabrication skills in contemporary art and design. Students are encouraged to link their wood fabrication projects to their studies in other areas.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Notes: Priority in registration is given to Sculpture/Installation Majors.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

FABR 2B07

Dataspace - Producing Data Objects

Department: Art

Subject: Fabrication Studios

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course will introduce students to a creative approach to 3D software, 3D scanning and 3D Rapid Prototyping technologies and the production of material or immaterial artworks. Students will be exposed to a new approach to space (dataspace) utilizing new processes of computer automated fabrication technologies. Students will explore new technologies and issues of aesthetics and ideas as related to the development of contemporary art practice. This course will also introduce students to a new digital language as they develop concepts, ideas and expertise in the making of sculpture and installation works.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Notes: Priority in registration is given to Sculpture/Installation Majors.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

FABR 3B01

Fabrication Studio: Digital-Bronze Casting

Department: Art

Subject: Fabrication Studios

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This studio course presents a conceptual and practical approach to developing art or design projects utilizing new processes related to foundry and 3D digital technology. Students are introduced to a digital approach through 3D software, 3D scanning and Rapid Prototyping, combined with an analog approach to the lost wax process for bronze and aluminum casting. Students explore the relevance of both analog and digital technology in addition to considering issues of aesthetics and ideas as related to the development of contemporary art and design practices.

Prerequisites: FABR 2B01 Introduction to Fabrication: Bronze Casting & Digital Process.

Notes: Priority in registration is given to Sculpture/Installation Majors.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

FABR 3B02

Fabrication Studio: Metal

Department: Art

Subject: Fabrication Studios

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Fabrication Studio courses allow students to further develop their skills and expertise while working under the direction of faculty. An emphasis is placed upon integrating issues of technique, aesthetics and ideas as they relate to the development of an art and design practice.

Prerequisites: FABR 2B02 Introduction to Fabrication: Metal

Notes: Priority in registration is given to Sculpture/Installation Majors.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

FABR 3B03

Fabrication Studio: Mouldmaking (NOT OFFERED 2012/2013)

Department: Art
Subject: Fabrication Studios
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Fabrication Studio courses allow students to further develop their skills and expertise while working under the direction of faculty. An emphasis is placed upon integrating issues of technique, aesthetics and ideas as related to the development of an art and design practice.

Prerequisites: FABR 2B03 Introduction to Fabrication: Mouldmaking.

Notes: Priority in registration is given to Sculpture/Installation Majors.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

FABR 3B04

Fabrication Studio: Plastics

Department: Art
Subject: Fabrication Studios
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Fabrication studios allow students to further develop their skills and expertise while working under the direction of faculty. An emphasis is placed upon integrating issues of technique, aesthetics and ideas as they relate to an art and design practice.

Prerequisites: FABR 2B04 Introduction to Fabrication: Plastics

FABR 3B05

Fabrication Studio: Wood

Department: Art

Subject: Fabrication Studios

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Fabrication Studio courses allow students to further develop their skills and expertise while learning more advanced methods and techniques. Students learn to problem-solve through a growing understanding of the qualities of specific woods and the versatility of different processes and equipment. An emphasis is placed upon integrating issues of technique, aesthetics and ideas as they relate to the development of an art or design practice.

Prerequisites: FABR 2B05 Introduction to Fabrication: Wood

Notes: Priority in registration is given to Sculpture/Installation Majors.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

FABR 4B01

Fabrication Studio: Advanced Digital-Bronze Casting

Department: Art

Subject: Fabrication Studios

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This advanced studio course presents an in-depth approach to processes related to bronze casting and digital technology. Students are encouraged to link 3D technology (3D scanning and Rapid Prototyping; 3D printing and CNC) with their hands-on analogue expertise in the making of 3D works cast in bronze or aluminum. Students are exposed to creative approaches to fabricating through combining a new digital medium with a traditional lost wax process for metal casting. Students explore the relevance of both analogue and digital spatial environments, as they further develop their art and design practice.

Prerequisites: FABR 3B01 Fabrication Studio: Digital-Bronze Casting or equivalent.

Notes: Priority in registration is given to Sculpture/Installation Majors.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it. New title: formerly Fabrication Studio: Advanced Bronze Casting

FLOR 3E01

Florence Directed Study (Fall)

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 2.00

The studio portion of the Florence Off-Campus Studies involves the research and development of a body of work under the direction of the supervising Faculty. In the first semester, students become oriented to Florence and begin to develop a focus for their work. Initial assignments lead to self-defined project proposals and independent production guided by regular group and individual critiques. Field trips assist in broadening the students' exposure to Italy and its culture.

FLOR 3E02

Florence Directed Study (Winter)

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 2.00

The second semester in Florence involves continued directed studio activity with a greater emphasis on completing a body of work for final presentation. The articulation of a written artist's statement is required. Group and individual critiques are combined with some class presentations and independent production time. Field trips continue to augment the students' learning experience in Italy.

FLOR 4E01

Florence Directed Study (Fall)

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 2.00

At this level, students are expected to display a strong commitment to their Studio practice. Students submit a written proposal outlining the direction of their studio practice and historical or theoretical influences. During the first semester, each student develops an independent body of work in consultation with the Coordinator. Students in the 400 level take part in critical discussions and critiques with their peers from the 300 and Advanced Visual Certificate levels. Field trips assist in broadening the students' exposure to Italy and its culture. Students pursuing a Major will be required to produce a written research component and Thesis document which supports their Studio work.

FLOR 4E02

Florence Directed Study (Winter)

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 2.00

During the second semester students are expected to have developed a significant body of Studio work. Individual and group critiques and discussions and ongoing meetings with the coordinator continue to challenge the studio production of students in the 400 level. By the end of the second semester, students present a body of work which ties together their written proposal and their Studio practice. Students pursuing a major present a written Thesis component.

FLOR 5E01

Florence Directed Study (Fall)

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 2.00

Study for Fifth Year students is intended for portfolio development in preparation for entry into Master's programs or professional practice. Students in Fifth Year are expected to take an increasing leadership role in student critiques and Florence Studio concerns. The Directed Studio involves the development of a project as proposed by the student at the time of admission. Student projects consist of work in art or design, and involve research in the fields of history, theory or studio practice or in any combination. In the first semester, Certificate students begin to undertake this body of work and take part in individual and group critiques and discussions with their 300- and 400-level peers. Certificate students meet on a regular basis with the Florence Coordinator and present their work to the Certificate Committee at the end of each semester. Field trips assist in broadening the students' exposure to Italy and its culture.

FLOR 5E02

Florence Directed Study (Winter)

Department: Art

Subject: Drawing & Painting

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 2.00

Certificate students continue to develop a body of work and research. Students continue to meet with the Florence Coordinator for guidance as they progress through their Directed Studies project. By the end of the academic year in Florence, Certificate students give a studio presentation to their 300- and 400-level peers and the Certificate Committee. As part of their presentation Certificate students also prepare and present a final written report outlining the body of work and research undertaken and carried out.

GART 1B01

Drawing 1

Department: Art

Subject: First-Year Art

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Drawing, while a discipline in its own right, has significant applications in other art forms. This intense studio environment involves students in a variety of drawing processes, media and subject matter.

Observational drawing exercises refer students to historical and contemporary drawing perspectives and stress the development of perceptual and technical skills. Conceptually based assignments emphasize the development of ideas and research. In this context, drawing operates as an expressive vehicle for both the conceptualizing process and sustained communication.

GART 1B02

Drawing 2

Department: Art

Subject: First-Year Art

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

In Drawing 2, students expand upon the experience gained in Drawing 1. Continuing their studies grounded in observation, students will intensify their understanding of 2D visualization and explore narrative strategies through a diverse range of media including print and digital processes. Students will be introduced to contemporary Canadian and other figurative practices while working further with the human figure. Conceptually based assignments will emphasize idea development, understanding drawing as a sustained creative practice, and will initiate students into some of the current issues in contemporary drawing.

Prerequisites: Students must have completed a minimum of 1.0 credit of First-year studio curriculum including GART 1B01 Drawing 1

GART 1B03

Introduction to Digital Practices: Globalization

Department: Art
Subject: First-Year Art
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

In the contemporary world, digital practices influence every aspect of our lives. As artists, we not only respond to the digital, we are involved in creating the very structures by which the digital is presented. This course develops digital skills and awareness of contemporary art, while considering the interconnectedness of the world and the impact of the digital on our roles in it. Students' own world views will come to bear on digital practices in two, three, and four dimensional projects addressing questions around global economy, conformity, resistance and justice. As this is an introduction to digital practices, students with less familiarity with digital tools are strongly encouraged to register.

Anti-requisites: GART 1B10 Introduction to Digital Practices: Body & Technology

Conditions: Students must have completed or be working concurrently on a minimum of 1.0 credit of 100 level core studio curriculum.

GART 1B04

Colour Exploration

Department: Art
Subject: First-Year Art
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

This course introduces students to the historical and contemporary fundamentals of art making by studying the interdependency of colour and visual elements across a broad range of media, from painting and photography to digital tools. Building upon conceptual and visual aspects of two-dimensional design, students investigate the relationships between ideas, forms, and shapes through the exploration of pictorial and virtual spaces, with attention to colour.

Instruction and assignments that are germane to contemporary art practices will focus on composition and the contextual application of colour as a mode of expression.

Notes: New title: formally Colour & Composition

GART 1B05

Form and Structure

Department: Art

Subject: First-Year Art

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Students develop a visual language capable of shaping and expressing clear and creative ideas in three-dimensional forms. The course introduces students to the conceptual elements, organizing principles, and creative processes used in the development of form. Using a variety of materials and processes, students examine the meanings and association of forms, along with the underlying structural principles affecting their creation. Central, too, are the relationships between concept, idea, form, material, and process. Through questioning and a developing awareness of contemporary art practice, students develop the confidence to produce meaningful forms in three dimensions.

GART 1B06

Time-Based Media

Department: Art

Subject: First-Year Art

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Students will engage the principles, vocabulary, and concepts of time-based and digital media. While examining the transition from analog to digital (with an emphasis on media literacy), students gain knowledge of the creative opportunities that current and emerging technologies provide. Students acquire experience through projects in video, performance, audio and the creative use of electronics. Students develop understanding of the basic methods, tools, and techniques of time-based media within the context of contemporary art practice.

Introduction to Digital Practices: Body and Technology

Department: Art
Subject: First-Year Art
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.25

In the contemporary world, digital practices influence every aspect of our lives. As artists, we not only respond to the digital, we are involved in creating the very structures by which the digital is presented. This course develops digital skills and awareness of contemporary art while exploring questions of digital identity including avatars and artists' practices intermingling the body and mind with technology. Students' own world views will come to bear on digital practices in two, three, and four dimensional projects. As this is an introduction to digital practices, students with less familiarity with digital tools are strongly encouraged to register.

Anti-requisites: GART 1B03 Introduction to Digital Practices: Globalization

Conditions: Students must have completed or be working concurrently on a minimum of 1.0 credit of 100 level core studio curriculum.

Creative Process: Sculpture and Installation

Department: Art
Subject: First-Year Art
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

The creative process unfolds through research, discovery, and production that combine and form the basis of an art practice.

This course explores the practices of sculpture and installation within a social, cultural, and personal context. These explorations will encounter basic structural processes, the body, language and book works through research and creation with consideration for the historical and contemporary contexts in which work is being produced.

Conditions: Students must have completed or be working concurrently on a minimum of 1.0 credit of 100 level core studio curriculum

Department: Art

Subject: First-Year Art

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

The creative process unfolds through research, discovery, and production that combine and form the basis of an art practice.

How does drawing propel an artwork from start to finish? This course explores drawing as the primary research tool within the creative process through such projects as sketchbooks, maquettes, installations, projections and zines. The study of comics art, outsider art, graffiti and aboriginal art will address drawing's contemporary concerns. Individual and group projects engage students in research and development of art that exhibits awareness of contemporary and historical concerns.

Conditions: Students must have completed or be working concurrently on a minimum of 1.0 credit of 100 level core studio curriculum.

Experimentation with non-traditional art materials expands the creative process allowing artists to adapt their artwork to new ideas and possibilities.

This course examines ideas, material and approaches specific to drypoint, relief and digital printmaking. Individual and group assignments focus on the exploration of traditional and non-traditional materials and methods. Working both outside and inside the conventions of traditional art practice helps develop the student's understanding of how process can expand their ideas. The assignments required for the successful completion of this course are structured to allow for individual research and response, incorporating processes that encourage a personal approach.

Department: Art
Subject: First-Year Art
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Narrative is key to contemporary visual practice as the unfolding of stories, the exploration of events, histories, ideas, and memories.

Key to contemporary visual practice is the examination and exploration of narrative expectations, and how they can be translated into different media. This course investigates the visual material of narrative film through the medium of painting. Students in this course will explore how a painting could be translated into a film, and how a story can be told using color, light and composition. Without an initial script, students create the visual world of a story, while learning basic techniques for setting this vision in motion. Group and individual assignments develop students' understanding of narrative and its influence on contemporary art practice.

Nature & Culture: Drawing

Department: Art
Subject: First-Year Art
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

The intersection of human activity and natural phenomena provides a zone of contention under investigation in contemporary art today.

Every culture has a relationship to and a mythology invested in elements of the natural world: plants, animals, the human figure, the land. These relationships and mythologies determine how that community perceives and relates to those things, thereby defining their inherent individual societal responsibilities. Through researching these ideas, developing their technical skill and utilizing traditional and/or experimental drawing tools and media, students will create work that investigates issues of representation, memory and identity, personal mythology, political and social ramifications of ecological issues and our relationship to our urban/wild, sacred/endangered land.

Conditions: Students must have completed or be working concurrently on a minimum of 1.0 credit of 100 level core studio curriculum.

Nature & Culture: Curatorial Practices

Department: Art
Subject: First-Year Art
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

The intersection of human activity and natural phenomena provides a zone of contention under investigation in contemporary art today.

The Western history of museums begins in the 17th century with "cabinets of curiosities." These collections held items from nature, as well as artworks (culture), to reveal a microcosm of the world to be studied in the pursuit of knowledge. In this course students investigate how contemporary artists explore the collision of the material/natural world and present-day culture. Students also look at the role exhibitions in galleries, museums and alternative spaces contribute to our understanding of the "natural" world.

Conditions: Students must have completed or be working concurrently on a minimum of 1.0 credit of 100 level core studio curriculum.

Nature & Culture: Multidisciplinary Approaches

Department: Art
Subject: First-Year Art
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

The intersection of human activity and natural phenomena provides a zone of contention under investigation in contemporary art today.

In this course we will look at the interaction of human action and the natural world, and alternately, the effect of natural events on culture. With an interdisciplinary approach to material arts, students are encouraged to use a wide range of materials, techniques and tools to realize their ideas in 2 dimensions, 3 dimensional form or time-based media, or a combination of all three. The opportunity exists to utilize personal experience, ethnic background and cultural heritage in assignments such as natural form, constructed form, and nature or nurture.

Site & Intervention: Critical Practices

Department: Art
Subject: First-Year Art
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Site & Intervention challenges traditional notions of how space can have an impact on artwork by intervening on public and other spaces.

How do people respond to artworks that are located outside of the museum or gallery? This studio course explores site as a material that contributes meaning to an artwork, and asks how art can have an impact on public spaces and the individuals who experience it. This course investigates the impact that site has on a work of art through the histories of land art, performance art and public art projects. Current discussions of place, community, networks, virtual space, interventionist projects, relational works, and street art are included.

Conditions: Students must have completed or be working concurrently on a minimum of 1.0 credit of 100 level core studio curriculum.

Site & Intervention challenges traditional notions of how space can have an impact on artwork by intervening on public and other spaces.

Drawing operates in a variety of appearances and conventional and non-conventional ways. Students in this studio course will investigate a range of drawing approaches and artworks that address issues of site, context, and audience. Readings, in-class discussion and studio projects, slide lectures and gallery visits will support students' exploration of drawing in ways that have not historically been associated with this discipline. Students will explore how drawing installation or site specific practices shift the meaning and reading of the artwork and how the artwork may transform the place.

Site & Intervention challenges traditional notions of how space can have an impact on artwork by intervening on public and other spaces.

This course explores how place and context impact on the interpretation of a work of art. Although artists have long created artwork for galleries or museums, there is also a history of site-specific artwork that takes issues of site, audience and experience into consideration. This studio course will address how these can influence and even direct the development of artwork using a range of media including interactive objects, performance, web and video installation.

Prerequisites: Students must have completed a minimum of 1.0 credit of First-year studio curriculum.

Site & Intervention: Sculpture and Installation

Department: Art
Subject: First-Year Art
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Site & Intervention challenges traditional notions of how space can have an impact on artwork by intervening on public and other spaces.

Throughout history pedestals, frames, galleries and museums have imposed structures for viewing art. The notions of site and intervention have challenged these structures by exploring how the use of place and situation by artists can expand the reach of art, its venues, and the role of the viewer. This studio course will address questions of context in contemporary sculpture and installation-based practices through a combination of projects and in-class discussions on assigned readings and presentations. The course aims to explore the breadth of possibilities available to sculptural practitioners when consideration of site/location is made a formative component of the work.

Conditions: Students must have completed or be working concurrently on a minimum of 1.0 credit of 100 level core studio curriculum.

Creative Process: Musical Instruments as Creative Construction

Department: Art

Subject: First-Year Art

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Students explore the interaction of concept and process as a generator of innovation in the construction of a musical instrument. Using acoustic sound and timbre as a vehicle, students conceive, design and build a musical object. Imagination, research, process, technique and experimentation combine to create innovative results that can have wider application in other areas of creative endeavor.

Conditions: Students must have completed or be working concurrently on a minimum of 1.0 credit of 100 level core studio curriculum.

Department: Art

Subject: First-Year Art

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Cut it, bend it, burn it, glue it, slash it, wear it: paper as media. Contemporary pop-up books, often made with technical wizardry, operate in the moment that something flat transforms into something in space and time. We view paper and 2-dimensional art quite differently from 3-dimensional art. Through a number of exercises targeting this interstitial space, one significant final work moves to advance students' visual language.

Communication Design 1

Department: Design

Subject: First-Year Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Communication Design 1 is an introductory sequence of experiences that begin to address the environment of the communication designer as a relationship between tools, techniques, process, decision, judgment and knowledge. Students engage design as a process of formal experimentation in two dimensions using typography, photography and drawing. The fall semester fosters connections between making, looking and thinking as design-specific skills. This course is core to graphic design and advertising students.

Notes: Required for Advertising, Graphic Design and Illustration Students.

Drawing: Visualization

Department: Design

Subject: First-Year Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Communication designers need to develop skills in quick-sketching essential shape/form/environment - capturing the essence of a concept for iteration, lay-out and storyboarding. The practice and understanding of basic perspective, figure work (gestural, weight and balance, basic proportion and movement), light and shadow, cropping and composition and narrative sequence are essential to confident creative thinking and communication, and form the core work of this course.

Notes: Required for Graphic Design and Advertising students.

Solid and Void: Drawing Form and Space

Department: Design

Subject: First-Year Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Working as a designer of the built environment requires a good understanding of drawing as a 2D visual language that describes 3D spaces and forms. This course focuses on building that understanding by exploring various kinds of architectural drawings - from plans, sections and elevations to axonometric and isometric views to perspective sketches. Key aims include an awareness of scale and confident freehand sketching as a tool for imagining, developing and communicating 3D projects. Light and shadow, form and space, surface and depth, stasis and movement... drawing can inform, reveal and communicate these crucial aspects of built form.

Notes: Required for Environmental Design students.

It is recommended that students register with the SAME INSTRUCTOR for ENVR 1B01, ENVR 1B02, ENVR 1B05 and GDES 1B13.

Colour in Context

Department: Design

Subject: First-Year Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course examines the processes of visual perception, the language of colour, contextual analysis and colour strategies in the applications of colour to communication, objects and spaces. Through investigations of light and colour mixing in 2D, 3D, and 4D design, students are introduced to the physiology of vision, cognitive and perceptual psychologies, semiology, ethnography, geography, colour interactions, play, and the colour bias system. Information acquired in this course enables students to choose and use colour confidently, appropriately, and effectively when determining visual outcomes.

Notes: Required for Advertising, Graphic Design and Illustration students.

GDES 1B17

Typography 1

Department: Design

Subject: First-Year Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

In this introductory studio course letterforms and words are examined with respect to their anatomy and structure. Through developmental and sequential rendering exercises this course will focus on the exploration of the formal and conceptual relationships between letters and words. Letterforms and words are an integral part of the world of communication and this course will demonstrate how these forms work as signs, both iconic and symbolic.

Notes: Required for Graphic Design and Advertising students.

GDES 1B18

Communication Design 2

Department: Design

Subject: First-Year Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Communication Design 2 reinforces the activities, language and tools/techniques presented in Communication Design 1. Projects address the evolving abilities of students, through encouraging formal risk-taking, self-direction and evaluation. Design processes are discussed as a way to move from a position of uncertainty to a position of potential knowledge. Two, three and four-dimensional contexts are explored through a series of experimental projects. This course is core to graphic design and advertising.

Prerequisites: GDES 1B09 Communication Design 1

Conditions: Requires minimum grade of 60% to advance to Year 2 core studio.

Required for Advertising and Graphic Design students.

GDES 1B19

Photography for Communication

Department: Design

Subject: First-Year Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

The focus of this studio is digital photography as it is integrated into the practice of communication design. Students will be introduced to photographic basics: camera function, lens and filter selection, exposure, lighting, basic studio techniques and post-processing/image management in a digital environment. Students will learn to evaluate the effectiveness of images in relation to specific messages. Lectures, demonstrations and a series of assignments will build students' skills in camera and image control. Students will require access to a digital or 35 mm camera.

Anti-requisites: GDES 3B84 Introduction to Photography

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

Required for Advertising and Graphic Design students.

Drawing: Translation

Department: Design

Subject: First-Year Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

In this studio the emphasis is on drawing as a tool of image making, translation, visual articulation and idea development within design processes. Students develop drawing skills -from basic observation to perspective -as essential aspects of visualization and conceptualization. Particular emphasis is given to 2D and 3D principles, and how these can be manipulated to translate and investigate our three-dimensional reality. Experimentation with a variety of materials and techniques explores the communicative capacities of drawn line, texture and value to engage thought, form and action.

Anti-requisites: GRPH 2A02 Graphic Translation/Drawing

Notes: Required for Advertising and Graphic Design students.

GDES 1B21

Experience Design - 3D

Department: Design

Subject: First-Year Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course is an introduction to the emerging field of experience design, its tools and methods. Experience design is the practice of defining the engagement between people and the world of products, processes, services, events, communications and environments, by providing users with sets of stimuli that elicit compelling responses, leading to the accomplishment of users goals. The professional capability of experience design involves social innovation, psychology, motivational and behavioural theories, cognitive science, information design, ethnography, brand management, interaction design, product, space and service design and storytelling. Students are exposed to the new design opportunities made feasible by the emergence of new user needs as well as to the basic concepts, methods, tools and techniques used in the definition and design of user experience.

Prerequisites: GDES 1B24 Colour and Two-dimensional Design

Notes: Required for Environmental Design, Industrial Design and Material Art and Design students.

Drawing for ID & MAAD

Department: Design

Subject: First-Year Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Focusing on objects and human figures, this course is designed as an introduction to 'drawing as seeing', drawing as visual language and 'drawing as manipulation of surface and spatial illusion'. Important elements of the course include: material exploration, drawing accuracy and heightened sensitivity to observation.

Notes: Required for Industrial Design and Material Art and Design students.

No substitute.

GDES 1B24

Colour & Two-dimensional Design

Department: Design

Subject: First-Year Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course introduces students to the basic elements and principles of design and colour as well as those interactions and harmonic relationships that can be considered for two-dimensional compositions. Exercises and assignments germane to contemporary design practices focus on form generation and composition, applied vocabulary, contextual colour applications, spatial sensitivity and the development of practical two/three dimensional compositions.

Notes: Required for Environmental Design, Industrial Design and Material Art and Design students.

No substitute.

GDES 1B25

Form & Structure

Department: Design

Subject: First-Year Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Students develop a visual language capable of shaping and expressing clear and creative ideas in three-dimensional forms. The course introduces students to the conceptual elements, organizing principles and creative processes used in the development of form. Using a variety of materials and processes, students examine the meanings and association of forms, along with the underlying structural principles affecting their creation. Central, too, are the relationships among concept, idea, form, material and process. Through questioning and a developing awareness of contemporary design practice, students develop the confidence to produce meaningful forms in three dimensions.

Notes: Required for Industrial Design and Material Art and Design students.

GDES 1B29

Drawing for Industrial Design

Department: Design

Subject: First-Year Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Drawing in a way that supports 3D idea exploration and communication... Beginning with basic three-dimensional prismatic forms of cube, pyramid and cone, students explore the abstract world of geometric solids as a foundation for three-dimensional creative work. Topics include: how to use perspective, axonometric and orthographic drawing (freehand/sketch mode) to generate and explain ideas; perceiving and rendering shade, tone and shadow to add to the effectiveness of a drawing; choosing views, exploded views, doing sectional drawings and arranging multiple views for effective presentation.

Notes: Required for Industrial Design students.

Game Design 1

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio/Seminar

Credits: 0.50

From film, television, animation, web to mobile; digital game form increasingly consists a central part of the modern media experience. This studio seminar course provides a practical introduction to game design within the larger transmedia environment from a thematic and global perspective. This course provides practical and theoretical studies of games and gameplay to build foundational game design literacy for broad application. Class exercises will frame the fundamentals of games; rules, play and culture to support the design process. Through presentation of case studies the student will learn and apply a range of methods and approaches to design and build playful game experiences.

Think Tank 1: Awareness

Department: Design
Subject: General Design
Course Type: Studio/Seminar
Credits: 0.50

This interdisciplinary course examines the social condition of where and how we live in the context of the Faculty of Design's primary mandate 'Design and Humanity'. The significant impact that intelligent and sustainable design can have on people's lives and the considerable responsibility that the designer has to society are critical factors in shaping behaviour and turning research and perception into action. Strategies for change are channeled into potential project solutions in this course through the research, discussion and debate of current societal issues.

Prerequisites: 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

Notes: All Think Tank courses are intended to augment and inform the core studio classes from each of the six design disciplines and to introduce students from the Faculty of Art to the Faculty of Design's underlying philosophy.

Subject: General Design
Course Type: Studio/Seminar
Credits: 0.50

The visualization of data across print, television, film, web and interactive applications plays a significant role in communicating ideas, deriving meaning and making decisions. Today's capacity to store vast amounts of information increases the need for citizens, researchers, governments and business to interpret and represent complex data in useful, intuitive and compelling ways. This introductory course focuses on the development of the necessary comprehension and skills in 2D visual design and animation as applied to information visualization so that she or he can contribute to this expanding field.

Prerequisites: SCTM 2B06 Introduction to Computer Science: Logic and Coding (recommended but not required).

and 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

Anti-requisites: DIGF 2B01 Data Visualization
GDES 3B91 Special Topic: Introduction to Data Visualization

Notes: Priority Registration for DF: TIDA majors.

GDES 3B02

Editorial & Publication Design 1

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This studio course provides an in-depth study of systems and structures fundamental to publication design. Students learn to analyze, evaluate, design and/or redesign actual publications incorporating typography, photography, illustration, charts and graphs. Through a series of exercises and small publication design projects students are introduced to the rich history, current practices, and the future of magazine, book and corporate publication design.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

GDES 3B03

Typeface Design 1

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

The design of typefaces and the anatomy of letterforms are explored in this course. After a thorough investigation of their historical origins, students will be introduced to the structures inherent in designing new typefaces. Emphasis will be placed on the drawing fundamentals specific to the rendering of typographic form and the software skills needed for its adaptation and development. Students will be challenged by exercises and assignments using sketching pencils, broad-nib pens, steel point pens and Bezier curves in the preliminary design of new type characters.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: There is a materials fee of $40 attached to this course for software.

GDES 3B04

Packaging Design 1

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

The complex and diverse area of packaging is explored in this course. Key issues impacting the effectiveness of current packaging solutions will be investigated and discussed including brand positioning, market appeal, product protection, ease of use and environmental impact. Innovative approaches will be encouraged in a series of projects which will address each of these critical requirements of successful packaging.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

GDES 3B06

Guerrilla Entrepreneurship

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

In response to the growing practice of artist-produced objects (e.g. books, zines, apparel, accessories, housewares, linens, toys, games, etc), this course acts as an introduction to creative entrepreneurial activity. Students learn of the various media and techniques available in self-publishing and production, and of proven DIY marketing tactics and venues. Students will produce individually, and in groups, a number of small, reproducible, marketable items.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

GDES 3B07

Interactive Communication: Smart Screens

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course introduces students to the design of interactive communication for a variety of platforms and audiences. Informational Web sites, computer games and other networked, screen-based, and/or mobile applications or appliances are explored through various projects. Students will engage in research, conceptualization, diagramming, information architecture development, and user interaction studies - focusing on theories and practices involved in online and other screen-based interactive communication design.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

GDES 3B08Wayfinding/Information Systems 1*

Department: DesignSubject: General DesignCourse Type: StudioCredits: 0.50

Navigating the complexities of the built environment easily and intuitively, whether crossing the country, the city, an airport or moving through a digital environment requires intelligent and innovative methods of wayfinding. Information systems and signs are instruments designed to create a dialogue with their audience. The understanding of the complexities of public space, the nature of the environment, the expectations of performance and issues of functionality are addressed in this course. Exercises and projects that challenge students on issues of hierarchy, readability/legibility, colour, fabrication and sustainability are an integral part of this studio course.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

GDES 3B09*Strategic Brand Development 1:
Organizational Branding*

Department: DesignSubject: General DesignCourse Type: StudioCredits: 0.50

A brand is the promise of a differentiated and valued experience. Effective brand development is dependent upon research and a comprehensive understanding of the client, the competitive market place, and consumer values and needs. Differentiation, positioning, voice, and design serve to make a brand unique and unforgettable. In Strategic Brand Development 1, from the brand core to the roll out of the brand design program, the student will experience the process through the development of a hypothetical socially and/or environmentally aware organizational brand. The design elements of logo, colour, type, as well as their application in two-dimensional media will be produced. The verbal voice of the brand core, envisioned future, brand essence, and brand personality will be developed and integrated into the final presentation materials.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

GDES 3B10

Art of Presentation

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

A brilliant idea without acceptance will never solve a design problem. Therefore, creating acceptance for a design solution is as important as the solution itself. The primary tools for garnering this acceptance are through formal and information presentations.

Delivering persuasive presentations is not always intuitive. As a design professional, important skills are required to plan, build and then deliver presentations. This course teaches the skills necessary to sell important concepts and ideas by carefully crafting and telling stories.

Presentation strategy and the creation of a presentation narrative through traditional and digital media techniques are thoroughly explored in this course.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

GDES 3B11

Graphic Narrative, Animation & Motion

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This studio course investigates graphic communication specific to digital motion applications. Students will be introduced to graphic narrative and motion graphics as applied to web applications, animation, video, film and television. Students will also be introduced to the effective use of time, space, sound, transition, on-screen titling, media integration and graphic story telling. Course content will focus on film titles, graphic animations, movie and television graphics.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

GDES 3B12

Socially Responsible Design Practices

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course explores the responsibility of design in the social context by surveying the human, societal, technological and economical dimension of design. Responsibility is explored both at the physical level of the creation and use of products and services in contrast with the natural resource limitations of the planet as well as at the psychological level taking into account spiritual and cultural needs. Through projects and best practice case studies, students are exposed to the role design can play in affecting fundamental changes in society. The format encourages the exchange of ideas and reinforces the leadership role designers can play in providing a new vision for the future.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

GDES 3B13

Compelling User Experience 1

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

The role, quality and new layers of communication made possible by technology are changing the characteristics of the physical and material engagement between users and the outcomes of design. The course examines the new relationship between people and interactive technologies that is redefining the meaning of objects, built environments, and systems. This is accomplished by re-assessing the meanings of "function" from the proposition that what makes an object "useful" and "practical" is its Emotional Relationship Value.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

GDES 3B14

Interior Design Studio: Office

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

As the first supplementary interior design studio, students concentrate on developing the interior design aspects of a studio project, with a variety of developed material based presentations, and detail work. The course focuses on developing an expanded vocabulary of material, finish and colour within the interiors project, both as a palette of tools depicting a conceptual idea and as a significant aspect of the interior presentation. Students will develop a methodology for researching, collecting and assessing materials appropriate to their proposed designs. Course work consists of a variety of detail design and material based presentations.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

GDES 3B15

Furniture Design 1

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course will provide an introduction to the history of furniture and to the fundamentals of furniture design with an emphasis on the exploration of furniture as a vital support for human activity. Students will undertake briefed design and research projects ranging in length from one day to one month. Each project explores the relationship between theory and practice and encourages design experimentation as a means of expression. The studio format includes lectures, projects, field trips and critiques.

When registering for GDES 3B15, students must also register for the accompanying Wood lab. This intermediate-level wood lab instructs students on construction techniques specific to furniture making and supports the fabrication of a prototypical piece of furniture developed in the design studio.

Prerequisites: Second year wood lab and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Co-requisites: Furniture Design 1 Lab/Wood. (3hrs per week)

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

GDES 3B16

Wearable Technology 1

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Wearable Technology sits at the intersection of design, art, craft, and emerging technologies. This studio course focuses on the human body as interface and display. It provides a hands-on introduction to basic tools and techniques for incorporating technology into garments and accessories. Through prototyping and experimentation, students will learn to create well-executed and engaging wearables.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: There is a consumables fee attached to this course.

This course is open to Art and Design students. (Art students - please contact the Design office for access.)

GDES 3B18

Biomimicry 1: Points of Departure

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course provides a practical overview of the principles and current key issues related to biomimicry; the concept of using ideas from nature and transferring them to other domains such as structural design, new materials technology, sustainability and engineering. Biomimicry uses biology as the basis of the design concept. The course allows students to develop a better understanding of how naturally occurring processes may be used as design inspiration for the development of forms, structures, systems and interactions. In their projects, students will follow the logic of nature by the minimizing of material and energy consumption or in their self-sustaining and self-renewing qualities.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

GDES 3B20

Small Object Design: Virtual to Reality 1

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course will introduce students to the fundamentals of designing, prototyping and fabricating small-scale products and jewellery using three-dimensional computer modelling and associated manufacturing technologies.

Students will become familiar with the Computer Aided Design operations required to generate simple three-dimensional computer models and output basic two-dimensional representations. These virtual objects will be then translated into prototypes and finished objects using Computer Aided Manufacturing processes (e.g. laser cutting, additive manufacturing and CNC machining) as well as conventional fabrication processes. Students will begin to understand some of the advantages and limitations of CAD/CAM technologies, and will begin to consider the implications these technologies have on the future of design practice.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: MAAD 2B36

Jewellery/Metalsmithing: CAD/CAM

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

GDES 3B21

Designing Across Difference: Aboriginal Communities

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio/Seminar

Credits: 0.50

This course focuses on creating an initial understanding of the scope and richness of North American aboriginal communities, while developing methods of negotiating as a designer with these communities in the context of a design project. Participants will share their insights, research and designs in the classroom, creating a collective understanding of the fertility and depth of difference. Students will explore methodologies for developing designs for and with client cultures other than their own. This studio /seminar is intended to enhance discourse through appropriate vocabulary and strengthen abilities to generate and participate in relevant dialogue with aboriginal communities. This studio will utilize guest lecturers from the aboriginal academic community.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: GDES 4B13 Designing Across Differences: Aboriginal Communities

GDES 3B22

Editorial & Publication Design 2

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Students will continue to explore the theories, practices and methods introduced in Editorial and Publication Design 1 through projects of expanded complexity in content and process. More extensive research into client needs, market appropriateness and brand positioning are undertaken in this course.

Prerequisites: GDES 3B02 Editorial & Publication Design 1 or GRPH 3B02 Graphic/Editorial 1

and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: Under exceptional circumstances, the prerequisite may be waived with permission from the Chair of the appropriate area.

GDES 3B24

Interior Design Studio

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Within this Interior Design Studio, students concentrate on the specifics of developing the detailed interior design aspects of a studio project. The course focuses on developing the student's vocabulary of furniture, lighting and fittings in conjunction with materials and colours. Students will develop a further understanding of the relationship of concept, and interior design themes to actual detail design, furniture planning, furnishing styles, and furnishing and fitting selection.

Course work consists of a variety of detail design, and material based presentations to develop Interior design knowledge outlining the relationship between concept, design development, and material project realization.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

GDES 3B25

Furniture Design 2

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course aims to develop the students' appreciation of the social, cultural and philosophical issues that inform the discipline of furniture design and investigates current approaches and market concerns. Concurrently, technology and process, structural possibilities, material characteristics and production issues will be examined in detail. The studio format includes lectures, projects, field trips and critiques.

Prerequisites: GDES 3B15 Furniture Design 1 and GDES 3B15 Furniture Design 1 Lab/Wood and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Co-requisites: Furniture Design 2 Lab/Wood. (3hrs per week)

Notes: Under exceptional circumstances, the prerequisite may be waived with permission from the Chair of the appropriate area.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

GDES 3B27

Interactive Communication: Clever Devices

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Building on fundamental concepts of time-based design practice, students will learn theories and methods for the research and design of interactive communications for mobile and embodied experiences, including those interfaced with personal electronic devices including PDAs, mobile phones, and media players. With a focus on user-centred design the course will explore a variety of interactive experiences involving current and future capabilities for wireless data, image and voice, location-based games, and more. Through a series of exercises, storyboards and short projects, students will gain knowledge and skills in research, conceptualization, diagramming, flow, navigation, and user interaction for device-based interactive communication.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

GDES 3B28

Biomimicry 2: Application

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course provides students with the opportunity to apply biomimetic principles to the design of innovative products, structures or systems. Students research and analyze natural materials, structures or processes and use principles inspired from nature as a basis for design development. Emphasis will be placed on self-sustaining, self-renewing, intelligent project solutions.

Prerequisites: GDES 3B18 Biomimicry 1: Points of Departure

and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: Under exceptional circumstances, the prerequisite may be waived with permission from the Chair of the appropriate area.

GDES 3B30

Typeface Design 2

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

With new applications for type design, from computer screens to text messaging, the need for new and more effective typefaces has never been greater. Building on the basics learned in Typeface Design 1, students will develop a typeface character set of text or display type. Students will establish their own design criteria based on extensive research and in consultation with their faculty. Emphasis is placed on the effectiveness of the design based on the defined user and specific application, on production issues, media applications, family development, output resolution, spacing/kerning and OpenType programming.

Prerequisites: GDES 3B03 Typeface Design 1 and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: NOT OFFERED FALL/WINTER 2012/13

There is a materials fee of $40 attached to this course for software.

Under exceptional circumstances, the prerequisite may be waived with permission from the Chair of the appropriate area.

GDES 3B31

Packaging Design 2

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course is a more in-depth exploration of the concepts and methods introduced in Packaging/Package Design 1, focusing on the development of innovative systems of protection, environmental impact, product identification, and brand positioning based on research of product and targeted audiences. The course will also explore multiple package formats and point of purchase design.

Prerequisites: GDES 3B04 Packaging Design 1 or GRPH 3B03 Graphic/Packaging 1

and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: Under exceptional circumstances, the prerequisite may be waived with permission from the Chair of the appropriate area.

GDES 3B32

Kinetic Typography & Animated Communication

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Students will explore kinetic typography and motion graphics as a means of animating narratives and vivifying communication. The digital manipulation of a word, words, image(s), graphic form(s), interaction, semantics, hierarchy, and the psychological impact of animation, colour, spatial arrangement, sound and form will be investigated in this course. Additionally, students will thoroughly investigate appropriate venues, concepts and content for specific target audiences.

Prerequisites: GDES 3B11 Graphic Narrative, Animation & Motion and GRPH 3B14 Typography 3: Advanced Structures

and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: Under exceptional circumstances, the prerequisite may be waived with permission from the Chair of the appropriate area.

GDES 3B34

Jewellery Design 1: An Introduction

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Design students will study the making and conception of jewellery for the marketplace from the perspective of the studio designer/maker. Critical and ethical issues such as emerging technologies, sustainable design and alternative materials will be discussed. Concept development of each project through observational sketching, rendering and modelmaking encourages the student to reassess their concept of jewellery, the body as the site and jewellery production. Fundamental skills of jewellery assembly such as fabrication and casting will be covered through a series of projects focused on the concept of jewellery as a product.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

GDES 3B36

Domestic Ceramics: Exploring the Useful Object

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course introduces students to a variety of forming processes, including modelmaking, plaster mouldmaking, slip-casting and handbuilding, which will be used to develop forms for small batch production of functional ceramic wares. Students will be challenged to imagine, create and manufacture inventive, useful solutions to age-old functions such as eating, drinking and storage. The design and ergonomics of bowls, cups, plates and other tabletop items that have become an essential part of our domestic landscape will be the formal focus of the course. Attention will also be given to appropriate finishing and glazing methods. The course will be delivered using presentations, demonstrations, in-class work, assignments and critiques.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it..

This course is open to Art and Design students. (Art students - please contact the Design office for access.)

GDES 3B37

Fibre: Explorations in Paper and Felt

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course is a study of paper making and felt making as alternative approaches to creating fibre art/design. Students will perform in-depth studies of the techniques, discovering the 2 and 3 dimensional potential of these processes to produce a body of work over the course of the term. Paper making will include sheet forming, casting and assemblage and felt making will cover hand and machine manipulation, "nuno" felting and fibre dyeing. The course will be delivered using visual presentations, demonstrations, hands-on production, in-class discussions and one-on-one and group critiques.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: MAAD 3B37 Investigations Of Non-Woven Structures

Notes: NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012/13

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

This course is open to Art and Design students. (Art students - please contact the Design office for access.)

GDES 3B38

Ambient Experience Design

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

In the near future product functions will move 'beyond the box' to become integrated into the experience of our physical surroundings. Embedded into the fabric of architecture, these products will be near invisible and their functions will be highly intuitive, following the needs and desires of the user within interactive environments. This alternative approach to traditionally understood architecture is to think of architecture as 'software': the ephemeral sounds, smells, images, temperatures and even social relations that surround us and program the way we interact with space. Industrial design companies are already developing ambient design solutions within the healthcare, hospitality, public, and retail domain.

Students within this course will develop an understanding of the ambient experience approach to design, develop a mixture of appropriate environmental and industrial design tools, competencies and cultural sensitivities, and apply these skills to the proposal and development of a specific ambient

GDES 3B40

Exploration, Insight and Foresight in Design

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio/Seminar

Credits: 0.50

This course explores the basic and applied research methodologies used in the Beal Institute for Strategic Creativity. In the context of the creation of new experiences, spaces and products, students explore research methods which reveal the 'weak signals' of emerging patterns and their intersection with new technologies. Throughout the course, students refine their methodology and identify innovative development opportunities through the use of precedent analysis, research of related issues, scenario building, and the progressive definition of design opportunity. Students go on to predict future product and service opportunities through the understanding and context of micro-cultural norms and the motivating ambitions of human behaviour.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

GDES 3B42

Strategic Brand Development 2: Product Branding

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Strategic Brand Development 2 continues the brand process through the development of product brands. Differentiation, attributes, associations, voice, and design position brands. In a world where the mass market is dissolving into a plethora of niche markets, a comprehensive understanding of the targeted consumer based on demographics, psychographics, generational and cultural needs is essential. The strategic positioning through the visual and verbal aspects of the brand work together to create a memorable impact. Students will develop and produce materials including product design, packaging, and marketing materials for a product brand and its launch.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

GDES 3B44

Wearable Technology 2

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Wearable Technology 2 provides an in-depth exploration of practices and topics relating to the intersection of the human body and technology. This studio course focuses on project-driven research and hands-on experimentation with established and emerging materials, methods, and techniques. Through prototyping and iterative design, students will learn to create conceptually and technically sophisticated pieces.

Prerequisites: GDES 3B16 Wearable Technology 1 is recommended but not required and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: There is a consumables fee attached to this course.

This course is open to Art and Design students. (Art students - please contact the Design office for access.)

GDES 3B45

Architectural Ceramics

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Historically, clay has played an important role in the context of architecture. This course investigates the relationship between architectural form and ceramics. Students will engage in research and develop projects intended for installation in architectural environments. Relief tiles, site-specific murals and stand alone installations will be the focus of the project development. Fabrication practices and techniques covered will include modelmaking, mould-making, slip-casting, press-moulding and extruding - as well as installation and anchoring methods.

This course does not require previous experience in ceramics and is intended for students who are interested in expanding their image making possibilities from all areas of the university.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

GDES 3B46

Explorations in Architectural Glass

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course is an introduction to the cross-disciplinary field of architectural glass. Rooted in the sacred western architectural art of stained glass, re-imagined by modernists of the 20th century, and transformed in the 21st century by new digital and physical technologies, architectural glass has morphed into an extraordinary 'new' medium for the secular world's public built environment: hospitals, airports, hotels, shopping malls...

This studio course will introduce students from a variety of disciplines to current practices in the medium. Lectures, studio visits and design projects will culminate in one piece of work in glass, executed with available appropriate technologies.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: Basic Photoshop skills are required.

There is a materials fee of $100 attached to this course.

GDES 3B47

Habitat Housing Studio

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This studio is an exploration studio working with the "Habitat for Humanity" agency. Working within the thematic context of humanity and design, students will be involved in design projects for real life scenarios related to creating decent and affordable housing habitats. Through research and discussion with the various stakeholders, students will have the opportunity to explore the conditions, design strategies, methods, building technologies, construction and implementation of realizable solutions to create affordable housing. As a multi-disciplined studio, various approaches and techniques of habitat design, representation and development are explored in the studio project work. This course will utilize lectures, discussion, individual and class critique, and developed designs will be communicated through a variety of model, sketch, and drawing presentation work.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

GDES 3B48

Illustrative Activism

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

The use of Illustration to express dissent and improve established conditions enjoys a long and kinetic history, ranging from Victorian era Punch cartoons to contemporary multi-million-dollar ad campaigns. The illustrator's heightened awareness of social and political issues, coupled with unique communication skills, provides otherwise unrepresented and disenfranchised citizens with a powerful and provocative voice. This course focuses on the illustrator as 'activist', achieving positive change through the effective and subversive use of images in the global arena of national and personal politics, social movements, and environmentalism. Posters, billboards, newspaper and magazine ads, editorial illustration, annual reports, flyers, t-shirts, buttons, ambient media, and the web represent media applications explored and discussed in this course.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

GDES 3B49

Image and Clay: Exploring the Ceramic Surface

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

The impulse and need to apply imagery to the ceramic surface is evident in the first clay artifacts which humans made, and this impulse continues manifesting itself to this day. This course will trace the development of image making techniques in ceramics and examine how they can be creatively deployed. Illustration, painting, printing, etching, photo and digital imaging will be investigated and applied to clay surfaces such as tiles and simple commercially available forms. The course is intended for students who are interested in expanding their image making possibilities from all areas of the university.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012/13

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

GDES 3B50

Jewellery Design 2: Alternative Materials

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Green, Recycled or Surplus

Students in this course will investigate the inclusion of alternative materials in the design and fabrication of body adornment.

Development of design concepts, readings and discussion on sustainable issues will be an important part of this course as well as the deployment of the knowledge and skills learned in Jewellery Design 1: An Introduction. The sources of the alternative materials will be green, surplus or recyclable resources which will be researched and presented as an integral component of the course. Traditional jewellery making methods will be employed in the fabrication of the armature or structure of the jewellery form to which the alternate materials will be attached by the use of cold joining methods such as rivets, tap and die, mechanical fasteners or textile techniques such as stitching, coiling or knotting. The course objective will be to aim towards a completely sustainable design and product.

Prerequisites: GDES 3B34 Jewellery Design 1: An Introduction or MAAD 2B14 Intro to Jewellery/Metalsmithing: Fabrication

and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012/13

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

Under exceptional circumstances, the pre-requisite may be waived with permission from the Chair of the appropriate area.

GDES 3B51

Fibre: Wearable Form 1

Department: Design
Subject: General Design
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

This course will introduce students to a range of construction methods, traditional and experimental pattern making and draping for fashion, wearable and sculptural forms. Projects and exercises will include design and material research, storyboards, sampling and finished garments. An emphasis will be placed on original design and fabric use to create innovative forms. Alternative and sustainable materials and new processes for creating fabrics for fashion will be introduced. Production and conceptual fashion concepts will be explored.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

GDES 3B52

Fibre: 3D Structures in Sculptural Form

Department: Design
Subject: General Design
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

From the work of Claes Oldenburg to the provocative installations of Tracey Emin, textiles have offered a powerful alternative to the language of sculpture. This course will focus on developing sculptural form in textiles, utilizing the tools of pattern drafting and sewn construction. Students will learn: how to alter two-dimensional drawings to create drafted patterns, how to take patterns from existing three dimensional objects in order to create a fabric facsimile and how to develop sculptural form through free-form pattern making. Projects will encompass a range of scale, from making hand-held objects through to environmental works. Throughout the course, the use of sewn work in contemporary art and design will be presented as background reference to each assignment.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012/13

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

This course is open to Art and Design students. (Art students - please contact the Design office for access.)

GDES 3B53

Interactive Communication: Beyond The Screen

Department: Design
Subject: General Design
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

This course, for the current year only, will be a research lab working with an entertainment industry partnership. The course is suitable for advanced and dedicated students with a keen interest in interactive experience design, and will engage students in exploring possibilities that take the user beyond the television screen, into the realm of technologically enabled and 'aware' devices and social web systems and environments. Students will employ iterative and participatory design strategies to create experimental solutions for entertainment-industry-based interactive experiences, which might use ambient, adaptive, expressive, persuasive, or locative technologies.

Prerequisites: One of the following:

- GDES3B07 Interactive Communication: Smart Screens
- GDES3B27 Interactive Communication: Clever Devices
- INDS3K01 ID Studio 3: Emerging Technologies
- GDES3B13 Compelling User Experience
- GDES3B16 Wearable Technology 1
- GDES3B41 Play Behaviour and Game Design 1
- GDES3B38 Ambient Experience Design
- INTR3B01 Virtual Communities

and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012/13

GDES 3B54

Think Tank 2: Consideration

Department: Design
Subject: General Design
Course Type: Studio/Seminar
Credits: 0.50

Building on Think Tank 1: Awareness, this studio seminar course examines the role of the designer as a powerful and potent contributor to the well-being and positive improvement of the planet. Topics specific to current cultural, technological, political, social, economic and systems of communication will be selected by teams of students early in this course. Through the examination of systems ranging from the 'grid' to wayfinding, students will be immersed in a culture of research and debate leading to strategies for innovation and change and culminating in the development of achievable solutions to their selected projects.

Prerequisites: GDES 2B03 Think Tank 1: Awareness or GDES 2B03 Think Tank/Creative Intersections

and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: All Think Tank courses are intended to augment and inform the core studio classes from each of the six design disciplines and to introduce students from the Faculty of Art to the Faculty of Design's underlying philosophy.

GDES 3B56

Universal Design

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Universal Design is defined as: “the design of communications, products and environments to be usable by all people, to the greatest extent possible, without the need for adaptation or specialized design”.

Universal Design challenges designers to maximize the comprehensive usability of their creations through recognizing the diversity of possible end users and their various needs – whether related to age, size, physical mobility or visual/mental abilities. While good designers do, by default, focus on end-users and their needs, ‘universal design’ is particularly concerned with ‘inclusivity’ as its fundamental approach.

The course will provide students with an overview of the philosophy and evolution of the Universal Design movement, the ergonomic/functional issues associated with the diversity of human ability, as well as legislative, economic and demographic factors. Studio work will address how Universal Design principles can be applied to removing the numerous barriers which prevent individuals from gaining access to and fully participating in important activities such as jobs, access to information/communication, education, public transit, and the use of goods, services and facilities.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: ENVR 2B16 Universal and Accessible Design for the Built Environment

GDES 3B57

Living Environments: Design Theory

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course is based on the “Design for Living” program in Sustainable studies, an approach to encouraging sustainable design through an introduction and understanding of the natural laws of design. Through a series of intensive workshops, in the areas of Passive solar design, Renewable energy systems, Straw Bale homes, Rammed earth buildings, Adobe floors, Green Roofs and Sustainable materials the student will gather a core knowledge of sustainable design principles and practice.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

GDES 3B58

Living Environments: Design Practices

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

As a studio in the "Design for Living" program in Sustainable studies, this studio will concentrate on the research and development of sustainable ideas from theory into practice. The studio work will develop both individually and in group project based work, the development and implementation of "designs for living", and designs based on sustainable design strategies. The intention is that students will develop projects to an extent that they may be carried forward to be realized in actual summer field work and internships.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

GDES 3B59

Urban Design Ecology

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio/Seminar

Credits: 0.50

Urban Design Ecology looks at the city through the lens of Environmental Design with the intention of understanding and designing for the integration of urban and natural systems. The course will examine the way that urban development patterns interact with ecological systems. Students will examine precedents of ecological urbanism such as manufactured nature, green infrastructure, and landscape urbanism as well as broader ecological concepts applied to coupled human-natural systems. Through readings, lectures, seminars and the development of case studies students will examine the relationship between urban form and the environmental context in which it is generated.

Prerequisites: ENVR 2B17 and ENVR 2B19 and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012/13

OFFERED IN SUMMER 2012

GDES 3B60Sustainable Design & Development*

Department: DesignSubject: General DesignCourse Type: StudioCredits: 0.50

This course explores sustainable design holistically, including environmental, social / cultural and economic aspects of development. The premise of the course is that students begin to 'think environmentally', expanding their ecological understanding, i.e., having an awareness and expectation that human actions have impacts on the environment. Environmental impacts are explored from the perspective of resource depletion, ecological damage and human health. Eco-design explores the environmental and economic aspects of production; sustainable design and development looks at the issues of consumption patterns, equity, and community health. The broad issues explored in the course can also be a launching ground for further development in thesis projects. Topics include many issues related to healthy cities, including urban congestion, streets for people, urban farming, and ecological economics. Case studies will include both developed and developing countries.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: INDS 3A03 Design and the Environment: Principles of Production & Consumption

Notes: NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012/13

GDES 3B61*Living Environment Design: Internship*

Department: DesignSubject: General DesignCourse Type: StudioCredits: 0.50

As an optional summer term, the sustainability design – build studio would be focused on realization of an appropriate community project. Selected design projects would be identified to provide the opportunity of student interns to participate in sustainable habitat construction, such as a rammed earth home, or other sustainable building construction projects. The emphasis would be on understanding the design – build process in the context of sustainable construction methods, and hands - on problem solving and coordination., and hands - on problem solving and coordination.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012/13

GDES 3B62

Sustainable Business

Department: Design
Subject: General Design
Course Type: Studio/Seminar
Credits: 0.50

This course focuses on sustainable business, and provides (3rd or) 4th year Design students with the opportunity to develop a sustainable business plan; it is a vital part of the education of any designer to understand the business side of design production and development – sustainable design criteria is becoming currency in design development, with the ‘Triple Bottom Line’ being the most widely adopted model.

Students will explore case studies of multinationals in the major resource and service sectors including mining, forestry, and consumer products such as electronics. Various strategies of environmental management will be explored, including corporate social responsibility, extended producer responsibility, product ‘take-back, and service economies.

Regulations, standards, and other drivers for sustainable business will be covered. Students will develop a broad knowledge of the challenges and opportunities for business in the ‘environmental revolution’.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012/13

GDES 3B63

Cities for People/Summer Workshop

Department: Design
Subject: General Design
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

This course can be presented as a ‘Professional Research’ opportunity for students who wish to explore the urban fabric from a holistic perspective, and undertake primary and secondary research, using Toronto as a laboratory. The main premise of the course is to develop an understanding of the issues and opportunities for healthy community development throughout the city. Topics can include social / cultural aspects such as community gardens/farming, bicycle and pedestrian pathways; economic aspects such as green enterprise, sustainable business. Students will have the opportunity to meet with some of the champions of green enterprise and community development; they can work on strategies, which can increase stewardship and awareness through the integration of ‘ecorevelatory’ art and design projects.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012/13

OFFERED IN SUMMER 2012

GDES 3B64

Greening the OCAD Campus - Summer Workshop

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course will introduce students to the various material and energy resource flows on campus, and will address sustainable design from a holistic perspective, including the following aspects:

- Environment: energy, water, materials (paper), waste; landscape, green roof
- Social: healthy building, indoor air quality, learning laboratory
- Economic: business case for sustainability, cost/benefit review

The course will provide students with an opportunity to begin to identify possible solutions for the reduction of energy and material flows on campus. We would collaborate with ZERO Footprint in this endeavor, and the OCAD Sustainability Task Force, with staff and managers from the OCAD community. The collaborative effort is a model for sustainable design and development.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012/13

GDES 3B65

Design/Build Studio

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This summer studio provides students the opportunity to work on a 'real world' design /build project. The project specifics will be advertised by the Chair of ED, prior to opening of summer registration. The course will provide students the opportunity to participate in the design-to-construction process of a small but comprehensive building project. Focus will be on sustainable construction methods and materials and simple building techniques. Emphasis will be on understanding the design-build process, working with a specific client and responding to the site/context appropriately. In the case of a rural studio, students will be in residence on site for a portion of the course duration, both at the outset/site research phase and during construction - while design process will occur in studio at OCAD. There will be a course fee to cover accommodation/food and transportation, as determined by each year's project, and outlined in the project description.

Prerequisites: The Design /Build Studio is intended for Environmental Design Students that have successfully completed Year 3 in Environmental Design. As prerequisites, it would be advantageous if students have taken: ENVR 2A04 Building Technology & Structures I, ENVR 3A03 Building Technology & Structures 2, GDES 3B47 Habitat Housing Studio and GDES 3B57 Living Environment Design Studio I. Previous construction experience is an asset.

and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012/13

There is an additional course fee of $325 to cover accommodation/food and transportation, as determined by each year's project, and outlined in the project description. Enrollment will be limited and will require an application process co-ordinated by the Chair of ED.

GDES 3B66

Materials Research Library/Internship

Department: Design
Subject: General Design
Course Type: Studio/Seminar
Credits: 0.50

The student will participate in the development and usage of the Faculty of Design's new Materials Research Library. Each student will work within the library for 3 hours/week and will assist other students with their materials study within the context of the library. All interns will participate in the collecting, vetting and review of materials, production processes, lighting technologies, colour testing, biomimetic sample development and collection, as well as other areas of interest such as sustainable materials and processes. Throughout this course students will be developing a research document or project directed to an area of materials research of their choice. The course will provide students with a broad understanding of design materials and develop a greater vocabulary for their usage within their own area of interest. The course is oriented to all areas of design, both two dimensional and three dimensional.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

GDES 3B67

Applied Materials for Designers

Department: Design
Subject: General Design
Course Type: Studio/Seminar
Credits: 0.50

This course will focus on materials science and material application within three-dimensional design practices. Through lectures, hands-on experiments and studio application, students will develop a greater understanding of how materials are developed/specified within design projects. This course will complement and extend the knowledge gained in core and other introductory building technology or materials studios, and give students an increased capacity to research, propose, specify and utilise new materials. An emphasis on sustainability of materials, including full life cycle analysis and LEED certification, will ensure that students have a knowledge of key contemporary areas of materials exploration and development, relevant to their own thesis projects and ongoing design practices.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012/13

GDES 3B68

Design (As) Research

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio/Seminar

Credits: 0.50

This third-year course will explore practice-based research techniques in design as ethnographic methods to prepare students for their graduate year thesis or core projects. Small research projects will be used in this course to pursue three objectives: research to inform the design deliverables (the outcomes of design practice), research to educate the designer/researcher for future practice (tacit knowledge) and research to inform the professional design, academic and wider communities (explicit knowledge). This course will inform both internal and external audiences that design is, in itself, research.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012/13

OFFERED IN SUMMER 2012

GDES 3B69

Material Explorations for Designers

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio/Seminar

Credits: 0.50

Material Explorations for Designers will explore the fundamentals of structure, energetics and bonding that underpin materials science. Students will be introduced to the composition, manufacture and application of a number of materials both natural and engineered. The "new materials" of engineered composites, nanomaterials and biomaterials will be studied for their appropriateness in design applications and environments. Life cycle analysis, decomposition, re-purposing and sustainable manufacturing will be discussed. Students will work with the resources of the Materials Library and Lab to support their research around existing materials and to write performance specifications for yet to be realized new materials and applications. The course will include lectures, conference calls with material science and industry resources, case studies and a final applications project.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012/13

GDES 3B70

Game Design: Conceptual And Visual Approaches

Department: Design
Subject: General Design
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Games are a major entertainment form of the 21st century. As a design discipline, digital game form combines game worlds, rule sets and play to actively engage a player in an ongoing acquisition of skill. Students will iteratively design, visualize, develop, document and test unique game concepts to a final proof of concept stage. Developing skills from paper prototyping, game modelling and level design through to storyboarding, asset creation, character design and animation, this course provides a solid foundation in game design methodology for use both within and beyond the game industry.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

GDES 3B71

Game Design: Digital Development

Department: Design
Subject: General Design
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Modern game design grows in a continuum of digital evolution, yet games are not just technological artifacts. Games engender a particular type of relationship between a designer and a player. This course introduces the student to digital game prototyping practice; from digital sketches to functional alpha builds to playable demos, students will work with a range of game engines to develop and demonstrate applied game design skills. Digital development is a dialogue with computational tools and students will develop strategies to effectively realize innovative digital game projects across genre and across platform.

Prerequisites: GDES 3B70 Game Design: Conceptual and Visual Approaches is recommended but not required.

and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

GDES 3B73

Critical Design Studio

Department: Design
Subject: General Design
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

How is theory turned into practice? Through a critical mode of design practice students will learn how to develop theoretical considerations through studio practice. Critical issues in technology, market forces, culture and the environment are directly engaged in this course through a variety of methods that do not prescribe designed solutions but, through design, ask better questions. The rich tradition of critical approaches to “making” in design is used as the historical context for this course’s focus on what contemporary design can do to address these “wicked problems”. This course will also help students develop the necessary skills for successful thesis projects.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012/13

GDES 3B74

Maps, Territories, Boundaries

Department: Design
Subject: General Design
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

This studio will engage architect Will Alsop as visiting critic/mentor. We will explore both traditional and contemporary notions of community and urban sustainability within city neighbourhoods. Taking one city neighbourhood as a case study, the studio will analyze the defining characteristics, activities, and behaviour of the community with a view to mapping the physical boundaries and limits of the neighbourhood - synthesizing the observations in an urban strategy that will celebrate the sustainability of the neighbourhood. Students will be encouraged throughout the studio to consider alternative methodologies of architectural engagement as they analyze and synthesize their observations and recommendations.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Conditions: As spaces are limited, students will be asked to submit samples of work and a brief statement of interest, and a process of selection will occur before registration commences. A notice will go out to all students prior to registration opening.

Notes: NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012/13

GDES 3B75

Character Concept Illustration

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Illustration developed to envisage characters for film, television, or gaming projects is a component of 'concept art' and is the focus of this course. Students will visually interpret characters from given briefs and scripts, developing multiple visual solutions in a variety of fitting concepts, styles, mannerisms and settings. Building on drawing competencies and an understanding of anatomy, students employ a rigorous process of ideation sketching, and then apply media, colour theory, compositional principles to further establish mood and character. Final solutions are presented for critique with a written rationale, citing the requirements of the character and plot, along with research and reference material.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Conditions: Students must possess intermediate or advanced drawing and painting competencies.

GDES 3B76

Graphic Novel Illustration

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Storytelling, through the medium of comics and graphic novels, is explored in this course. Employing principles of narrative structure as a framework, original stories integrating text and image are created in sequential panel formats. Graphic components including preliminary sketches, page layout, penciling, inking, and title design are developed in conjunction with plotline and dialogue, requiring students to function as both illustrator and author. As a means to inform and contextualize their own work, students research historical and contemporary examples.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: GDES 3B29 Sequential Narrative 2

GDES 3B77

Fibre: Sustainable Fashion and Textiles

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course will introduce students to alternative materials, sustainable and ethical processes for fashion, wearable forms and accessories.

Projects and exercises will include the development of material research and experimentation, sampling, wearable forms and accessories. An emphasis will be placed on the experimental use of recycled, re-purposed and re-imagined materials and forms. Locally sourced materials and production methods will be investigated. Both production and conceptual fashion concepts will be explored.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012/13

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

GDES 3B78

Small Object Design: Virtual to Reality 2

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course will build on the knowledge and skills acquired in Small Object Design: Virtual to Reality 1, by introducing advanced Computer Aided Design/Computer Aided Manufacturing topics in the context of further small-scale product and jewellery design and production. Students will become familiar with the CAD operations required to create complex three-dimensional parametric computer models, and output sophisticated two-dimensional representations including realistic renderings. Students will also become familiar with advanced CAM issues, such as process integration, optimization for manufacture, mass customization, material experimentation and aesthetic considerations. Students will achieve a substantial understanding of the advantages, limitations and implications of CAD/CAM technologies, and will consider how their own emerging practices might best incorporate these technologies.

Prerequisites: GDES 3B20 Small Object Design: Virtual to Reality 1

and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

GDES 3B79Children's Toy Design & Invention*

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Toys are remarkable design experiences. Inventing new ways of interacting, playing and learning that are marketable and desirable are the core of successful toy design. This studio based course challenges students to become toy inventors. Students will be exposed to play as an educational experience, and the key stages of learning for children, while being introduced to the marketing and business context of the industry. The challenge will be to design meaningful and playful products that tell stories with dynamic object and interaction design, while being commercially viable.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

GDES 3B80*Fibre: Wearable Form 2*

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course will build on knowledge and skills acquired in Fibre: Wearable Forms 1 by introducing more advanced construction methods, pattern drafting and draping for fashion, wearable and sculptural forms. An emphasis will be placed on original design and fabric use to create innovative forms. Alternative and sustainable materials and new processes for creating fabrics for fashion will be introduced. Production and conceptual fashion concepts will be further explored.

Prerequisites: GDES 3B51 Fibre: Wearable Form 1 OR GDES 3B51 Fibre: 3D Structures in Wearable Form

and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

GDES 3B81

Sequential Illustration Project

Department: Design
Subject: General Design
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Students in this course illustrate a self-authored, faculty-guided, short picture book or graphic novel, building on the knowledge and competencies acquired in either GDES 3B82 Book Illustration or GDES 3B76 Graphic Novel Illustration. Confronting the challenges of creating visual narratives with the commercial marketplace in mind, individual projects are developed to a level of completion appropriate for submission to a publisher for print or electronic dissemination.

Prerequisites: GDES 3B82 Book Illustration or GDES 3B76 Graphic Novel Illustration. and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: GDES 3B29 Sequential Narrative 2

GDES 3B82

Book Illustration

Department: Design
Subject: General Design
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

This course provides an in-depth study of Illustration as it applies to contemporary picture book design. With both the child and adult reader in mind, students create short self-authored book projects, applying principles of traditional storytelling and narrative structure. Individual visual languages are developed through the creation of consistently stylized illustrations and the interplay of images with text.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: GDES 3B05 Sequential Narrative 1

Conditions: Students require intermediate or advanced drawing competencies.

GDES 3B83

Design Forge

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio/Seminar

Credits: 0.50

The Design Forge is a full immersion into problem solving for 'real world' situations. Design problems that are not suitable for taking to commercial design studios will be brought to this course by various outside companies. Students will work in a concentrated way to problem solve. All resultant intellectual property will belong to the students. It will be offered during the summer when it is possible to work in a compressed schedule.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012/13

OFFERED IN SUMMER 2012

GDES 3B84

Introduction to Photography

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course focuses on the technical and creative use of digital photography as it applies to different fields of design. Students will be introduced to photography basics such as camera function, lens and filter options, varying exposure and lighting. Students will develop an understanding of effective communication through image alone and with its relationship with words. Students are required to provide their own digital 35 mm camera.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: ADVR 2B09 Photography for Advertising

GDES 1B19 Photography for Communication

GRPH 2A05 Photography for Graphic Design

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

GDES 3B86

Interaction Design

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio/Seminar

Credits: 0.50

This course considers the design of digital systems (computers, smart phones, entertainment technology, and the software that runs on them) from a human-centric (rather than machine-centric) perspective. Students will gain hands-on exposure to established techniques for interaction design in each of its major phases: understanding and formalizing goals, brainstorming and evaluating ideas, developing and evaluating advanced prototypes, and understanding adoption and use. Students will be introduced to a set of digital and paper-based tools for prototyping interactive systems, which they will use to develop an interactive prototype.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: DGIF 3B03 Interaction Design

SCTM 2B90 Special Topic in SCTM: Human-Computer Interaction

Notes: Priority Registration for DF: TIDA majors.

GDES 3B92

Special Topic: Furniture Craft & Production

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course is considered equivalent to and follows the topics and learning outcomes in GDES 3B25 Furniture Design 2.

Students will be working under the direction of a guest furniture designer (Derek McLeod) to explore, develop and prototype furniture design solutions in response to a design brief oriented towards addressing short run or full scale production. Students will be given a defined design brief which they will explore, prototype, develop and resolve into a final model and presentation/proposal.

The course will run for three hours per week, with approximately 2 hours in class and 1 hour in directed work in the wood lab. It is assumed that students will engage in self-directed work for a further three hours per week.

Prerequisites: GDES 3B15 Furniture Design 1 and GDES 3B15 Furniture Design 1 Lab/Wood and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: GDES 3B25 Furniture Design 2

Notes: NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012/13

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

GDES 3B93

Special Topic - Ecology/Lifecycle Analysis In Sustainable Design

Department: Design
Subject: General Design
Course Type: Studio/Seminar
Credits: 0.50

The world is changing and designers are learning that they are a crucial link in the ecological chain from raw materials to landfill sites. To positively contribute to the new normal designers need to understand the basic science of ecosystems. We will be learning about the atmosphere and the biosphere and how people have impacted them up to this point. We'll evaluate engineered and natural materials along the way and learn how to apply sustainable concepts including cradle to cradle, life cycle analysis and ISO 1400. We'll also take 2 field trips to local materials labs to learn about how composite materials are constructed and how they impact the environment.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

GDES 4B01

Business Practices/Advanced

Department: Design
Subject: General Design
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

While the marketing communications industry exists to influence consumer behaviour, it is very much a people and relationship business. Effective campaigns are developed by people and teams. The more effectively those people work together, the better the work will be. The ability to create effective relationships will be a key determinant in career success. Art directors and copy writers who have the ability to create strong client relationships are more likely to have their work viewed objectively.

This course teaches participants to build powerful business relationships based on effective business practice and interpersonal skills. This course will help turn what can be a time-consuming, frustrating creative process into a productive and enjoyable one that yields extraordinary results and prepares students to enter the advertising profession.

Prerequisites: 14.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirement (10.0 credits)

Notes: NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012/13

Restricted to 4th Year Advertising students.

GDES 4B02

Editorial & Publication Design 3

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Students will continue to explore the theories, practices and methods introduced in Editorial and Publication Design 2. The course will cover integrating text and images in sequential applications that interpret and develop concepts for the author's text and point of view. Students expand their skills of synthesizing typography, colour, imagery and layout to create multi-page documents that target a defined audience.

Prerequisites: GDES 3B22 Editorial & Publication Design 2 or GRPH 3B52 Graphic/Editorial 2

and 14.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirement (10.0 credits)

Notes: Under exceptional circumstances, the prerequisite may be waived with permission from the Chair of the appropriate area.

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Through a guided self-directed initiative, the senior student will research, propose and contact a practicing professional in an individual studio, gallery, educational institution or professional organization to search out an intern position of 60 work hours. This actual "real world" work experience will develop networking abilities and provide the student a glimpse into the design studio or art related environment and prepare the emerging artist/designer for employment upon graduation.

Prerequisites: 14.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirement (10.0 credits)

Conditions: Only students with a 70% average will be eligible to take this course.

Notes: NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012/13

OFFERED IN SUMMER 2012

Registration in this course requires prior approval by an Associate Dean, Faculty of Design. This internship must be appropriate to the student's major or minor.

GDES 4B05

Architectural Design Studio 1

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course exposes the student to the fundamentals of architectural design approaches such as landscape and site context, architectural form and layering, elevation and sectional design, and the design of architectural elements in the context of new building.

Through a series of architectural studio projects students explore, and develop key elements of architectural form and space, a basic understanding of architectural volume, mass and structure, and the creation of elevation and sectional spatial concepts. Various techniques of architectural representation and spatial development are explored in this studio project work.

As a studio course utilizing lectures, discussion, individual and class critique, developed designs are communicated through models, sketches, and drawings.

Prerequisites: ENVR 3K01 Core Project Studio/Retail & Hospitality Design

and 14.0 credits, including all first-year and second- year requirement (10.0 credits)

GDES 4B06

Business and Studio Practice

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio/Seminar

Credits: 0.50

The interface between commerce and the business of visual communication is the primary focus of this course. Professional Graphic Designers need to understand the value of design within the context and language of business and to understand current practices within their own profession. Instructor and guest professionals review professional procedures, standards and ethics using real case studies as the basis for discussion.

Prerequisites: 14.0 credits, including all first-year and second- year requirement (10.0 credits)

Notes: This course is available only to 4th Year Graphic Design students.

GDES 4B08

Think Tank 3: Action

Department: Design
Subject: General Design
Course Type: Studio/Seminar
Credits: 0.50

In the context of design and humanity and what is ultimately possible, Think Tank 3: Action builds on Think Tank 1: Consideration and Think Tank 2: Awareness. Working with teams composed of faculty from diverse backgrounds and invited specialists, students will be exposed to, and welcome to debate, multiple points of view.

Developing research methodologies and the skills to implement solutions to issues-based societal problems, students will be expected to initiate actions that will directly and positively affect the world around them. This interdisciplinary course allows students to apply what they have learned within the contemporary and constantly evolving context of local and international issues with project work that will have genuine value to society.

Prerequisites: GDES 3A01 Think Tank/Convergence or GDES 3B54 Think Tank 2: Consideration

and 14.0 credits, including all first-year and second- year requirement (10.0 credits)

Notes: All Think Tank courses are intended to augment and inform the core studio classes from each of the six design disciplines and to introduce students from the Faculty of Art to the Faculty of Design's underlying philosophy.

GDES 4B09

Animated Illustration

Department: Design
Subject: General Design
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Students will conceive, design and develop narrative time-based digital animations from illustration. With applications in TV and advertising in mind, this course will emphasize the importance of effective story-telling, character and content development. A personal stylistic approach to illustration will serve as a starting point in developing a 4-D interpretation. Concepts such as storyboarding, frame stacking, tweening and easing will be taught within vector-based, programmatic animation using Adobe After Effects.

Prerequisites: ILLU 3A02 Media Studio 3

or GRPH 3K02 Graphic Design 4

or ADVR 2K02 Advertising Concept 2

and 14.0 credits, including all first-year and second- year requirement (10.0 credits)

Conditions: Students must have a firm understanding of Adobe Illustrator and basic Mac OS X formally acquired in their program curriculum.

GDES 4B10

Kanata, The Village: Sustainability and Survivance in Aboriginal Design

Department: Design
Subject: General Design
Course Type: Studio/Seminar
Credits: 0.50

Through an analysis of historical Indigenous urban centres, architecture and material culture, students explore models of sustainability.

Large ideological systems and structures like the Longhouse, the pueblo and the pyramid, and smaller implements such as the teepee and the canoe are examined in terms of governance, construction and resource management.

The studio format encourages students to undertake projects that test the applicability of traditional Indigenous public, community and personal structures and implements in contemporary architecture, industrial and environmental design.

Course to be co-taught by Aboriginal Visual Culture faculty and Design faculty.

Prerequisites: 14.0 credits, including all first-year and second- year requirement (10.0 credits)

Notes: NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012/13

GDES 4B11

Furniture Design 3

Department: Design
Subject: General Design
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Furniture 3 builds on the skills and knowledge acquired in Furniture 1 and 2 . Students in Furniture 3 are expected to apply skills and knowledge in the creation, exploration and development of self directed and exploratory project work towards output of prototypes and finished pieces. Students will be encouraged to generate self directed projects with clearly defined outcomes. Students are also encouraged to develop projects with a collaborative component with relevant and appropriate partners such as commercial agencies, industry partners and/or educational institutions, and to conclude these projects with well developed outcomes.

Prerequisites: GDES 3B25 Furniture Design 2 and GDES 3B25 Furniture Design 2 Lab/Wood and 14.0 credits, including all first-year and second- year requirement (10.0 credits)

Co-requisites: Furniture Design 3 Lab/Wood (3 hrs per week)

Conditions: Students must have acquired appropriate technical and Health and Safety knowledge of and familiarity with Wood Lab Equipment and Power tools.

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

GDES 4B12

OCAD/Rotman Collaborative Practicum

Department: Design

Subject: General Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

In this Design Practicum, OCAD students will work in multi-disciplinary teams with Rotman School of Management MBA students to explore the important role of design thinking in business practices and strategies. Teams will identify new opportunities to create economic and social value through innovative solutions and viable new business models. Student teams will bring a rich variety of educational backgrounds and work experiences to a term project focused on the important role design thinking can play in enterprise growth and success.

Prerequisites: Open to 300 and 400 level students.

9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

GRPH 2B04

Communication: Time, Motion, Media

Department: Design

Subject: Graphic Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This studio investigates communication design specific to the capture and creation of motion. Students will be introduced to narrative elements and principles as they are found in interface, animation, video, film and television. Students will study the effective use of time, space, sound, transition, media integration and graphic story telling. The course will explore basic digital motion creation processes: video-capture, animation, workflow, digital asset management, and distribution.

Prerequisites: 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

GRPH 2B06

Typography 2: Structures

Department: Design

Subject: Graphic Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

In this course students will explore typographic structures, focusing on normative and conceptual principles. An in depth analysis is undertaken in this course that explores the letter relationship to the word, the word relationship to the line, lines in relationship to column and the way these elements activate a particular space. Students will be introduced to the basic principles of visual hierarchy and grid structures, as well as the syntactic, semantic and pragmatic qualities of typography.

Prerequisites: GDES 1B17 Typography 1 or GRPH 2A04 Typography 1: Letters and Words and 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

GRPH 2B07

Communication: Surface, Object, Space

Department: Design

Subject: Graphic Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Using a variety of materials through analogue and digital processes this course introduces students to the elements, principles and processes used in the development of three-dimensional form. Students examine the meanings and associations of forms, along with the underlying structural principles affecting their creation. Central to the course is how concept, form, material and process are inter-related. Through critical reasoning and an awareness of contemporary Graphic Design practices in architectural, exhibit, way-finding, and packaging design, students develop the skills and confidence to produce meaningful forms in three dimensions.

Prerequisites: 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

GRPH 2B08

Graphic Design 1

Department: Design

Subject: Graphic Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Through a variety of experiences ranging from the development of graphic form to composition and colour, students will develop visual vocabularies and an aesthetic understanding of how content and message impact on form and communication. All studio-based projects require research and presentations that include verbal, written and visual components. Students will work in two and four dimensions with static and time-based formats. The course will integrate current software and appropriate digital methods.

Prerequisites: GDES 1B18 Communication Design 2 (minimum grade of 60%)

or GDES 1B27 Graphic Communication (minimum grade of 60%)

and 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

Anti-requisites: GRPH 2K01 Graphic Design 1

Conditions: Requires a minimum grade of 60% to advance to Graphic Design 2.

GRPH 2B09

Graphic Design 2

Department: Design

Subject: Graphic Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

The course focuses on process, word/image interaction, meaning, hierarchy and the impact of dimensional form on effective communication. Students will learn to distill complex ideas into concise and convincing two and three-dimensional elements. All studio-based assignments require research and presentations that include verbal, written and visual components. The course will integrate current software and tools in both physical and virtual environments.

Prerequisites: GRPH 2B08 Graphic Design 1 (minimum grade of 60%)

or GRPH 2K01 Graphic Design 1 (minimum grade of 60%)

and 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

Anti-requisites: GRPH 2K02 Graphic Design 2

Conditions: Requires a minimum grade of 60% to advance to Graphic Design 3.

GRPH 2B10

Typography 3: Advanced Structures

Department: Design

Subject: Graphic Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Students will continue to explore the design of organizational typographic structures in this course. The presentation of complex information in a clear and engaging manner, servicing utility and where appropriate, beauty, is the primary focus. An increased emphasis on content, concept and type's association to imagery for specific target audiences will be addressed through a range of typographically-driven projects.

Prerequisites: GRPH 2B06 Typography 2: Structures

and 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

Anti-requisites: GRPH 3B14 Typography 3: Advanced Structures

GRPH 3B08

Graphic Design Open Studio

Department: Design

Subject: Graphic Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Open studio offers an opportunity to explore design in the broadest possible terms and consider the potential for transdisciplinary thinking and application in our rapidly evolving, complex world. We will investigate a diverse range of contexts and circumstances — actual and speculative, material, virtual and experiential. Freed from conventional, commercial, purely practical or discipline focused approaches and outcomes, we will consider the potential for design to speculate, experiment, redefine, innovate and liberate. This course will challenge existing notions of design, it will encourage experimentation and play.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

GRPH 3B14

Typography 3: Advanced Structures

Department: Design

Subject: Graphic Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Students will continue to explore the design of organizational typographic structures in this course. The presentation of complex information in a clear and engaging manner, servicing utility and where appropriate, beauty, is the primary focus. An increased emphasis on content, concept and type's association to imagery for specific target audiences will be addressed through a range of typographically-driven projects.

Anti-requisites: GRPH 2B10 Typography 3: Advanced Structures

GRPH 3B16

Typography 4: Expressive

Department: Design

Subject: Graphic Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This studio course is designed to encourage interpretation and investigation into the expressive possibilities of typography. Students will explore the relationship between semantics and syntactics to create emotive and engaging communications. The course will also focus on divergent/convergent processes, type as image, and creative/critical thinking.

Prerequisites: GRPH 3B14 Typography 3: Advanced Structures

and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

GRPH 3B18

Graphic Design 3

Department: Design

Subject: Graphic Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

The impact of corporate visual communication on our culture and society is explored in this course. Students learn to decipher and create visual hierarchal systems and to understand the intelligent interaction of typography with illustration, photography and graphic symbol. With a focus on experimentation, and innovative and creative thinking students develop effective concepts and a range of visual solutions.

Prerequisites: GRPH 2K02 Graphic Design 2 (minimum grade 60%)

and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: GRPH 3K01 Graphic Design 3

Conditions: Requires a minimum grade of 60% to advance to Graphic Design 4.

GRPH 3B19

Graphic Design 4

Department: Design

Subject: Graphic Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

In this continuation of Graphic Design 3, skills, theory, practice, history and concepts come together in a way that is meaningful to the shaping of intelligent and provocative communication in contemporary culture. At this level, projects have been developed that encourage students to be more collaborative, and more aware of the world around them as they explore corporate communication and brand identity for product and service driven companies. In the context of traditional and emerging technologies students will research, conceptualize and produce work from the exploration stages to a presentation level.

Prerequisites: GRPH 3B18 Graphic Design 3 (minimum grade of 60%) or GRPH 3K01 Graphic Design 3 (minimum grade of 60%)

and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: GRPH 3K02 Graphic Design 4

Conditions: Requires a minimum grade of 60% to advance to GRPH 4C03 Graphic Design 5 or GRPH 4C04 Graphic Design Thesis 1.

Research Methodologies for Graphic Design 1

Department: Design
Subject: Graphic Design
Course Type: Seminar
Credits: 0.50

In this introductory course, students will begin to develop frameworks for understanding the research process, in general, and will become familiar with the discourse of design research, specifically. Basic methods for locating, utilizing, and referencing diverse resource materials are stressed and the skills needed to comprehend and synthesize previously-generated research results from within design contexts are fostered. Through readings, discussions, and work assignments students will improve their abilities to 'read' visuals, to conduct both traditional and visual research, and to appreciate the differences between research and fact-finding.

Prerequisites: GRPH 2K02 Graphic Design 2 (minimum grade of 60%)

and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: GRPH 3A02 Research Methodologies for Graphic Design 1 and/or GRPH 3A03 Research Methodologies for Graphic Design 2

Conditions: Requires a minimum grade of 60% to advance to GRPH 4C02 Graphic Design 4 [corrected 2013-08-09] or GRPH 4C04 Graphic Design Thesis 1

GRPH 4B09

Digital/Analogue Graphic Reproduction Processes

Department: Design
Subject: Graphic Design
Course Type: Studio/Seminar
Credits: 0.50

This studio/seminar course is focused on current contemporary graphic production processes and electronic image reproduction. Students will learn important pre-production language, digital colour theory and project management systems relevant to pre-press, print and other digital media. Topics and processes that will be introduced include material sourcing, specialized reproduction methods such as embossing, hot-metal stamping, and bindery and output options. Course content will be delivered using lectures, discussions, demonstrations, field trips and presentations given by practicing imaging and production specialists. Student progress may be measured through projects, comprehension essays, memory exams or pop quizzes. Students may be asked to use learned technical knowledge to prepare and produce a personal assignment for final reproduction.

Prerequisites: 14.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirement (10.0 credits)

GRPH 4B17

Typography 5: Advanced

Department: Design

Subject: Graphic Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course is designed for students who wish to further their investigation into the structural and communicative aspects of typography and refine their process of using type to enhance meaning. Building on skills and knowledge acquired in previous courses, students will work on practical applications of advanced typographic systems. Class discussions and demonstrations will complement the process of solving typographical problems.

Prerequisites: GRPH 3B16 Typography 4: Expressive

and 14.0 credits, including all first-year and second- year requirement (10.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: GDES 3B39 Advanced Typography

GRPH 4C02

Graphic Design 5

Department: Design

Subject: Graphic Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 1.00

Graphic Design 5 presents advanced level projects in a studio that challenges students to refine both advanced design processes, and formal outcomes. The complexity and nature of the projects presented encourages a multi-disciplinary approach that integrates practice based research into finite design responses.

Prerequisites: GRPH 3B19 Graphic Design 4 (minimum grade of 60%) or GRPH 3K02 Graphic Design 4 (minimum grade of 60%)

and 14.0 credits, including all first-year and second- year requirement (10.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: GRPH 4K01 Graphic Design Thesis Project 1

Conditions: Requires a minimum grade of 60% to advance to GRPH 4C03 Graphic Design 6.

Should a student be unsuccessful in attaining a 60% average in GRPH 4C03 Graphic Design 6, they will be required, regardless of their mark in GRPH 4C02 Graphic Design 5 to repeat the fall component of this course, GRPH 4C02 Graphic Design 5, as well as the winter component of this course GRPH 4C03 Graphic Design 6.

Notes: Due to course content, it is required that students register with the SAME INSTRUCTOR for GRPH 4C02 and GRPH 4C03 and both courses must be taken in the same academic year.

GRPH 4C03

Graphic Design 6

Department: Design

Subject: Graphic Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 1.00

Graphic Design 6 presents a comprehensive term-long assignment that refines systematic design processes and thinking. By addressing a single large scale, complex design project over the course of the semester, students will be responsible for research, formal invention and conceptual development to arrive at an advanced degree of design resolution during their final semester.

Prerequisites: GRPH 4C02 Graphic Design 5 (minimum grade of 60%)

and 14.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirement (10.0 credits)

Conditions: Students must achieve a minimum grade of 60% in this course as a condition for graduating.

Should a student be unsuccessful in attaining a 60% average in GRPH 4C03 Graphic Design 6, they will be required, regardless of their mark in GRPH 4C02 Graphic Design 5 to repeat the fall component of this course, GRPH 4C02 Graphic Design 5, as well as the winter component of this course GRPH 4C03 Graphic Design 6.

Notes: Due to course content, it is required that students register with the SAME INSTRUCTOR for GRPH 4C02 and GRPH 4C03 and both courses must be taken in the same academic year.

GRPH 4C04

Graphic Design Thesis 1

Department: Design

Subject: Graphic Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 1.00

Graphic Design Thesis is a student-driven course of study that demands rigor in both design process and academic scholarship. The challenge before Thesis students is to cross the line between author and designer, to guide research that communicates effectively through both visual form and the written word. After enrollment in 4C04, students engage in a semester of independent research that integrates qualitative and quantitative methods, theoretical inquiry and formal practice.

Prerequisites: GRPH 3B19 Graphic Design 4 (minimum grade of 60%) or GRPH 3K02 Graphic Design 4 (minimum grade of 60%)

and 14.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirement (10.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: GRPH 4K01 Graphic Design Thesis Project 1

Conditions: Requires a minimum grade of 60% to advance to GRPH 4C05 Graphic Design Thesis 2.

Should a student be unsuccessful in attaining a 60% average in GRPH 4C05 Graphic Design Thesis 2, they will be required, regardless of their mark in GRPH 4C04 Graphic Design Thesis 1 to repeat the fall component of this course, GRPH 4C04 Graphic Design Thesis 1, as well as the winter component of this course GRPH 4C05 Graphic Design Thesis 2.

Notes: Due to course content, it is required that students register with the SAME INSTRUCTOR for GRPH 4C04 and GRPH 4C05 and both courses must be taken in the same academic year.

GRPH 4C05

Graphic Design Thesis 2

Department: Design

Subject: Graphic Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 1.00

Graphic Design Thesis challenges students to engage practical and theoretical design outcomes that are appropriate for, and deepen the significance of their chosen area of independent study. The research and initial formal design processes from the fall semester find integration into a range of expressions that shape and give form to raw content and data. Students are encouraged to work across disciplines, media, and fields of knowledge to arrive at a more holistic view of design practice. The semester concludes with the presentation and defence of design scholarship.

Prerequisites: GRPH 4C04 Graphic Design Thesis 1 (minimum grade of 60%)

and 14.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirement (10.0 credits)

Conditions: Students must achieve a minimum grade of 60% in this course as a condition for graduating.

Should a student be unsuccessful in attaining a 60% average in GRPH 4C05 Graphic Design Thesis 2, they will be required, regardless of their mark in GRPH 4C04 Graphic Design Thesis 1 to repeat the fall component of this course, GRPH 4C04 Graphic Design Thesis 1 as well as the winter component of this course GRPH 4C05 Graphic Design Thesis 2.

Notes: Due to course content, it is required that students register with the SAME INSTRUCTOR for GRPH 4C04 and GRPH 4C05 and both courses must be taken in the same academic year.

HUMN 2B01

Aesthetics

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: Liberal Studies

Course Type: Academic Course

Credits: 0.50

This course offers students an introduction to the philosophy of art through the study of concepts and issues which have concerned artists, critics and philosophers from modernism to postmodernism. We examine some of the traditional philosophical problems of aesthetics connected to ideas of beauty, genius, imagination, creativity, artistic value and expression, critical evaluation, and the role of the artist in society. We also investigate contemporary issues related to the dematerialization of the art object in the twentieth century such as visual thinking, spatial intelligence, representation, semiotic signification, the anti-aesthetic, and the connection between art and politics.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of first-year liberal arts & sciences (including the Writing course with a minimum passing grade of 60%).

HUMN 2B03

History of Medicine, Science and the Body in Western Culture (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: Liberal Studies

Course Type: Academic Course

Credits: 0.50

This course will examine how scientific developments during different periods in Western history have influenced explanations of health and disease, the body, and the human condition. We will explore the emergence of different medical belief systems and the impact of scientific theories on societal beliefs and values. Topics covered will include perceptions of disease causation, evolution and Social Darwinism, different explanations of madness and disease, and current issues defining medicine in the 21st century. We will also address how major diseases and epidemics have affected historical outcomes.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of first-year liberal arts & sciences (including the Writing course with a minimum passing grade of 60%).

HUMN 2B04

Introduction to Visual Theory (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

This lecture course introduces art and design students to the fundamental considerations of how we (and the various power brokers of the day) attribute meaning and value to images in a contemporary global context. What is the role of the maker, the viewer, the funder, the politician, the consumer, the philosopher, the pundit? How do such things as race, class, gender, ideology, and aesthetics influence our ways of understanding not only images but the social and political contexts in which they are produced and viewed. The course considers a broad range of visual forms, including paintings, prints, photographs, film, television, video, advertisements, news reporting, and science images.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of first-year liberal arts & sciences (including the Writing course with a minimum passing grade of 60%).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken LBST 1B06 or VISC 1B06 may not take this course for further credit.

HUMN 2B05

Western Political Thought from Plato to the Present

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

This course introduces students to the issues and debates in political thought through history and across western culture. Students will examine the key concepts and ideas of western politics ranging from Plato, to John Stuart Mill, to C.B McPherson. A particular theme of the course will explore the central ideas that have shaped the contemporary political environment historically in areas such as liberalism, conservatism, Marxism, and in the more contemporary arenas of feminism, socialism, neo-liberalism, aboriginal rights, equality and social justice. Students will also learn about the methodology of political science, the institutional and social framework of political activity, and the role of political ideas.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of first-year liberal arts & sciences (including the Writing course with a minimum passing grade of 60%).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken SOSC 2B05: Western Political Thought from Plato to the Present may not take this course for further credit.

Twentieth Century Ideas

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: Liberal Studies

Course Type: Academic Course

Credits: 0.50

This lecture course draws from the broad spectrum of twentieth century thought to introduce students to issues and competing perspectives that have had an impact on the art, design and culture of our time. Ideas and issues to be examined include psychoanalysis and the unconscious, behaviourism and the machine model of humanity, scientific method and objective truth, imperialism and the conflict of ideologies, existentialism and the plight of the individual, feminism and the Other, semiotics, and the postmodern condition.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of first-year liberal arts & sciences (including the Writing course with a minimum passing grade of 60%).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken ACAD 2B16 may not take this course for further credit.

HUMN 2B28

Nature, Culture and the Environment (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: Liberal Studies

Course Type: Academic Course

Credits: 0.50

This course studies the evolution and interface of ideas associated with the development of science and technology, and their impact on culture and the environment from the Enlightenment to the Post-modern. Particular consideration is given to the theoretical foundations of the notion of progress and the consequences of technological development, including some of the most pressing social, ethical, and environmental issues of our time. Students will develop an informed understanding of these issues and learn the skills of critical thinking, debate and clear writing.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of first-year liberal arts & sciences (including the Writing course with a minimum passing grade of 60%).

HUMN 2B29

The Culture of Science

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: Liberal Studies

Course Type: Academic Course

Credits: 0.50

This lecture course explores changing conceptions of the universe and the body to introduce students to issues in the history, philosophy and culture of the natural sciences from the early modern period to the present day. We examine how science has been shaped as a body of knowledge and as an enterprise by ideological, political and social issues. Students are also introduced to models of scientific inquiry and ideas of objectivity, rationality, paradigm shifts, and progress.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of first-year liberal arts & sciences (including the Writing course with a minimum passing grade of 60%).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken ACAD 2B29 may not take this course for further credit.

HUMN 3B01

Reading Popular Culture

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: Liberal Studies

Course Type: Academic Course

Credits: 0.50

This course examines the mass media as a dominant form of culture which socializes us while providing the materials for social reproduction and change. The emphasis of the course is on the stimulation of critical reflection and debate relevant to an understanding of various popular cultural genres in contemporary Canadian and global cultures. In studying various genres, including soap opera, science fiction, fashion and dance music, we compare different analytical approaches to reading culture and questioning the politics of representation, distribution, production, and consumption.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken ACAD 2B14 or HUMN 2B14 may not take this course for further credit.

HUMN 3B02

The Romantic Rebellion in Europe

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

This course studies the Romantic movement in European culture through lectures and discussion on the literature, philosophy, art and music of the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries. Topics include the revival of interest in mediaevalism, folklore, emotion, and self-expression in art and daily life, and new concepts of male-female relationships. Later currents include the mysterious and dangerous Byronic hero, as well as a greater interest in social satire and the uncanny. The emphasis will be on German, English, and Russian culture, though examples will also be drawn from French, Italian, East European and Scandinavian Romantic movements. The rise of nationalism, the French Revolution and Napoleonic Wars, and the reestablishment of the ancien regime create the socio-political foundation for the culture of the period.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Environmental Ethics

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

Is it possible to imagine an ethical approach to environmental issues that addresses the competing needs of the various human and non-human participants to an environmental dispute? With an emphasis on critical reflection, this course invites students to confront the ethical dimensions raised by historical and contemporary Canadian and global environmental debates. Theoretical ethical approaches will be explored as reflected in case studies of key historical environmental “moments” in which obligations to future generations, issues of distributive justice and/or appropriate dispute resolution methods have been challenged. Drawing upon cross-cultural traditions, underlying assumptions of the scientific, economic, aesthetic, religious, feminist, judicial and public policy discourse on the environment will be examined with reference to one basic question: How ought we to structure our lives and beliefs in order to address the environmental problems facing our world today?

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken HUMN 3B92: Special Topic in Humanities: Issues in Environmental Ethics may not take this course for further credit.

HUMN 3B06

Comparative Religions

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: Liberal Studies

Course Type: Academic Course

Credits: 0.50

This course will introduce the main tenets of seven world faiths: Hinduism, Sikhism, Buddhism, Taoism, Judaism, Christianity and Islam. The lecture-seminars will focus on both the philosophical beliefs and ritual practices from within each of the religious traditions. This will provide a context from which we can begin to examine not only different 'ways of world makings' but also the complexity of the political present.

Students will be encouraged to question what it means to 'study' religion (in distinction to practicing religion) and the course will be designed so as to facilitate a comparative study across the different religious traditions. This comparative methodology will involve the study of how the different traditions approach scripture and revelation; the human condition and transcendent reality; gender and the body; image-making and metaphor.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken HUMN 3B93: Special Topic in Humanities: Comparative Religions may not take this course for further credit.

HUMN 3B07

Ethics and the Visual Arts (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: Liberal Studies

Course Type: Academic Course

Credits: 0.50

This course explores how ethics and ethical issues enter into the contemporary arts, whether painting, sculpture, installation, film, television, or video production. Students study ethical theories, probe the meaning of moral judgements, and identify the assumptions underlying different theories of ethics as they relate to artistic practice. Students consider some of the principal issues artists are faced with in contemporary practice, and are encouraged to develop the skills of critical enquiry and debate.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken ACAD 3B07 may not take this course for further credit.

Ethics, Advertising and Design

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: Liberal Studies

Course Type: Academic Course

Credits: 0.50

This course examines the philosophical field of ethics as it pertains to the design and advertising of products in the marketplace. Students are introduced to the principal issues faced by advertising executives and industrial designers in practicing their professions. We examine various theories of ethics, probe the meaning of moral judgments, and identify the underlying assumptions in each case. Throughout the course, students are encouraged to develop the skills of critical enquiry.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

HUMN 3B09

Introduction to Gender Studies (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: Liberal Studies

Course Type: Academic Course

Credits: 0.50

Throughout the world, men and women have historically been represented differently, whether those differences are attributed to nature or to culture. Drawing on cross-cultural critiques of art and culture - feminist, masculinist and queer - this course introduces students to some of the historical and contemporary contexts that have contributed to the construction of gendered identities.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

HUMN 3B10

Multicultural Social Ethics (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

A study of key ethical issues in the global context. Taking our approach from multiple points of view derived from American/European, Asian, African, and indigenous societies, we will consider questions such as the following: cultural exploitation, fair trade, social justice, racial discrimination, patenting indigenous knowledge, right to aid, right to food, human rights, justification of war and terrorism, gender rights, the ethical status of abortion, legalization of euthanasia, the value of affirmative action, abuse of power, environmental racism, development and displacement, the problem of ethnocentrism & diversity, terrorism and security, etc. Students will develop tolerance and respect for other cultures and theoretical perspectives, learn how to think critically about ethical issues, and become informed about global ethical values.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken HUMN 3B98: Special Topic In Humanities: Multicultural Social Ethics may not take this course for further credit.

HUMN 3B11

Sexualities and Representation: Queer and Other Theories

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

This course will explore intersections in the history and theory of sexualities and the politics of representation by analyzing the relevant discourses in art and design, ideology and narratives, resistance and activism. Investigating the writings of theorists such as Judith Butler, Michel Foucault and Eve Sedgwick, students will gain informed knowledge about the construction and performance of lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgendered, queer and questioning (LGBTQ) identity and about notions of being 'inside or outside' or straddling the edge of a community.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits) and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken HUMN 4B16 and VISC 4B16: Queer Theory: Sexuality and Representation may not take this course for further credit.

Aesthetics of Well Being

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: Liberal Studies

Course Type: Academic Course

Credits: 0.50

This is a critical investigation of the connection between aesthetics and health and illness. Appealing to both art and design students, it involves a study of visual arts, film, poetry, popular culture, advertising, green design, and architecture in relation to well being. It considers health implications in historical, contemporary, and cross-cultural themes. These include catharsis, inner and outer beauty, art as therapy, the comfort appeal of TV sitcoms, idealized beauty in advertising, the kinaesthetic response to rock music, and the transformative psychological power of dance. This course also investigates heliotherapeutic architecture, sick-building syndrome, “ensouled” construction techniques, ecopsychology, and ecological aesthetics.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

STUFF: Material Culture and the Meanings of Things

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: Liberal Studies

Course Type: Academic Course

Credits: 0.50

This course examines the meaning of things, buildings and places and the relationships people establish with them. Interested as much in the methodological questions of how to assess critically the built environment as in philosophical and aesthetic questions of meaning and significance that tend to accompany the interactions with stuff, the course is structured around linked, but independent thematic units. As such, the primary purpose of this course is to provide a framework for the analysis of things and methodological tools for the use of material culture in the study of society, past or present. Here, the intention is to interrogate the central, complex and powerful roles that things of all sorts play in daily life.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken HUMN 3B92 Special Topic in Humanities: STUFF: Material Culture and the Meaning of Things may not take this course for further credit.

From Riel to Nationhood, A History of the Métis (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

The Métis are a distinct Aboriginal people with a unique history, culture, language and territory whose struggle to assert their collective identity helped define Canada's nationhood. This course addresses key concepts and the theoretical underpinnings of the political and cultural history of the Métis Nation in Canada. From the history of the Métis in Eastern Canada, Quebec and Ontario in the 1600s, to the establishment of a homeland and the emergence of a contemporary national identity, students will learn about key figures and events in Métis and Canadian history including Louis Riel, Gabriel Dumont, the Red River Resistance and the Battle of Batoche.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Modernism and Postmodernism

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

This course enables students to gain a broad understanding of Modernism and its critiques (Antimodernism, Postmodernism, Postcolonialism) within the context of visual art, architecture, music, and literature from the period 1850 to 1990 against their socio-political and philosophical backgrounds. Works discussed may include, among others, Nietzsche, Freud, Marx, Baudelaire, Woolf, Mann, Joyce, Borges, Burroughs, Stravinsky, Schoenberg, Cage, Sherman, Shonibare, Venturi, Gehry, Lacon, Foucault, Fanon, and Krause.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken HUMN 4B01: Modernism: Critical Perspectives or HUMN 4B18: Postmodernism: Critical Perspectives may not take this course for further credit.

Notes: Priority registration for Criticism and Curatorial Practice majors.

Priority registration for this course will be lifted on Tuesday, July 24, 2012.

Feminist Theory

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

This seminar course draws on interdisciplinary research in art and design, literature, and social theory to examine a broad range of approaches to the study of gender in society. We reflect critically on the theories and practices of a diverse spectrum of feminist thought, and work towards the development of a framework of analysis which views sex and gender as intersecting with race, ethnicity, sexuality, ability, and socio-economic class. Our focus emphasizes recent changes in the global economy, capitalism, and postcolonial societies that have transformed families, workplaces, conceptions of power, and alternative forms of portraying human agency and resistance.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken HUMN 4B17: Feminist Theory may not take this course for further credit.

The Classical Tradition and its Legacies (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

This course examines the role of the classical tradition in Western design and culture from the Renaissance to the present. Considering classicism as a structure open to interpretation and innovation rather than as a fixed tradition, we will critically examine the legacy of classical forms and ideas on the past five centuries of cultural and artistic development. Our primary focus will be on architecture and graphic design, but we will also consider the impact of classicism on modern philosophy, literature, and the fine arts. Our study of visual works will be supported by the reading of primary and secondary texts.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken ACAD 2B21, ACAD 3B29, VISC 2B21, VISC 4B23 or VISD 4B23: The Classical Tradition & Its Legacies may not take this course for further credit.

Imagining Nation: Canada's Cultural History

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: Liberal Studies

Course Type: Academic Course

Credits: 0.50

Art, film and literature produced by artists in this country over the course of the 20th C, and into the 21st, could be considered tangible representations of Canadian identity. This cultural history has been implicitly tied to the project of defining nation. This course will examine this history by looking at the ways that various institutions such as the CBC, the National Film Board and the Canada Council have been shaped by the need to differentiate Canada from its colonial past and its neighbours. These institutions will be looked at in conjunction with policy instruments - the Indian Act, the Massey Commission, and the Multiculturalism Act - through which federal interests were implemented. Artists were deeply involved with these processes of institutionalization. Beginning with early collectives such as the Royal Society in the early 1900's up to the formation of the Artist Run Centres in the 1970's, artists have organized in order to maintain a voice within the discourse of governmentality. Also, postcolonial studies and practice will be examined in conjunction with its influence on artistic production and exhibition. Other areas that will be interwoven will include Canada's intellectual history and canonicity (both inclusion and exclusion). This course will give students the opportunity to see that Canadians have historically been conscious of some of the complex questions we are wrestling with today. By contextualizing artistic practices within the larger narrative of imagining nation, students will see that the history of culture in Canada is more than the sum of the artworks themselves. A repro-text will be produced in order to accommodate the numerous points of view within this discussion. The following bibliography covers some of those readings.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken VISC 3B25 may not take this course for further credit.

HUMN 3B92

Special Topic in Humanities: Extraordinary Bodies

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

This seminar course looks at how "physically different" bodies have been viewed artistically throughout history and in our contemporary culture. We will look at how different models of looking at "otherness" have pervaded our culture and how a newer, social model has finally taken root, as well as how these models affect not only our creative lives but also our social, political and personal lives, as well as the environments in which we live. By exploring different bodies as cultural representations we will be challenged to find ways in which the experience of those deemed "different" can be included in contemporary art, literature, and film.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Notes: This "Special Topic" course provides more advanced analysis of a topic of general interest or relevance. This course fulfills 0.5 credit toward the Liberal Arts & Sciences requirements for a BFA or BDes.

Existentialism and Its Culture

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

This course is a study of the short stories, poetry, film, visual art and philosophical essays which have been generated from, or significantly influenced by, the philosophy of existentialism. In identifying some of the chief issues, notable works and leading figures in the movement, students gain an appreciation of the "existential" approach to modern culture, one characterized by the preeminence of critical protest.

Prerequisites: 10.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits) and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken ACAD 4B03 may not take this course for further credit.

Health & Wellness: Ethics & Cultural Politics

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: Liberal Studies

Course Type: Academic Course

Credits: 0.50

A study of the ethics and cultural politics in the current debate between the conventional medical profession and proponents of health and wellness. It will focus on the public debate of issues related to the state-control of health matters, for example, the power and dominance of conventional medical organizations, the social value of the illness-oriented practice of medicine, the politicization of medical research, the gender-bias in medical reproductive technology, medical lobby-groups and the management of mass media discourse on health, the appropriateness of drug therapy, and the propriety of the relationship between doctors and drug companies. This will include consideration of the politics of cultural difference and its impact on the scientific and ethical validity of medical methodologies used in alternative practices like Chinese herbalism and acupuncture, European homeopathy, Indian Ayurvedic medicine and Yoga, and North American indigenous medicine.

It will also include reference to ethical dimensions of the representation of the illness and health of the body in cultural production, for example, the depiction of the AIDs epidemic in the work of General Idea, the use of body fluids in relation to religious icons in Andres Serrano's Piss Christ, the feminist implications of cosmetic surgery in Orlan's video-taped operating-theatre performances, the marketing of human remains in Body Worlds Show of plastinized works by Gunther von Hagen, the fetishization of wounds in David Cronenberg's Crash, and the consecrated medicine of native Canadians in the art work of Jane Ash Poitras. Students will learn about ethical theories from around the world, and they will develop skills in critical ethical thinking by applying these theories to the analysis of the issues identified above.

Prerequisites: 10.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits) and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Zen Buddhism and Its Culture (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: Liberal Studies

Course Type: Academic Course

Credits: 0.50

This course is a study of the short stories, poetry, film, visual art, gardens, philosophical writings and other cultural expressions of Buddhism. Through an exploration of the principal themes, notable works and leading historical figures in the movement, students develop an appreciation of the distinctively Buddhist frame of mind, where the focus on meditation and paradox become key elements in the search for enlightenment.

Prerequisites: 10.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits) and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken ACAD 4B12 may not take this course for further credit.

ILLU 1B01

Observational Drawing and Painting 1

Department: Design
Subject: Illustration
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Integrating representational drawing principles and practices with wet media, students execute figure and still life exercises from observation, as a foundation for Illustration. Further examination of surface anatomy, proportion, human locomotion is undertaken to inform figurative works. Fundamental painting techniques using limited warm/cool palettes are explored to assess the aesthetic possibilities and physical properties inherent in painting media. Ongoing sketchbook assignments maintain a drawing routine outside the classroom.

Prerequisites: ILLU 1B05 Observational Drawing Principles or 1B05 Illustrative Drawing Principles

Anti-requisites: ILLU 1B01 Observational Drawing and Painting

ILLU 1B02

Illustrative Concepts 1

Department: Design
Subject: Illustration
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Illustrative Concepts 1 introduces students to the fundamental theories and practices in the field of contemporary illustration, with an emphasis on ideation and visual problem-solving methods. Students develop and apply design processes, including problem definition, design criteria development, research and observation, brainstorming, mindmapping and visual synthesis, divergent and convergent thinking, critical thinking, and cycles of testing and refinement through a variety of studio projects. Central to this course is the illustrator's role as storyteller, communicator and commentator.

Notes: No substitute

ILLU 1B03

Illustrative Concepts 2

Department: Design
Subject: Illustration
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Building on the ideation methods developed in Illustrative Concepts 1, students apply further visual problem-solving techniques to create communicative images. Narratives are developed through symbolic means of representation, employing metaphor and metonymy, and through conceptual synthesis. The diverse meaning of symbols, as defined by context and sequence is also explored. While the storytelling effect of formal pictorial elements such as line, shape, value, light, movement, placement, scale, cropping and colour is examined. Simple text-to-image translation methods are introduced.

Prerequisites: ILLU 1B02 Illustrative Concepts 1

Conditions: This is a core Illustration course. Students must achieve a minimum grade of 60% in this course to advance to Illustration 1.

No substitute.

ILLU 1B04

Media Studio: Analogue

Department: Design
Subject: Illustration
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Students in this course will explore a variety of analogue or traditional illustration media and materials, assessing and applying their properties through multiple techniques and methodologies. Through a series of exercises manipulating the formal aspects of picture making, students will acquire capacities to synthesize appropriate wet, dry and mixed media with illustrative concepts.

Anti-requisites: ILLU 1B04 Media Studio or ILLU 2A02 Media Studio 1

ILLU 1B05Observational Drawing Principles*

Department: Design
Subject: Illustration
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Principles and fundamentals of figure and object drawing applicable to Illustration are introduced in this course. Students render three dimensional forms, structures and spaces using one, two and three point perspective, with an emphasis on accuracy and achieving spatial illusion. Students also draw from the model using gesture, contour and shaded drawing techniques with short and sustained poses, to develop an understanding of surface anatomy, proportion, mass, negative and positive space, line quality, composition and observational perspective. Students also maintain a sketchbook to establish a routine of drawing from life.

Anti-requisites: GDES 1B12 Illustrator's Toolkit or ILLU 1B05 Illustrative Drawing Principles

ILLU 2B03*Graphic Design for Illustrators*

Department: Design
Subject: Illustration
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

This course introduces graphic design and typography as key considerations in conjunction with illustration. Fundamental principles of graphic design are applied, as size, weight, structure and colour orientation of typography are studied for the practical use of illustrators. Appropriate and effective fusions of form and function and of typographic and illustrative styles are explored, while communications theory and design history form a context.

Prerequisites: 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

Anti-requisites: ILLU 2A04 Graphic Design for Illustrators

Conditions: Illustration students who are taking digital media courses MUST subscribe to the Wireless Network Fee, which includes unlimited access to Lynda.com <http://lynda.com/> online tutorials for over 100 software titles. Online tutorials are the sole means of technical instruction provided by OCAD for digital media based courses.

Illustration 1

Department: Design
Subject: Illustration
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

In this core course, text-to-image methodologies are applied to written material ranging in complexity from a key word to full manuscripts. Students analyze and distill texts, and generate concepts through a series of revised preliminary drawings reflecting the collaborative process between illustrator and art director. Students examine a variety of visual strategies including literal depiction, symbolism, montage, synthesis, transformation, distortion, synesthesia, anecdote and decoration, to identify appropriate solutions to a given text. Complementary media is subsequently investigated for final art.

Prerequisites: ILLU 1B03 Illustrative Concepts 2 (minimum grade of 60%)

or GDES 1B27 Graphic Communication (minimum grade of 60%)

and 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

Anti-requisites: ILLU 2K01 Illustration 1

Conditions: Requires a minimum grade of 60% to advance to Illustration 2.

ILLU 2B09

Illustrative Drawing and Painting 1

Department: Design
Subject: Illustration
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Techniques for observational drawing and painting are extrapolated and applied to illustrative art. Using a full palette, in both opaque and transparent painting media, students manipulate visual hierarchies of compositional elements, tone and colour to create narratives. Intensive studies of heads and hands lay the foundation for portraiture, and studies of drapery folds serve as an introduction to costume drawing and painting. Historical precedents and contemporary examples of narrative and figurative art are researched. Ongoing sketchbook assignments maintain a drawing routine outside the classroom.

Prerequisites: ILLU 2B08 Illustrative Drawing

or ILLU 2B08 Drawing for Illustrators 1

or ILLU 2B12 Observational Drawing and Painting 2

and 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

ILLU 2B10Illustration 2*

Department: Design
Subject: Illustration
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Distinctions between categories of contemporary Illustration, regarding function, usage and audience, are systematically explored and defined through the development of book, editorial and advertising images. Students apply ideation methodologies, visual strategies, diverse media and professional practices to assignments approximating commissions by clients. Various contexts for assessing illustration- artistic, commercial, ethical, and societal- are compared, to discuss the illustrator's role in shaping culture.

Prerequisites: ILLU 2B04 Illustration 1 (minimum grade 60%)

or ILLU2K01 Illustration 1 (minimum grade of 60%)

and 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

Anti-requisites: ILLU 2K02 Illustration 2

Conditions: Requires a minimum grade of 60% to advance to Illustration 3.

ILLU 2B12*Observational Drawing and Painting 2*

Department: Design
Subject: Illustration
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

In this course, traditional limited palettes are explored as a means to achieve realism with the figure and still life. Students, using acrylics, apply basic colour theory, mixing and painting technique to describe figures and objects in light and shade, warm and cool light, and three dimensional space. Transparent painting media and the fundamentals of composition relating to figurative illustration are also introduced. Ongoing sketchbook assignments maintain a drawing routine outside the classroom. In addition, students attend a drawing workshop as a supplement to this course to further their understanding of anatomy.

Prerequisites: ILLU 1B01 Observational Drawing and Painting 1

and 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

Co-requisites: ILLU 2B12 Observational Drawing and Painting 2 - Drawing and Painting Workshop

Anti-requisites: ILLU 2B08 Illustrative Drawing

Notes: There is a drawing and painting workshop attached to this course.

Media Studio: Digital

Department: Design
Subject: Illustration
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Using the computer as a primary illustrative tool, students will explore ideas and concepts using digital media techniques. Contemporary illustration practices are examined through the use of software, such as Adobe Illustrator and Adobe Photoshop. Vector and raster art is created and assessed for its appropriateness in a variety of applications. Online tutorials, at Lynda.com, will assist students in developing greater control and efficiency in their digital work.

Prerequisites: ILLU 2B11 Media Studio 1

or ILLU 2B11 Media Studio: Analogue

Illustrative Drawing and Painting 2

Department: Design
Subject: Illustration
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Building on the skills and knowledge attained in Illustrative Drawing and Painting 1, students further their understanding and depiction of the human form in drawing and painting media with increased emphasis on anatomy, perspective, composition and lighting. Varied lighting is studied, and explored through colour-mixing of limited palettes, experimentation with temperature and saturation, and by employing colour theory. The course's content is delivered by using lectures, demonstrations, group and individual critiques. Students work from life, and on occasion, continue with sustained poses from one class to the next.

Prerequisites: ILLU 2B09 Illustrative Drawing and Painting 1 or ILLU 2A03 Drawing for Illustrators 2

and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

ILLU 3B10

Illustrative Drawing and Painting 3

Department: Design
Subject: Illustration
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Through the application of an expanded palette and colour theory, students improve their ability in capturing observed light and colour on the human form, and investigate methods of suggesting contrasting moods and themes. Heads, facial expressions and hands are studied in greater detail, advancing students' awareness of anatomical features and means of representation. The course's content is delivered by using lectures, demonstrations, group and individual critiques. Students work from life, and on occasion, continue with sustained poses from one class to the next.

Prerequisites: ILLU 3B09 Illustrative Drawing and Painting 2 or ILLU 3B08 Drawing and Painting for Illustrators 1

and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Co-requisites: ILLU 3B10 Illustrative Drawing and Painting 3 - Drawing and Painting Workshop

Notes: There is a drawing and painting workshop attached to this course.

Illustration 3

Department: Design
Subject: Illustration
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Applying the conceptual and technical knowledge acquired in Illustration 1 and 2, students begin to develop an illustrator's visual vocabulary. Varying text-to-image relationships are introduced and explored, emphasizing the differing criteria for editorial, advertising, book, corporate, or institutional assignments. The effective communication of a client's objectives reconciled with the creative expression of the illustrator is thoroughly addressed.

Prerequisites: ILLU 2B10 Illustration 2 (minimum grade of 60%) or ILLU 2K02 Illustration 2 (minimum grade of 60%)

and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: ILLU 3K01 Illustration 3

Conditions: Requires a minimum grade of 60% to advance to Illustration 4.

ILLU 3B12Illustration 4*

Department: Design
Subject: Illustration
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

The individual vocabulary of the illustrator, as it reflects both technical facility and the make-up of one's personality (eg. A sense of humour, irony, style or outrage) is the focus of this course. Students are offered a variety of assignments from which to choose, thus encouraging the development of a unique artistic voice. Furthermore, the demand for illustrators, by ever-changing market forces, to innovate and act as "content providers" is discussed and explored. To that end, students begin preparation of their thesis proposals for Illustration 5.

Prerequisites: ILLU 3B11 Illustration 3 (minimum grade of 60%) or ILLU 3K01 Illustration 3 (minimum grade of 60%) and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: ILLU 3K02 Illustration 4

Conditions: Requires a minimum grade of 60% to advance to Illustration 5.

ILLU 3B13*Media Studio 2*

Department: Design
Subject: Illustration
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Using the computer as a primary illustrative tool, students will explore ideas and concepts using new media techniques. This course covers contemporary illustration practices through the use of two leading computer programs, Adobe Illustrator and Adobe Photoshop, for vector and raster art creation and will examine their appropriateness in a variety of applications. Utilizing many of the skills learned in the year 2 Computer Workshops, students will develop greater control and efficiency in their digital work.

Prerequisites: ILLU 2B11 Media Studio 1 or ILLU 2A02 Media Studio 1 and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: ILLU 2A01 Media Studio 2 or ILLU 2B13 Media Studio: Digital

Conditions: Illustration students who are taking digital media courses MUST subscribe to the Wireless Network Fee, which includes unlimited access to Lynda.com <http://lynda.com/> online tutorials for over 100 software titles. Online tutorials are the sole means of technical instruction provided by OCAD for digital media based courses.

Media Studio 3

Department: Design
Subject: Illustration
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

As an extension of Media Studio 2, this course emphasizes the combined use of computer technology with traditional media to explore new illustration techniques. With the development of advanced computer skills and increased hybrid experimentation, students are encouraged to develop distinct, personal methods and techniques.

Prerequisites: ILLU 3B13 Media Studio 2 or ILLU 3A01 Media Studio 2

and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: ILLU 3A02 Media Studio 3

Conditions: Illustration students who are taking digital media courses MUST subscribe to the Wireless Network Fee, which includes unlimited access to Lynda.com <http://lynda.com/> online tutorials for over 100 software titles. Illustrative Drawing and Painting 5

Department: Design
Subject: Illustration
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

The development of a personal visual language applicable to illustration through the integration of advanced drawing and painting skills is a critical component of this course. Through direct observation of the human figure situated in its environment, students explore the relationship between the subject and the viewer, between narrative and symbolism, and between representation and abstraction. Contemporary issues and means of representation are discussed, encouraging students to explore non-traditional media and mark-making. The course's content is delivered by using lectures, demonstrations, group and individual critiques. Students work from life, and on occasion, continue with sustained poses from one class to the next.

Prerequisites: ILLU 4B10 Illustrative Drawing and Painting 4 or ILLU 4A02 Drawing and Painting for Illustrators 3

and 14.0 credits, including all first-year and second- year requirement (10.0 credits)

ILLU 4B10

Illustrative Drawing and Painting 4

Department: Design

Subject: Illustration

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

In this studio course, students apply precision drawing, refined rendering techniques, a variety of painting media and colour theory to capture and describe the nude or costumed figure within the context of an environment. Effective use of composition, perspective and mood are also investigated to enhance the narrative quality of a painting, as it relates to illustration. The course's content is delivered by using lectures, demonstrations, group and individual critiques. Students work from life, and on occasion, continue with sustained poses from one class to the next.

Prerequisites: ILLU 3B10 Illustrative Drawing and Painting 3 or ILLU 3A03 Drawing and Painting for Illustrators 2

and 14.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirement (10.0 credits)

Co-requisites: ILLU 4B10 Illustrative Drawing and Painting 4 - Drawing and Painting Workshop

Notes: There is a drawing and painting workshop attached to this course.

ILLU 4B11

Illustration 5: Thesis

Department: Design
Subject: Illustration
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Based on an approved "Statement of Intent", drafted by students in preparation for this course, Illustration 5 is dedicated to the development of a thesis project- defined as a self-initiated, faculty guided conceptual and technical study of Illustration resulting in a significant, cohesive body of work. Through extensive research of critical issues, historical precedents and contemporary explorations, students collect, analyze and reflect on their findings and develop the early stages of a comprehensive illustration project that continues into the winter semester. Ongoing individual discussions, group critiques and lectures assist in the progress of the project while students meet firm deadlines established early in the course.

Prerequisites: ILLU 3B12 Illustration 4 or ILLU 3K02 Illustration 4 (minimum grade of 60%)

and 14.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirement (10.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: ILLU 4K01 Illustration 5: Thesis

Conditions: Requires a minimum grade of 60% to advance to ILLU 4B12 Illustration 6: Thesis.

Should a student be unsuccessful in attaining a 60% average in ILLU 4B12 Illustration 6: Thesis, they will be required, regardless of their mark in ILLU 4B11 Illustration 5: Thesis, to repeat the fall component of this course, ILLU 4B11 Illustration 5: Thesis, as well as the winter component of this course ILLU 4B12 Illustration 6: Thesis.

Notes: Due to course content, it is required that students register with the SAME INSTRUCTOR for ILLU 4B11 and ILLU 4B12 and both courses must be taken in the same academic year.

ILLU 4B12

Illustration 6: Thesis

Department: Design

Subject: Illustration

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

As a continuation of Illustration 5: Thesis, students fully develop a significant body of work in accordance with their approved premise through research and experimentation. Group critiques and one-on-one discussions provide further input and support of a cohesive thesis project. By the end of this course, a "Reflective Statement" is produced, outlining the student's accomplishments and conclusions, and presented with visual documentation, either in the traditional or digital form of a process journal. The statement, research, process journal and complete body of work form the final thesis project.

Prerequisites: ILLU 4B11 Illustration 5: Thesis (minimum grade of 60%)

and 14.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirement (10.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: ILLU 4K02 Illustration 6: Thesis

Conditions: Students must achieve a minimum grade of 60% in this course as a condition for graduating.

Should a student be unsuccessful in attaining a 60% average in ILLU 4B12 Illustration 6: Thesis, they will be required, regardless of their mark in ILLU 4B11 Illustration 5: Thesis, to repeat the fall component of this course, ILLU 4B11 Illustration 5: Thesis, as well as the winter component of this course ILLU 4B12 Illustration 6: Thesis.

Notes: Due to course content, it is required that students register with the SAME INSTRUCTOR for ILLU 4B11 and ILLU 4B12 and both courses must be taken in the same academic year.

Media Studio 4

Department: Design
Subject: Illustration
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Utilizing the knowledge and skills attained in previous Media studios and digital workshops, students prepare a portfolio-based web site to promote themselves in the commercial marketplace. Graphic and navigation design are employed to create functional and compelling text and image relationships, with the objective of market positioning in mind. Portfolios are edited, copy is written and a site is designed to broadcast the uniqueness of each illustrator's work to prospective clients worldwide.

Prerequisites: ILLU 3B14 Media Studio 3 or ILLU 3A02 Media Studio 3

and 14.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirement (10.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: ILLU 4A03 Media Studio 4

Conditions: Illustration students who are taking digital media courses MUST subscribe to the Wireless Network Fee, which includes unlimited access to Lynda.com <http://lynda.com/> online tutorials for over 100 software titles. Professional Practice

Department: Design
Subject: Illustration
Course Type: Studio/Seminar
Credits: 0.50

This course provides students with a working knowledge of professional practices that enables them to bridge their creative talents with the commercial marketplace. Through weekly lectures and discussions, role playing and written exercises, students will attain a thorough understanding of the processes involved in commissioning artwork, writing contracts, copyright, taxation and self-promotion in Canada and abroad. Emphasis is placed on the many benefits of working in a professional, ethical and entrepreneurial manner within an ever increasing competitive field.

Prerequisites: 14.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirement (10.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: ILLU 4A01 Professional Practice

INDS 1B01

ID Studio One

Department: Design
Subject: Industrial design
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

This introductory course familiarizes students with the knowledge base and skills needed for the effective creation of human artifacts. With an emphasis on concept development in the design of everyday objects, students are encouraged to create new product typologies in the context of human needs. They will explore the complex issues involved in contemporary industrial design and the changing nature of the processes used for meeting particular human or social needs, as well as specific functional or market requirements. The course introduces students to semantic and symbolic aspects of industrial design through developmental studies that express the functional and cultural meanings of products.

Prerequisites: GDES 1B25: Form & Structure.

Conditions: This is a core Industrial Design course. Students must achieve a minimum grade of 60% in this course to advance to INDS 2B14: ID Studio 1: The Design of Everyday Things.

INDS 1B02

Material Explorations 1

Department: Design
Subject: Industrial design
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Form cannot be determined without determining Structure. Structure cannot be created without a consideration of Materials. Materials cannot be manipulated without an understanding of Tools and technology. This course will focus on all of the elements and understandings necessary to create meaningful form, structures that can withstand forces, the range of materials that are available and the tools and techniques that can be safely applied in the materialization of designs.

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

Advanced Drawing for 3D Design

Department: Design

Subject: Industrial design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Well, at least learn how to draw in a way that supports 3D idea exploration and communication... Beginning with basic three-dimensional prismatic forms of cube, pyramid and cone, students explore the abstract world of geometric solids as a foundation for three-dimensional creative work. Topics include: how to use perspective, axonometric and orthographic drawing (freehand/sketch mode) to generate and explain ideas; perceiving and rendering shade, tone and shadow to add to the effectiveness of a drawing; choosing views, exploded views, doing sectional drawings and arranging multiple views for effective presentation.

Prerequisites: INDS 2B16 Representation & Communication for ID

and 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

Anti-requisites: INDS 3A04 Advanced Drawing for 3D Design

INDS 3B30 Advanced Drawing for 3D Design

INDS 2B15

ID Studio 2: Design for Private Space

Department: Design

Subject: Industrial design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course will familiarize students with the impact and meaning of objects and systems related to cultural, social and personal issues. Students are encouraged to explore new means of expression in order to create products and systems that encourage consumers to express their individual needs and to achieve a high level of personalization of their environment. Emphasis is placed on the variety of human needs which inform the quality of experience and on ways in which design can address them. Projects will combine rigorous research into the human condition with emerging trends in personalization and customization of mass produced products. The course will be delivered using lectures, in-class discussions, demonstration and individual critiques. All studio assignments require research and presentations that include verbal, written and visual components. Teaching methods will stress research, design refinement and presentation methods.

Prerequisites: INDS 1B01 ID Studio One (minimum grade of 60%) or INDS 2K01 ID Studio 1: The Design of Everyday Things (minimum grade of 60%) or INDS 2B14 ID Studio 1: The Design of Everyday Things (minimum grade of 60%)

and 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

Anti-requisites: INDS 2K02 ID Studio 2: Design for Private Space

Conditions: Requires a minimum grade of 60% to advance to ID Studio 3.

Representation & Communication for ID

Department: Design

Subject: Industrial design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course introduces students to the multiplicity of media in which design communication takes place, as well as the techniques employed. The observation and communication of design concepts are critical in the dialogue between designer and producer or user. Students will develop basic sketching skills through observational and ideation drawing and sketching. They will further learn the fundamentals of technical drawing which communicates the critical details of developed designs for fabrication. Basic desktop model making, computer-aided design (CAD), drawing and quick sketching are explored. The course will be delivered using lectures, in-class discussions, demonstration and individual critiques. All studio assignments require research and presentations that include verbal, written and visual components.

Prerequisites: 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

Anti-requisites: INDS 2A02 Representation & Communication for ID

INDS 2B17

Material Explorations 2

Department: Design

Subject: Industrial design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course involves the study of the fundamental and alternative materials and processes used in built structures and in the mass production of products. Materials and processes are explored in order to gain insight into their technical capabilities and limitations. The functional and expressive outcomes of these materials and processes are also examined. Product function, cultural meaning, specifications, tooling, and assembly methods are examined as essential elements in preparing designs for manufacture. The course will be delivered using lectures, in-class discussions, demonstrations and individual critiques. All assignments based on studio-seminar courses require research and presentations that include verbal, written and visual components. Field trips to manufacturing sites are part of the process.

Prerequisites: INDS 1B02 Material Explorations 1 or INDS 2B13 Material Explorations 1

and 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

ID Studio 3: Emerging Technologies

Department: Design

Subject: Industrial design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This studio course familiarizes students with the challenges and opportunities presented by emerging technologies. Through research, analysis and scenario building, students develop new cohesive systems of products or services in response to articulated societal needs. Emphasis is placed on the expressive qualities inherent in these new materials and processes. Technology identification, evaluation and sourcing are also studied in the context of studio projects.

Prerequisites: INDS 2K02 ID Studio 2: Design for Private Space (minimum grade of 60%) or INDS 2B15 ID Studio 2: Design for Private Space (minimum grade of 60%)

and 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

Thesis Preparation & Research

Department: Design

Subject: Industrial design

Course Type: Studio/Seminar

Credits: 0.50

Students select a topic that identifies an inherent societal need. Precedent analysis, research of related issues and a progressive definition of the design problem help the student identify what the project will demonstrate and accomplish. Please note that, based on the project proposed, the student will proceed into a fourth-year thesis project.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Conditions: Requires a minimum grade of 60% to advance to INDS 4C01 Thesis I: Planning to Direction Definition.

Notes: Thesis and thesis preparation courses are under review.

Conceptual Tools and Techniques

Department: Design

Subject: Industrial design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This studio course reviews state-of-the-art approaches to generating, developing and communicating conceptual directions for products, services or experiences. Ideation tools such as concept fans, provocation techniques, mind mapping and storyboarding techniques are explored. Development of communication style, research modules, and critical and conceptual modules are also taught.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

ID Studio 4: Design for Flow Space

Department: Design

Subject: Industrial design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This studio course explores the domain of "flow spaces" in the emerging design practice of experience and service design. Students study the characteristics of flow space and its functional and aesthetic qualities and requirements. Projects combine the use of time, place and space in the creation of events or services with a defined outcome.

Prerequisites: INDS 3K01 ID Studio 3: Emerging Technologies (minimum grade of 60%) or INDS 3B27 ID Studio 3: Emerging Technologies (minimum grade of 60%)

Activist Design

Department: Design

Subject: Industrial design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Students will design from a critical need, identify a specific problem and use ethical, environmental and responsible practices to create solutions that will improve the lives of their client, 'the other 90%'. Students will work in teams, strengthening their collaboration skills and will be encouraged to expand them beyond their class, taking advantage of the diverse nature of the OCAD U student body and other outside human resources. These are complex problems that cannot be solved in isolation. The students will learn the importance of designing with cultural context in mind and be encouraged to solve problems that will empower their 'clients' with the means to improve their own lives with solutions created specifically for them.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Context and Departure Points

Department: Design

Subject: Industrial design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course will examine current and emerging trends within the field of Industrial Design. Students will deploy this knowledge of evolving research, imagination and creativity techniques through the integration of their own current and developing views into a larger context.

Within a series of lecture/seminars students will relate their own thesis development to future business directions and strategic design approaches.

This course will support students in developing a more comprehensive and contextualized understanding of their own design direction and utilize this information in the exploration of significant and applicable professional development.

Prerequisites: 14.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirement (10.0 credits)

Professional Preparation

Department: Design

Subject: Industrial design

Course Type: Studio/Seminar

Credits: 0.50

As the practice of Industrial Design has evolved, the necessary preparation for this practice has evolved as well. This course will prepare students for the current realities of the practice of their profession. The greatest emphasis will be on presentation: how to present, what to present, whom to present to and why presentations are important. As well, the collaborative nature of contemporary practice will be explored and students will be encouraged to work to their strengths, with the skills necessary to form the collaborative relationships necessary to ensure that all aspects of a project be fulfilled, regardless of specific personal skills.

Prerequisites: 14.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirement (10.0 credits)

Thesis I: Planning to Direction Definition

Department: Design

Subject: Industrial Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 1.00

In Thesis I & II students embark on a process to initiate, develop and conclude a fully realized and independently executed design project, utilizing and integrating all competencies and skills acquired over the previous years in the Industrial Design program.

In Thesis I and II students are directed to work within six general areas which are:

Home, Work, Play, Health, Mobility, Travel and Communication.

Students whose thesis subjects are in the same directed areas will be working in groups facilitating peer support and mutual feedback and development as part of the thesis course. It is intended that there will be appropriate industry or business input for each of the defined areas of thesis engagement.

In Thesis I students embark upon a complete design process through defined stages, continued and completed in Thesis II. In Stage 1 (Planning) students work on developing a proposal which defines their intended design process and methodologies for the semester.

This is followed by Stage 2 (Research) in which students investigate human need, possible business requirements of their respective or proposed clients, relevant technologies and spatial aspects of their proposal ending in a clearly articulated and comprehensive design brief.

The identified requirements listed in the student's design brief provide the foundation for stage 3 (Concept Direction Definition and Presentation) where different concept directions are explored, presented and evaluated.

Prerequisites: INDS 3B09 Thesis Preparation & Research (minimum grade of 60%)

INDS 3K02 ID Studio 4: Design for Flow Space (minimum grade of 60%)

and 14.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirement (10.0 credits)

Conditions: Requires a minimum grade of 60% to advance to INDS 4C02 Thesis II: Business Validation to Final Presentation.

Should a student be unsuccessful in attaining a 60% average in INDS 4C02, they will be required, regardless of their mark in INDS 4C01 to repeat the fall component of Thesis, INDS 4C01, as well as the winter component of Thesis, INDS 4C02.

Notes: Due to course content, it is required that students register with the SAME INSTRUCTORS for INDS 4C01 and INDS 4C02 and both courses must be taken in the same academic year.

Thesis and thesis preparation courses are under review.

Thesis II: Business Validation to Final Presentation

Department: Design

Subject: Industrial Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 1.00

Continuing from Thesis I, students begin Thesis II by exposing their design development to a business validation process (stage 1). Real world feedback gained from the business validation process will inform stage 2 (concept development) where students' ideas are matured and developed and then finalized in Stage 3, (final experience testing, interaction specifications, renderings, models and product/service definitions). At the end of the semester, concepts will be finalized and prepared for presentation for the end of term exposition.

Prerequisites: INDS 4C01 Thesis I: Planning to Direction Definition (minimum grade of 60%)

and 14.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirement (10.0 credits)

Conditions: Students must achieve a minimum grade of 60% in this course as a condition for graduating.

Should a student be unsuccessful in attaining a 60% average in INDS 4C02, they will be required, regardless of their mark in INDS 4C01 to repeat the fall component of Thesis, INDS 4C01, as well as the winter component of Thesis, INDS 4C02.

4th Year Product Design Studio 1

Department: Design

Subject: Industrial design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 1.00

This course builds on skills and knowledge acquired in ID studio 4, focusing on instructor/faculty directed product/service design studio projects within 6 identified thematic areas of human activity-Home, Work, Play, Health, Mobility and Communication. The course will offer an applied and directed approach to product design studio. The course will be a combination of lectures, critiques and design projects which will embody an integrative approach to engagement with design process and activity towards commercial application. Studio projects and assignments will engage students from analysis of brief, applied research, ideation and concept development, design evaluation, design development up to and including design implementation.

Prerequisites: INDS 3K02 ID Studio 4: Design for Flow Space (minimum grade of 60%) or INDS 3B28 ID Studio 4: Design for Flow Space (minimum grade of 60%)

and 14.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirement (10.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: INDS 4C01 Thesis 1: Planning to Direction Definition

Conditions: Requires a minimum grade of 60% to advance to INDS 4C04 4th Year Product Design Studio 2.

Should a student be unsuccessful in attaining a 60% average in INDS 4C04, they will be required, regardless of their mark in INDS 4C03 to repeat the fall component of this course, INDS 4C03, as well as the winter component, INDS 4C04.

Department: Design

Subject: Industrial design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 1.00

This course builds on skills and knowledge acquired in 4th Year Product Design 1, focusing on instructor/faculty directed studio projects within 6 identified thematic areas of human activity-Home, Work, Play, Health, Mobility and Communication. The course will offer an applied and directed approach to product design studio. The course will be a combination of lectures, critiques and design projects which will embody an integrative approach to engagement with design process and activity and commercial application. Studio projects and assignments will engage students from analysis of brief, applied research, ideation and concept development, design evaluation, design development up to and including design implementation. This final design studio course will have greater focus on economic and market considerations and factors inherent in the implementation of design concepts into manufacture, marketing and distribution. There will be additional focus in this course on design considerations around client driven context and process.

Prerequisites: INDS 4C03 4th Year Product Design Studio 1 (minimum grade of 60%)

and 14.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirement (10.0 credits)

Conditions: Students must achieve a minimum grade of 60% in this course as a condition for graduating.

Film Introduction

Department: Art

Subject: Integrated Media

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

From a collective shoot using basic film cameras, students initiate individual media projects including short films or videos, screen/space installations and hybrid media works. Students are introduced to creative and technical dimensions of filmmaking processes including : basic camera, light meters, lighting setups and concept development for script and screen. Lectures, screenings and discussion provide an introduction to film history, theory and practice.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Co-requisites: Recommended Co-requisite:

Body as Material: Performance by Artists

Department: Art

Subject: Integrated Media

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This studio course explores performance art histories, concepts and practices by introducing students to an extensive range of live art activities. Through projects and assignments, students develop an understanding of the significance of the artist's body as a material for, and site of, art-making. Issues around areas such as writing and narrative, integrating media and the relationship between artist and audience and will be considered.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Notes: This course is the prerequisite for INTM 3B28 Performance Studio in the winter term.
New title: Formerly Performance by Artists.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

Mechanics for Artists

Department: Art

Subject: Integrated Media

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

The mechanical skills and knowledge required by artists to build kinetic installation and sculpture are developed in this course. Topics for discussion include three-dimensional prototyping techniques and the principles inherent in such basic mechanical components as bearings, levers, cams, gears, pulleys, springs and pendulums. Particular attention is given to the use of recycled components.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken INTM 3B08 Mechanics for Artists may not take may not take this course for credit

Notes: Priority in registration is given to Integrated Media & Sculpture/Installation Majors.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

INTM 2B06Sonic Arts*

Department: Art
Subject: Integrated Media
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

This course introduces sound and audio as artistic media. Students learn to record sounds and transform them using visual editing computer software. Each student works at shaping and building this material into short sound studies. Contemporary and historical examples of artists' audio projects and methods of electronic composition are presented and discussed. Students are encouraged to develop their sound studies for film or video soundtracks, in performance or as audio installations.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Conditions: Basic computer knowledge required.

Notes: Priority in registration is given to Integrated Media Majors. 200-level sound equipment access.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

INTM 2B07*Writing for Time-based Arts*

Department: Art
Subject: Integrated Media
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Any successful media production relies on a good script. This course is designed to help students express themselves successfully within a script format. Students explore linear and non-linear documentary, dramatic and experimental forms of script writing. An emphasis is placed upon creativity, development and ideas, writing skills and communication with an audience. Students develop first draft story ideas for short film, video, performance or new media.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Conditions: Basic computer knowledge required

Notes: Priority in registration is given to Integrated Media Majors.

Animation: Origins & Techniques

Department: Art

Subject: Integrated Media

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course will combine a historical and contemporary survey of animation from the perspective of animation as an art, a technological practice, and an object of theoretical investigation. From zoetropes and magic lanterns to digital animation and 3D rendering, students will investigate the history of animation through a sequence of studio projects, short written assignments and seminars.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

APPLICABLE TO SECTIONS OFFERED AS FIRST-YEAR ELECTIVES ONLY: Students must have completed

a minimum of 1.0 credit of First-year studio curriculum.

Compositing & Digital Animation

Department: Art

Subject: Integrated Media

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

The unique aesthetics of image depth through vertical compositing is explored. Theories of vertical editing will be examined through the viewing of artists' works in video and multimedia as well as its use in popular culture. Media projects are the venues through which students structure concepts and narratives into short, multilayered finished pieces that can be output to video projects and multimedia work. The compositing software, Adobe After Effects, is used in conjunction with varied sources: video, Photoshop, Illustrator and CD audio.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Arts & Sciences (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken INTM 3B41 Compositing & Digital Animation may not take may not take this course for credit Conditions: Basic Photoshop knowledge required.

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

Film: Frame by Frame

Department: Art

Subject: Integrated Media

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Students are introduced and encouraged to experiment with film, frame by frame. Manual manipulation, rotoscoping, animation and optical printing are explored. Film, video, sound and digital interface are discussed. An overview of the history of single framework, theory and production planning are provided through screenings, demonstrations, discussions and hands-on instruction.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Arts & Sciences (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken INTM 3B27 Film Frame By Frame may not take may not take this course for credit

Online Art & Website Creation

Department: Art

Subject: Integrated Media

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course examines the web as an artistic medium through a review of artists' on-line projects and the creation of websites by students. Artistic approaches will include HTML/CSS authoring and the use of Web 2.0 structures. Practical techniques will be presented in image preparation, planning and interactive design. The social implications of the web's underlying structures will be considered. Throughout the term students will produce and present several web works that demonstrate the different topics and practices being explored.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Conditions: Basic computer knowledge required.

Notes: Priority in registration is given to Integrated Media Majors.

Contemporary Issues: Art Today (INTM)

Department: Art

Subject: Integrated Media

Course Type: Studio/Seminar

Credits: 0.50

This introductory studio-seminar course exposes students to some of the theories, visual and material strategies, and conceptual frameworks that inform contemporary art practice. Each weekly seminar explores issues and problems through the following forums: readings and discussions, analyses of texts and artworks, lectures, gallery visits, and student presentations of projects. Seminar topics include: modernity and post-modernism; the mediation of the world through technology; issues of representation, difference and identity; the ideological and political dimensions of art; and the impact of globalization on art practices today.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Notes: CIAT is required for all Faculty of Art students. The various sections of CIAT address the program through which it is offered; however, students may enroll in any section in any program. This course is required at the 200 level of study. Students may receive credit for only one of these courses: CRCP 2B01, DRPT 2B13, INTM 2B22, PHOT 2B12, PRNT 2B25 and SCIN 2B09 BUT BUT Priority in registration is given to Integrated Media Majors.

INTM 2B24

Introduction to Electronics: Kinetic Objects

Department: Art

Subject: Integrated Media

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Kinetic Objects is designed for art and design students with little or no previous experience with electronics. Starting with fundamental concepts of voltage, current and resistance, students engage in a series of hands-on labs. Each lab builds upon the information covered in the previous lab. Exercises and assignments encourage students to design and build simple custom control circuits with useful applications for a wide range of art projects. Students will also be introduced to building electronic projects with microcontrollers.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Notes: Priority in registration is given to Integrated Media and Sculpture/Installation Majors. New title: formerly Electronics for Artists.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

INTM 2B25

Electronics Studio: Kinetic Interactions NOT OFFERED 2012/2013

Department: Art
Subject: Integrated Media
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Students apply the principles of logic gained in Introduction to Electronics: Kinetic Objects (INTM 2B24) to "real-life" situations. Students will focus on building works that are interactive. A major component of the course will examine the interface between microcontrollers and a variety of sensors (temperature, proximity, motion). Theories of interactivity will be explored in order to build the student's understanding of this complex field as it relates to user interfaces, performance, installation and environments.

Prerequisites: INTM 2B24, Introduction to Electronics: Kinetic Objects

Notes: Priority in registration is given to Integrated Media and Sculpture/Installation Majors. New name: Formerly Electronics Studio.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

INTM 2B29

Video for Artists I

Department: Art
Subject: Integrated Media
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Working within the context of time-based art, this course approaches video as a unique tool for artistic expression. While acquiring technical, conceptual and critical skills through a range of projects, students investigate the history of the medium, its practitioners and its various manifestations as a contemporary art form. Field trips, readings, screenings and in-class critiques augment hands-on instruction in production and postproduction techniques.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

APPLICABLE TO SECTIONS OFFERED AS FIRST-YEAR ELECTIVES ONLY: Students must have completed

a minimum of 1.0 credit of First-year studio curriculum.

Co-requisites: Recommended Corequisite(s): INTM 2B06 Sonic Arts

Notes: Students enrolled in INTM 2B29 Video for Artists 1 and INTM 2B34 Hybrid Media Lab must register for the corresponding labs that are linked to those courses. Students may not enrol in INTM 2B30 Video for Artists II until they have successfully completed INTM 2B29 Video for Artists I. Students registered into INTM 2B29 will have 200-level video equipment access. Material fees apply. Priority in registration is given to Integrated Media Majors.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

INTM 2B30

Video for Artists II

Department: Art

Subject: Integrated Media

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Building on the technical, conceptual and critical skills introduced in the first semester, Video for Artists II is a continuation from the first semester course. The course continues with readings, screenings and discussions on the history and range of practices within video but also takes a more focused, in-depth approach through a variety of projects.

Prerequisites: INTM 2B29 Video for Artists I.

Notes: Students may not enrol in INTM 3B02 Advanced Video for Artists until they have successfully completed INTM 2B30 Video for Artists II. Students registered into INTM 2B30 will have 200-level video equipment access. Priority in registration is given to Integrated Media Majors.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

Introduction to Digital Media NOT OFFERED 2012/2013

Department: Art

Subject: Integrated Media

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

(NOT OFFERED 2011/2012)

This course provides an overview of interactive multimedia, web, animation, electronics and robotics as applied in installation and digital art works. Students produce a series of three short projects selected from the above categories of production. Through viewing various websites and art installations, and through screenings of digital time-based work, students are exposed to a variety of artists' works in emergent media.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Conditions: Basic computer knowledge required.

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

INTM 2B33

Computer Modelling & Animation

Department: Art

Subject: Integrated Media

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course introduces computer modeling and animation as tools for artistic expression. Areas of study include modeling, texture mapping, rendering, lighting design and camera placement. Students learn to integrate sequences with film, video, audio, performance and sculpture/installation. The history of 3-D graphics, computer animation and contemporary examples are presented and discussed. Projects will be completed using 3-D Studio Max software.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Conditions: Computer knowledge required.

Notes: Priority in registration is given to Integrated Media Majors.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

INTM 2B34

Hybrid Media Lab

Department: Art

Subject: Integrated Media

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Hybrid Media Lab has a multi-disciplinary focus; students learn to combine diverse media in their art production while being introduced to experimental working methods. The course will examine how artists integrate various media and installation works, audio, film and video hybrids and digital interfaces. Students learn to work collaboratively by carrying interdisciplinary projects through various stages of production. Converging sites of practice will be explored, discussed and analyzed.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Notes: This course is required for all 200-level Integrated Media Majors. Priority in registration is given to Integrated Media Majors. Students enrolled in INTM 2B29 Video for Artists I and INTM 2B34 Hybrid Media Lab must register for the corresponding labs that are linked to those courses.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

Advanced Video for Artists

Department: Art
Subject: Integrated Media
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Working from a context of contemporary artists' film and video, this course acquaints students with advanced production and post-production techniques. Technical skills acquired in this course include use of High Definition (HD), digital video cameras and basic non-linear editing techniques (audio and video). Working in small groups, students develop and produce several short documentaries, experimental and narrative projects over the duration of this course. Advanced production techniques covered in this course include lighting for video, location shooting and audio recording, concept and script development. A final project can take the form of a short single-channel work or a video installation.

Prerequisites: INTM 2B30 Video for Artists II and 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Co-requisites: Recommended Co-requisite: INTM 3B22 Audio: Post Production

Notes: Priority in registration is given to Integrated Media Majors. Students registered into INTM 3B02 will have 300-level video equipment access. Material fees apply.

Publications: Editorial

Department: Art
Subject: Integrated Media
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Artists work in all aspects of publication: as writers, editors, designers, collaborators and key conceptual participants. In Publications: Editorial, students will learn to create publications in print, online and mobile forms. Through individual and collaborative assignments, students will be introduced to editorial development processes and design elements including typography and layout for print and dynamic content. Hands-on exposure through assignments will involve writing and editing text, collaboration methods, and design exercises, carrying small projects through to completed multiples. In seminars and case studies, students will present and assess an array of publication projects.

Prerequisites: 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Conditions: Basic computer knowledge required.

Media & Social Change 2012/2013

Department: Art

Subject: Integrated Media

Course Type: Studio/Seminar

Credits: 0.50

Issues in political history are explored through the work of independent filmmakers and video producers, web-based activist and art projects and installation works. A rich range of work will be discussed, including the emerging practices of contemporary Aboriginal film and video makers, the Third Cinema movement emerging out of the Post-Colonial context, tactical media and collective initiatives, documentary strategies and experimental and hybrid projects. Issues addressed include social justice issues, global and local economies, environmental issues and colonial legacies, and their intersections with discourses of racialized and gendered bodies. Students propose their own projects and produce work in a variety of media appropriate to their concepts.

Prerequisites: 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Media Networks Studio NOT OFFERED 2012/2013

*Department: Art
Subject: Integrated Media
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50*

Our networked media landscape is evolving quickly. New services emerge on the Internet and on cell phone networks and other wireless networks all the time. These have the potential to enable new modes of social interaction and creative expression. This course will reflect recent developments in online and networked art strategies. Through a review of current artists' practices students will explore the interconnections between smart phone apps, environmental control and interactive experience design. Students will develop and present several projects that incorporate emerging web, wireless or mobile technologies.

Prerequisites: One of the following courses - INTM 2B21 Online Art & Website Design, INTM 2B34 Hybrid Media Lab, INTM 2B31 Introduction to Digital Media, DIGF 2B03 Physical Computing and 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Mechanics Studio: Kinetic Objects & Transformations NOT OFFERED 2012/2013

Department: Art
Subject: Integrated Media
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

In the creation of highly articulated kinetic works, students will gain new skills in addition to the principles gained in Mechanics for Artists (INTM 3B08). Topics of investigation include refined machining and fabrication techniques as they relate to time-based installation practices, real-world three-dimensional artworks and contemporary artists' projects. Students will produce their own projects under the guidance of the instructor.

Prerequisites: INTM 2B05 Mechanics for Artists and 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits).

Notes: Priority in registration is given to Integrated Media and Sculpture/Installation Majors. New code: Formerly Mechanics Studio.

Publications: Dissemination

Department: Art
Subject: Integrated Media
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Publishers move strategically between print, mobile and online networks, adapting content for distribution in different formats. Publications: Dissemination provides students with an in-depth opportunity to work individually and collaboratively on publication projects. The course will explore writing, editing and editorial decision-making structures, production/distribution issues and contributor-reader interaction. Hands-on collaborative projects will include print and electronic magazines, catalogues, journals, or books. Students will make individual contributions as well as collaborating on editorial administration and design. Through seminars, visiting artist presentations and case studies, students will explore and assess an array of creative independent publications.

Prerequisites: INTM 3B09 Publications: Editorial and 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Conditions: Basic computer knowledge required. Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

Audio: Post Production

Department: Art

Subject: Integrated Media

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Audio: Post Production introduces students to the digital audio studio and concentrates on the practical skills required to create technically and conceptually proficient work. All aspects of recording are covered, from microphone selection to final mix and mastering. Emphasis is placed on post-production skills, including synchronization to picture, music spotting and sound editing. Mixing, digital multi-tracking and outboard effects are introduced, alongside experimental audio, film and video work, to illustrate the conventional and unconventional ways that sound can be integrated into student projects.

Prerequisites: INTM 2B06 Sonic Arts and 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: Priority in registration is given to Integrated Media Majors. 300-level audio equipment access.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

Performance Studio: Presence and Telepresence NOT OFFERED 2012/2013

Department: Art

Subject: Integrated Media

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Grounded in theories of presence and performance this course examines the conceptual, aesthetic and socio-political concerns of artists who work with televisual presence, live art, media installation and mixed reality situations. Throughout the term students produce and present performance works exploring the use of the body and its virtual presence in a variety of time-based media. Through projects and assignments, students explore new territories of the body enabled by technology.

Prerequisites: INTM 2B03 Body as Material: Performance by Artists and 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: This is a 200/300-level course. New code: Formerly Performance Studio.

Media Research Projects

Department: Art

Subject: Integrated Media

Course Type: Studio/Seminar

Credits: 0.50

Media Research Projects introduces students to various research methodologies ranging from archival research and interviews to process-based practices. Visiting lecturers and readings expose students to a range of artist-based approaches in developing media artworks. Assignments encourage students to apply analysis to their research and productions. Students document and present their research in relation to completed studio projects.

Prerequisites: INTM 2B34 Hybrid Media Lab, one of the following Contemporary Issues: Art Today - CRCP 2B01, DRPT 2B13, INTM 2B22, PHOT 2B12, PRNT 2B25, SCIN 2B09, OR GDES 2B03 Think Tank I: Awareness AND Studies.2.0 credits Liberal Studies and 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits).

Advanced Electronics NOT OFFERED 2012/2013

Department: Art

Subject: Integrated Media

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

(NOT OFFERED 2011/2012)

Advanced Electronics provides students with focused instruction in the operation and programming of the microcontrollers. The course will consist of a series of hands-on labs that cover topics such as analog to digital conversion, motor control and sensors. Students will have the opportunity to execute an individual, self-directed final project. Knowledge gained in the class can be applied to the areas of robotics, interactive installation and three-dimensional kinetic artwork.

Prerequisites: INTM 2B25 Electronics Studio: Kinetic Interactions and 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits).

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

Concept and Script Development

Department: Art

Subject: Integrated Media

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Through class discussion and practical exercises, this course analyzes the process of scriptwriting from concept development through to production-ready script. Students are required to develop at least one original story idea. Individual and group feedback focuses on the writer's intentions for the script and how story and style of writing can be improved. Students edit and rewrite their scripts to final draft, ready for production as a film, video or live performance.

Prerequisites: INTM 2B07 Writing for Time-based Arts and 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Conditions: Basic computer knowledge required.

Notes: New code: formerly INTM 4B07

INTM 3B43

Post-Production Media

Department: Art

Subject: Integrated Media

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course will promote an examination of post-production strategies and creative structures for media productions. Rough- and fine-cut editing techniques and a thorough understanding of hardware and software usage in post-production are essential components. Emphasis on developing digital non-linear editing skills for film, video and digital media will coincide with the authoring and production of student art projects on DVDs. Examples of current and culturally significant works will be provided.

Prerequisites: 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken INTM 4B17 Post-Production Media may not take may not take this course for credit

Notes: Non-linear (computer) knowledge required.

3D: Screen to Space NOT OFFERED 2012/2013

*Department: Art
Subject: Integrated Media
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50*

Developing work for exhibition outside of the cinema is becoming increasingly prevalent amongst media artists. As the possibilities for projection multiply, contemporary artists are in a position to consider and develop modes of presentation previously unavailable. Screen to Space investigates alternative modes of presentation by considering the history of the projected image and the practices of artists working within spatial environments. With an emphasis on the theoretical and conceptual concerns facing media artists working outside of the black box, we will first consider the space of the cinematic screen, and then look toward artists working to expand the screen both outward into physical space and inward into virtual space. Stemming from a DIY attitude, the studio element of the course will focus on developing new and inventive modes of presentation through the experimentation of various screening materials, methods of projection and exhibition spaces. Topics to be discussed will include: projected light, multiple screens, augmented realities, mobile devices, 3D imagery, fractured narrative, expanded cinema, and site specific work.

Prerequisites: 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

INTM 3B45

Bending Reclaimed Technology

*Department: Art
Subject: Integrated Media
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50*

This third year studio course will focus on sustainable approaches to the creation of technological artworks. The proliferation of cheap electronic gadgets has resulted in a surplus of technological materials that have been discarded in order to make room for newer devices. Artists and designers can make use of this material in the creation of their works. This practice of reclaiming technology also has deep social implications for sustainability and can be seen as an interventionist practice that critically engages with our accepted modes of production within a global marketplace. Students will be encouraged to reclaim discarded materials and to engage with technology from a social and critical perspective. DIY practices will be examined from sources as diverse as "Make Magazine" to the artist collective "Grafitti Research Labs".

Prerequisites: INTM 2B24 Introduction to Electronics: Kinetic Objects and 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

Directing Independent Film/Video

Department: Art

Subject: Integrated Media

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Recommended for students working in film, video or theatrical performance, this course examines the role of the director/writer in independent productions. Students practice and develop their writing/directing skills in an open, creative environment. Aspects covered include scene development, writing for performance, acting terminology, scene work for actors, blocking action, casting, auditions, directing the performance and conducting rehearsals. This course is designed to give students an overview of production development and the management of independent projects in film, video or performance.

Prerequisites: or Corequisite: 300 level Film or Video Studio production course: INTM 2B02, INTM 3B02, INTM 3B48 and 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken INTM 4B04 Directing Independent Film/Video may not take may not take this course for credit

3D Visualization Studio NOT OFFERED 2012/2013

Department: Art

Subject: Integrated Media

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

3D visualization is a fast-growing practice. As a creative tool it can be used to make the invisible visible and to understand complex information and vast amounts of data. Visualization offers exciting opportunities for artists and designers including insights and collaborations with medicine, science and community networks. In this course, students will explore practices of 3D visualization. They will learn to visualize ideas through digital media including 3D animation and modeling software. Studio-based projects will include artworks, visualizations and animated sequences. Through seminars, case studies, discussion and critique, projects will be honed from concept to completion through a series of development stages.

Prerequisites: 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Conditions: Experience in digital media required.

INTM 3B48

Film Exploration

Department: Art

Subject: Integrated Media

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Exploration and manipulation of cinema's materials and processes including image capture with a range of cameras and devices, in-camera effects, hand-processing, experimentation with screening surfaces and creative options at each level of production and post-production. Students will develop concepts and approaches through individual cinematic projects, and participation in discussion of in-class screenings.

Prerequisites: One of the following film related courses - GART 1B33 (2D Animation) , INTM 2B02, or INTM 3B27, INTM 2B15 and 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: Students registered in INTM 3B35 in the 2009 Fall semester actually completed the new course INTM 3B48. Their records will be corrected accordingly.

Integrated Media Studio: Practice & Critique

Department: Art

Subject: Integrated Media

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Questions of intent, form and theoretical formations are always part of the creative process, and even more so in the intersections of media technologies and their contemporary contexts. Students examine case studies relevant to the production of artworks using a number of mediums as they develop a personal language. This intermediate level studio course encourages a wide range of practices such as performance, kinetic sculpture, audio, installation, web works, film and video, while building upon theories and practices introduced in previous classes. Students examine, critique and discuss different approaches to problem-solving in the creation of artworks that employ intersecting media.

Prerequisites: One of the following – Contemporary Issues: Art Today courses, CRCP 2B01, DRPT 2B13, INTM 2B22 PHOT 2B12, PRNT 2B25 or SCIN 2B09, INTM 2B34 Hybrid Media, INTM 3B39 Media Research Lab and 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: This course is required for Integrated Media Majors and is a prerequisite to INTM 4C01 Thesis: Research. Priority in registration is given to Integrated Media Majors.

INTM 3B50

Critical Perspectives in Animation

Department: Art

Subject: Integrated Media

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This third year production course will bring critical perspectives to advanced animation projects. Through workshops, seminars and screenings, the course will trace the evolution of traditional frame-by-frame animation techniques through rotoscoping and digital motion graphics for film/video, interactive systems and 3D environments. Through individual studio projects, students will develop, produce and reflect upon animation in a context of critical discussion and relevant examples of contemporary new media. This is not an introductory technical animation course. Students will have previous animation experience, and will expand upon fundamentals introduced in previous years of study.

Prerequisites: OR Corequisite - one of the following courses – INTM 2B33 Computer Modelling & Animation, INTM 3B27 Film: Frame by Frame, INTM 2B15 Film: Frame by Frame, INTM 3B41 Compositing & Digital Animation, INTM 2B14 Compositing & Digital Animation or INTM 3B44 3D: Screen to Space and 13.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirements (10.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken INTM 4B23 Critical Perspectives in Animation may not take may not take this course for credit

Notes: Take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

INTM 4B10

Media Installations

Department: Art

Subject: Integrated Media

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Focusing on the use of electronic media in the creation of installation works, this course provides the student with a wide range of conceptual and technological possibilities. Students are provided with a grounding in the rich history of video and technologically assisted installation, from early kinetic works, through real-time relay/delay installation to contemporary "interactive" computer assisted installation works. Assignments include site-specific, outdoor and gallery-based works. Emphasis is on using technologies, machines and media which are readily available. The relationship between installation and the viewer's possible point(s) of view is an integral part of critiques and discussion.

Prerequisites: 13.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirements (10.0 credits)

Conditions: Equipment access dependent on concurrent registration

Notes: New Name: formerly Special Focus: Media Installation.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

Documentation Practices NOT OFFERED 2012/2013

Department: Art

Subject: Integrated Media

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Non-fiction practices span numerous possibilities in terms of genres and formal structures: documentary film and video, archival reproduction, installation (whether interactive or projection-based), web-based works, activist initiatives, or other experimental forms. Documentation engages a number of formal, practical and theoretical concerns: issues of history, autobiography, subjectivity and objectivity, ethical responsibilities to subjects and audiences and political challenges. This studio course requires students to propose their own projects and produce a short work in appropriate media such as single-channel video, installation, web or audio.

Prerequisites: 13.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirements (10.0 credits)

Notes: Priority in registration is given to Integrated Media Majors.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

INTM 4B22

Narrative Practices

Department: Art

Subject: Integrated Media

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course focuses on the production of media works which use narrative structures, both contemporary and traditional. Production of an independent project is complemented and directed through class seminars critiquing production aspects such as concept and script development, editing and technique in dramatic structure. Students are assigned readings, participate in class discussions and view artists' works including contemporary Aboriginal production in this field. Students meet as a group and individually with the instructor and undertake research applicable to their own projects.

Prerequisites: One of the following - Contemporary Issues: Art Today courses, CRCP 2B01, DRPT 2B13, INTM 2B22, PHOT 2B12, PRNT 2B25 or SCIN 2B09 and 13.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirements (10.0 credits).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken INTM 3B20 Narrative and Documentation in Film and Video may not take may not take this course for credit

Notes: Priority in registration is given to Integrated Media Majors.

INTM 4B25

Managing Production

Department: Art

Subject: Integrated Media

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course focuses on the role of the artist as independent producer and provides an overview of organizational strategies for working in larger scale projects in film, video, installation, performance, photography and hybrid media. Topics for in-depth consideration include types of funding available to artists and projects they are intended to support; an analysis of the specific roles of the creative team; how to develop a project, synopsis and budget; how to pitch; delegating work and managing crews and schedules, casting actors and developing a project through rehearsals. Students will engage in case studies of actual projects in order to trace the steps involved in bringing a complex work to completion in a variety of formats (exhibition, installation, broadcast, performance, and others).

Prerequisites: All required 200- and 300-level INTM Studio and STU/SEM courses and 3.0 credits of Liberal Studies and 13.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirements (10.0 credits).

Notes: Required for Directed Studio Integrated Media Majors. Priority in registration is given to Integrated Media Majors.

Recommended Prerequisite(s) / Corequisite(s): INTM 4B04, Directing Independent Film/Video, and 300-level production studio in film, video, performance, photography or sculpture/installation.

Film: Advanced Production

Department: Art

Subject: Integrated Media

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Beginning with a film component, students will concentrate on preproduction planning, production management and post production options for cinematic media projects. Emphasis is on production stages for film including camera types, lenses, film stocks, video assist packages, lighting packages and setups, location sound and production skills. Students are encouraged to work on their own projects but to do so in crews and/or collaboratively. Projects are developed in a context of relevant screenings, production studio visits and case studies.

Prerequisites: One of the following film related courses - INTM 2B02, INTM 3B35, INTM 3B27 or INTM 3B48.

Notes: Priority in registration is given to Integrated Media Majors. 300-level film equipment access. Material fees apply. New code: formerly INTM 4B18. New title: formerly Advanced Film for Artists III. New code: formerly INTM 3B03

INTM Studio Thesis: Research

Department: Art

Subject: Integrated Media

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 1.00

In the Fourth Year of study in Integrated Media, students may choose to complete and exhibit a significant project or body of related works at an advanced level. The thesis is a culmination of the technical, conceptual and analytical skills that students will have acquired in their years of study at the College and the evidence of their own independent inquiry. Thesis: Research in the first term provides an opportunity for students to propose and formulate the research and steps necessary to realizing their work. Class presentations concentrate on students' research of critical issues and on critique as a means of creating a context and articulating the process of developing the work.

Prerequisites: All required 200- and 300-level INTM Studio and STU/SEM courses and 3.0 credits in Liberal Studies and 13.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirements (10.0 credits).

Notes: Required for Integrated Media Thesis Majors. Studio Thesis: Research and Studio Thesis: Presentations must be completed in the same academic year. Equipment access is based on previous levels of learning and/or concurrent enrollment.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

INTM Studio Thesis: Presentation

Department: Art

Subject: Integrated Media

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 1.00

Building on the research component of the first-term course, Thesis: Presentation shifts its emphasis to production and, ultimately, to the final presentation of a major work or body of work in the second term. This course provides a forum for students to receive extensive critique and response from faculty and peers. Thesis: Presentation provides an opportunity for students to link studio work and research skills, and realize and articulate their accomplishments. Students formulate and refine a written thesis document, and develop and present their work. As well, sessions and discussions focus on professional practice.

Prerequisites: INTM 4C01 Studio Thesis: Research and 13.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirements (10.0 credits).

Notes: Required for Integrated Media Thesis Majors. Equipment access based on previous levels of learning and/or concurrent enrollment.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

Bright Lights/Big City NOT OFFERED
2012/2013

Department: Art
Subject: Interdisciplinary
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Bright Lights/Big City is a cross-disciplinary course for artists and designers that looks at the nature of contemporary urban space from multiple perspectives. The modern city as "concrete" space and as image has been imagined, constructed and reflected upon by artists and designers working in a diverse range of fields including urban planning, architecture, landscaping and public art. The results of their work, which influence the social, spatial, historical and political dimensions of the city are the territory we explore in this course. Of special interest, is the exploration and encouragement of events and practices in which the art and design of the city achieves forms of synergy. A wide range of related media and disciplinary fields, including existing public art and urban design, will be investigated through lectures, case studies, field trips, guest lecturers and group and individual assignments in an attempt to engage the layered nature of private and public urban experience.

Prerequisites: Prerequisite(s) Art Students: One of the following - Contemporary Issues: Art Today courses, CRCP 2B01, DRPT 2B13, INTM 2B22, PHOT 2B12, PRNT 2B25 or SCIN 2B09

Prerequisite(s) Design Students: GDES 2B03 Think Tank/Creative Intersections and 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Conditions: Recommended: VISC 4B05 Cosmopolis: New Narrative in Contemporary Media and/or ENGL 3B04 Science and Technology in Literature

Notes: INTERDISCIPLINARY OFFERING This course is open to Art and Design students and is presented from a cross-disciplinary perspective.

Special Topics: Gibraltar Point: A Living Laboratory OFFERED SUMMER ONLY

Department: Art
Subject: Interdisciplinary
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Using Toronto Island as a living laboratory, students work in collaboration to produce site-specific artworks or design solutions. During the first part of the course, students conduct research in support of their projects through readings and day trips to the island. The second part of the course focuses on production. During this eight day incubation period, students and faculty live and work on the island residing at Artscape's Gibraltar Point. Evening programming supplements the day's activities through the coordination of meals, screenings, lectures, readings and discussions. As the residency concludes, students participate in group critiques where material documentation of their work is presented. This interdisciplinary initiative embraces collaborative and community building methodologies within studio production.

Prerequisites: One of the following – Contemporary Issues: Art Today courses, CRCP 2B01, DRPT 2B13, INTM 2B22, PHOT 2B12, PRNT 2B25 or SCIN 2B09 OR GDES 2B03 Think Tank I: Awareness and 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits).

The Essay and the Argument: Mechanics

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

This course is designed specifically for students who wish to sharpen their writing skills through intensive practice and review of composition mechanics and English grammar. Students will focus on grammar fundamentals, paragraph construction and reading strategies. This workshop allows students to explore aspects of essay composition while developing confidence in their own writing skills through practical exercises.

Students who select LBST 1B11 Mechanics, will develop their basic writing skills such as sentence, paragraph and essay structure, punctuation, as well as critical thinking.

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken one of: ENGL 2B30, ENGL 1B01, ENGL 1B02, ENGL 1B03, LBST 1B12, LBST 1B13, or LBST 1A40 with one of LBST 1A41, 1A42 or 1A43 may not take this course for further credit.

Conditions: The minimum passing grade for the first year writing course is 60% (C-).

Things and Texts (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: Liberal Studies

Course Type: Academic Course

Credits: 0.50

Although the categories of “art” and “artifact” are familiar as categories of tangible, expressive culture, they need to be understood as product of distinct historical context. There is a case to be made for interrogating and perhaps challenging the traditional taxonomies in favor of a more inclusive model of assessment. Interested in the ways that observers and writers have used language in their efforts to make sense of the material world, this course will survey historical thinking and texts concerned with the classification of human made things in order to ask questions – philosophical and practical -- about how the material world has been observed and described, and why. The course will emphasize the close reading of primary (historical) texts and will emphasize writing as a critical exercise.

LBST 2C01

Liberal Studies Two (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 1.00

LS Two provides students with an introduction to scholarly inquiry in an interdisciplinary format, that addresses a variety of social, economic, cross-cultural and historical contexts. Using a thematic and multi-disciplinary approach, a faculty team of instructors explore significant texts and ideas in visual culture, the humanities, literature and the social sciences to invigorate students' imaginations and root them in the global project of knowledge building. Students will engage interdisciplinarity as a way of thinking by exploring different research methods with an emphasis on critical thinking, reading, writing and research skills.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of first-year liberal arts & sciences (including the Writing course with a minimum passing grade of 60%).

Notes: This course is equivalent to 0.5 credit in HUMN and 0.5 credit in ENGL at the 200 level for 2011/12.

Material Art & Design Studio: Fibre

Department: Design
Subject: Material Art & Design
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

This course introduces the students of Material Art & Design to the possibilities of fibres. The class addresses two major areas of concern within Fibre: interlacement, encompassing hand manipulated construction techniques, and surface design, which includes print and dye. Parallel with these technical studies will be work with concept development to evolve a visual vocabulary suitable for design and/or art based works. The course will be delivered using visual presentations, demonstrations, hands-on production, in-class discussions and one-on-one and group critiques.

Co-requisites: MAAD 1B03 Methods of Material Practice

Anti-requisites: MAAD 2B01 Intro to Fibre

Conditions: Requires a minimum grade of 60% to advance to further Material Art & Design studio courses.

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

Students entering Material Art & Design from the Faculty of Art or in the MAAD minor stream do not require the co-requisite MAAD 1B03 Methods of Material Practice.

First Year Faculty of Art students who declare Material Art & Design as their major in November of their first year will be given an override from the Design Office to access their section of this course.

Credits: 0.50

This course introduces the students of Material Art & Design to the possibilities of fibres. The class addresses two major areas of concern within Fibre: interlacement, encompassing hand manipulated construction techniques, and surface design, which includes print and dye. Parallel with these technical studies will be work with concept development to evolve a visual vocabulary suitable for design and/or art based works. The course will be delivered using visual presentations, demonstrations, hands-on production, in-class discussions and one-on-one and group critiques.

Prerequisites: 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

Conditions: Students must achieve a minimum grade of 60% in at least one of their core studio courses each semester to advance to further Material Art & Design studio courses.

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

MAAD 2B08Jewellery/Metalsmithing: Casting*

Department: DesignSubject: Material Art & DesignCourse Type: StudioCredits: 0.50

This course introduces the traditional casting processes of lost wax, delft clay and cuttlefish and investigates the technical, aesthetic and cultural aspects of body adornment. Students will be exposed to a variety of model making techniques including: carving, modeling, mouldmaking and rapid prototyping. Contemporary, historical examples from a variety of cultures will be presented to illustrate concepts embodied in the projects.

Prerequisites: 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

Conditions: Students must achieve a minimum grade of 60% in at least one of their core studio courses each semester to advance to further Material Art & Design studio courses.

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

MAAD 2B09*Silversmithing*

Department: DesignSubject: Material Art & DesignCourse Type: StudioCredits: 0.50

Through the use of hammers, steel and wooden forms, the plasticity and malleability of non-ferrous (copper, brass and silver) metals are explored. Forging, sinking and raising metal forms are the major techniques covered in this course. Students will be asked to explore their own personal design process through writing, drawing and model making and create vessels, flatware and domestic objects encompassed by silversmithing practices.

Prerequisites: MAAD1B02 Material Art & Design Studio: Jewellery

or MAAD 2B14 Intro to Jewellery/Metalsmithing: Fabrication

or GDES 3B34 Jewellery Design 1: An Introduction

and 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

Anti-requisites: MAAD 3B41 Silversmithing

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

MAAD 2B14

Intro to Jewellery/Metalsmithing: Fabrication

Department: Design

Subject: Material Art & Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course explores the aesthetic, technical and cultural aspects of body adornment. Fabrication skills such as silver soldering, piercing, forming, elementary stone setting and surface treatments are covered within a series of projects designed and produced by the students. Students are also encouraged to reassess their concept of jewellery. Writing, drawing and modelmaking assignments dealing with conceptual and experimental approaches are part of this course.

Prerequisites: 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

Anti-requisites: GDES 3B34 Jewellery Design 1: An Introduction

Conditions: Students must achieve a minimum grade of 60% in at least one of their core studio courses each semester to advance to further Material Art & Design studio courses.

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

MAAD 2B15

Intro to Ceramics

Department: Design

Subject: Material Art & Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This introductory ceramics course emphasizes hand-forming and wheel-throwing techniques for both pottery and sculpture. Slide presentations and ceramic study pieces introduce the student to historical and contemporary ceramic work.

Prerequisites: 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

This course is open to Art and Design students. (Art students - please contact the Design office for access.)

NOT OFFERED 2012/13 (fall/winter)

MAAD 2B24

Ceramics: Mouldmaking

Department: Design

Subject: Material Art & Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course is an introduction to the ceramic design process using model-making and mould-making techniques as methods for generating and reproducing ceramic forms. From clay and plaster models, moulds will be made which will explore pressing and casting techniques. Emphasis in this course is on the conceptual and technical development of moulded ceramic forms and on understanding the historical and contemporary uses of moulds. The course will be delivered using lectures, demonstrations, in-class discussions and one-on-one (individual) critiques. Projects are designed to stress research methods and to challenge the students' creativity and concept development. Core strategies include creative problem solving and effectual visual communication.

Prerequisites: 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

MAAD 2B26

Fibre: Explorations

Department: Design

Subject: Material Art & Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

In this course, students will explore alternative approaches for creating textiles, namely paper making and felt making as well as machine stitchery, fabric manipulation and assemblage. Projects are designed to implement these techniques and to challenge students' creativity and concept development. The course will be delivered using lectures, demonstrations, in-class discussions and one-on-one and group critiques.

Prerequisites: 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

MAAD 2B27

Fibre: Surface Design 1

Department: Design

Subject: Material Art & Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course will focus on production methods in textile design. Students will learn how to develop design concepts and silkscreen printing technique for limited and mass production. Through the use of both manual and computer applications, students will develop a series of designs suitable for woven, printed or constructed textiles. The course will be delivered using lectures, demonstrations, in-class discussions and one-on-one critiques. Projects are designed to stress research methods and challenge the student's creativity and concept development.

Prerequisites: MAAD 2B01 Introduction to Fibre and 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

Conditions: Students must achieve a minimum grade of 60% in at least one of their core studio courses each semester to advance to further Material Art & Design studio courses.

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

MAAD 2B28

Jewellery/Metalsmithing: Composition

Department: Design

Subject: Material Art & Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

The course will introduce the studio jeweller to a painterly palette through the introduction of colour, texture, lamination, alloying and surface enrichment. This very technical course is designed to explore conceptual, abstract and narrative expression in human adornment. Sampling and documentation of techniques and the production of displays of finished work will be key aspects. Drawing, modeling and writing skills are essential to each project and will be evaluated, as will the working methods and attitudes employed in the production of the final project.

Prerequisites: MAAD1B02 Material Art & Design Studio: Jewellery

or MAAD 2B14 Intro to Jewellery/Metalsmithing: Fabrication

or GDES 3B34 Jewellery Design 1: An Introduction

and 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

MAAD 2B29Jewellery/Metalsmithing: Fabrication 2*

Department: Design

Subject: Material Art & Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

The major focus of this course is based on developing a student's increasing understanding and knowledge of the skills required to create more complex fabricated works through a series of projects and samples. Students will create mechanical devices and fasteners as a part of the skill development required for these fabrications. Drawing, model-making, research and development of concepts will also be components of this course.

Prerequisites: MAAD1B02 Material Art & Design Studio: Jewellery

or MAAD 2B14 Intro to Jewellery/Metalsmithing: Fabrication

or GDES 3B34 Jewellery Design 1: An Introduction

and 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

Conditions: Students must achieve a minimum grade of 60% in at least one of their core studio courses each semester to advance to further Material Art & Design studio courses.

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

MAAD 2B30*Ceramics: Intro to Throwing*

Department: Design

Subject: Material Art & Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Throwing is the action of making forms on a rotating wheel using only the hands. This course trains students to use the wheel as a forming tool, explores a variety of techniques and familiarizes students with the vocabulary used in the development of functional and sculptural pieces. Students will experiment with colour and texture using decorating, glazing and firing techniques. They will discover a holistic view of clay making, where techniques both inform and produce the final product. Related topics such as context, concept, function, glazing and firing are also considered. This explorative engagement with the wheel aims to open up new creative and technical possibilities within the student's process of clay making. The course will be delivered using illustrated lectures, demonstrations, in-class discussions and one-on-one and group critiques.

Prerequisites: 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

NOT OFFERED 2012/13 (Fall/Winter)

MAAD 2B34

Fibre: Constructed Design 1

Department: Design

Subject: Material Art & Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Students will investigate weaving, knitting and other constructed textile forms. Studio practice will include the design and execution of samples and completed textiles. The course will be delivered using visual presentations, demonstrations, hands-on production, in-class discussions and one-on-one and group critiques. Presentations of artists/designers working with these approaches are included.

Prerequisites: MAAD 2B01 Intro to Fibre

and 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

Conditions: Students must achieve a minimum grade of 60% in at least one of their core studio courses each semester to advance to further Material Art & Design studio courses.

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

MAAD 2B35

Drawing as Process

Department: Design

Subject: Material Art & Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course builds on the skills learned and practiced in the drawing courses completed in the first year. Through experimentation with different media and a variety of techniques, students will explore methods of drawing including ideation, figure drawing and observational sketching. Coordination with other studio courses and assignments will help students tie the relevance of ideation and concept articulation to studio production. The course will be delivered using presentations, demonstrations, in-class work, assignments and critiques.

Prerequisites: 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

Anti-requisites: MAAD 2A01 Drawing as a Tool together with MAAD 2A02 Drawing, Rendering & Visualization Methods.

Any student who has taken only one of the above two courses must still take MAAD 2B35 Drawing as Process.

MAAD 2B36

Jewellery/Metalsmithing: CAD/CAM

Department: Design

Subject: Material Art & Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course will introduce students to the fundamentals of designing, prototyping and fabricating small-scale products and jewellery using three dimensional computer modelling and associated manufacturing technologies.

Students will become familiar with the Computer Aided Design operations required to generate simple three-dimensional computer models and output basic two dimensional representations.

These virtual objects will be then translated into prototypes and finished objects using Computer Aided Manufacturing processes (e.g. laser cutting, additive manufacturing and CNC machining) as well as conventional fabrication processes. Students will begin to understand some of the advantages and limitations of CAD/CAM technologies, and thus consider the implications these technologies have on the future of design practice.

Prerequisites: MAAD 2B29

Jewellery/Metalsmithing: Fabrication 2

and 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

Anti-requisites: GDES 3B20 Small Object

Design: Virtual to Reality 1

Conditions: Students must achieve a minimum grade of 60% in at least one of their core studio courses each semester to advance to further Material Art & Design studio courses.

Notes: Students taking this course are charged a CAD Fee for Rhinoceros 4.0, which can be picked up from the Laptop Helpdesk.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

MAAD 2B37

Fibre: Stitching

Department: Design
Subject: Material Art & Design
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

This course will introduce students to basic sewing construction techniques and a variety of hand and machine embroidery processes. Projects and exercises will include material research and experimentation, sampling, prototyping and production. An emphasis will be placed on the functional and expressive potential of stitching.

Prerequisites: MAAD 1B01 Material Art & Design Studio: Fibre
 or MAAD 2B01 Intro to Fibre

and 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

MAAD 2B38

Fibre: Dyeing

Department: Design
Subject: Material Art & Design
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

This course investigates colour theory and dye techniques as applied to fibre. Studies will include traditional and experimental processes for natural and synthetic dyeing on woven and nonwoven textiles. The emphasis is on acquiring a thorough knowledge of the relationship between fibre and dyestuff. Students will develop their own colour sense as well as mastery of the technical aspects of colour with both cellulose and protein fibre. The course will be delivered using lectures, demonstrations, in-class experiments and one-on-one and group critiques.

Prerequisites: MAAD 1B01 Material Art & Design Studio: Fibre
 or MAAD 2B01 Intro to Fibre

and 3.0 first year studio and 1.0 first year liberal studies credits (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%)

Anti-requisites: MAAD 3B01 Fibre: Dyeing

Conditions: Students must achieve a minimum grade of 60% in at least one of their core studio courses each semester to advance to further Material Art & Design studio courses.

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

MAAD 3B01Fibre: Dyeing*

MAAD 3B05*Thesis I: Research & Preparation*

Department: DesignSubject: Material Art & DesignCourse Type: Studio/SeminarCredits: 0.50

Approaches to basic and applied research methodologies which lead to breakthroughs in concepts and processes are explored in this course. Students develop research methodologies appropriate to their investigations of selected areas of interest, and thoroughly document their findings. In preparation for their fourth year Thesis project, students finish the course with a document articulating conceptual directions, techniques and processes.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: GDES 3B68 Design (As) Research

Conditions: Requires a minimum grade of 60% to advance to MAAD 4C01 Thesis II: Project Development

MAAD 3B13

Jewellery: Practical Theory: Setting

Department: Design

Subject: Material Art & Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Students will be introduced to a variety of settings for gemstones through lectures and demonstrations. Information on tool making, gemstones and sources of materials will be presented in class. Students will be expected to produce seven sample settings which may be incorporated into finished jewellery. In a workshop setting, students will cut rough gem material into finished gemstones.

Prerequisites: MAAD 2B29

Jewellery/Metalsmithing: Fabrication 2

and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Conditions: Requires a minimum grade of 60% to advance to further Material Art & Design studio courses.

MAAD 3B15

Jewellery: Concept Development

Department: Design

Subject: Material Art & Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Experimentation, development and observation are key components of the creative process. This course looks at how the use of the body, materials, communication and ritual, as well as political and ethical concerns, are related to the practice of the studio metalsmith. Discussions centre around some of these concerns. Students are encouraged to research outside the studio to broaden their vision.

Prerequisites: MAAD 2B29

Jewellery/Metalsmithing: Fabrication 2

and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Conditions: Requires a minimum grade of 60% to advance to further Material Art & Design studio courses.

MAAD 3B17

Jewellery: Intermediate: Structure

Department: Design

Subject: Material Art & Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Jewellery often makes reference to sculpture and architecture. This course allows the intermediate student to explore this aspect of the medium's expressive potential, applying Constructivist approaches to advanced fabrication and model-making techniques. Students apply their three-dimensional design experience to the jewellery format. References to other art forms provide a departure point for exploration within the jewellery realm.

Prerequisites: MAAD 2B28

Jewellery/Metalsmithing: Composition or MAAD 2B29 Jewellery/Metalsmithing: Fabrication 2

and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Conditions: Students must achieve a minimum grade of 60% in at least one of their core studio courses each semester to advance to further Material Art & Design studio courses.

MAAD 3B20

Fibre: Concept Development

Department: Design

Subject: Material Art & Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course explores various approaches to generating concepts for the development of fibre based art/design. Students will investigate issues such as ritual, scale, the body, language and imagery as means to process and create meaningful work. Studio experiments, demonstrations and discussions will lead to students applying conventional and alternative fibre materials and structures in the development of both two- and three-dimensional pieces. Visual presentations of contemporary artists/designers working with these approaches are included.

Prerequisites: MAAD 2B01 Intro to Fibre

and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Conditions: Requires a minimum grade of 60% to advance to further Material Art & Design studio courses.

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

MAAD 3B34

Fibre: Constructed Design 2

Department: Design

Subject: Material Art & Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This intermediate level course is a continuation of approaches covered in MAAD 2B34 Fibre: Constructed Design 1. Students will develop more advanced skills in design process and production, using sustainable practices and computer aided design in the creation of constructed textiles. Emphasis will be on designing and weaving for both industry and individual studio practice. The course will be delivered using visual presentations, demonstrations, hands-on production, in-class discussions and one-on-one and group critiques.

Prerequisites: MAAD 2B34 Fibre: Constructed Design 1 or MAAD 2B34 Fibre Design 1: Constructed

and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Conditions: Requires a minimum grade of 60% to advance to further Material Art & Design studio courses.

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

MAAD 3B38

Jewellery: Implementing the History of the 19th and 20th Century

Department: Design

Subject: Material Art & Design

Course Type: Studio/Seminar

Credits: 0.50

The history of jewellery parallels significant events and social changes in the 19th and 20th century. This course will survey and define the histories of fine, fashion and studio jewellery through slide lectures and research studio assignments. Processes, materials and terminology will be introduced within the context of each category of work and class discussion will address the traditional role of jewellery in Western culture and how that has been questioned in the 20th century.

Prerequisites: MAAD 2B14 Intro to Jewellery/Metalsmithing: Fabrication OR GDES 3B34 Jewellery Design 1: An Introduction

and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Conditions: Students must achieve a minimum grade of 60% in at least one of their core studio courses each semester to advance to further Material Art & Design studio courses.

Fibre: Implementing the History of the 19th and 20th Century

Department: Design
Subject: Material Art & Design
Course Type: Studio/Seminar
Credits: 0.50

The history of textiles parallels significant events and social changes in the 19th to 21st centuries. This course will survey and define the histories of art textiles, fashion and functional textiles through slide lectures and research studio assignments. Process, materials and terminology will be introduced within the context of each category of work. Class discussion will address the traditional role of textiles in Western culture and how that has been questioned and changed in the 20th and 21st centuries.

Prerequisites: MAAD 2B01 Intro to Fibre

and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

MAAD 3B40

Ceramics: Throwing Workshop

Department: Design
Subject: Material Art & Design
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

This course teaches the process of making objects with clay using the potter's wheel. This method can quickly create basic forms which can be transformed into useful objects with specific needs in mind. In this context, throwing is used as an important vehicle of expression. During this course students are encouraged to further investigate the creative and/or production potential of this process in the hope of gaining a totality of clay making. Wheel throwing can both inform and produce the work and will be integrated with other aspects of the process such as context, concept, function and texture.

Prerequisites: 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

Silversmithing

Department: Design

Subject: Material Art & Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Through the use of hammers, steel and wooden forms, the plasticity and malleability of non-ferrous (copper, brass and silver) metals are explored. Forging, sinking and raising metal forms are the major techniques covered in this course. One project asks the student to explore their own personal design process through writing, drawing and modelmaking and subsequently create a piece of flatware related to their own experience.

Prerequisites: MAAD 2B14 Intro to Jewellery/Metalsmithing: Fabrication

or GDES 3B34 Jewellery Design 1: An Introduction

and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

MAAD 3B43

Fibre: Surface Design 2

Department: Design

Subject: Material Art & Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course is an advanced surface design study that builds on skills and processes acquired in Surface Design 1. Students will develop design concepts at a higher level while mastering technical skills such as fibre reactive dye printing, discharge printing, devore, batik techniques and many other possible applications related to surface design. Equally, this course emphasizes the use of digital technologies. Core strategies are built around creative problem solving and effective visual communication. The course will be delivered using lectures, demonstrations, in-class discussions and one-on-one and group critiques.

Prerequisites: MAAD 2B27 Fibre: Surface Design 1

and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Conditions: Students must achieve a minimum grade of 60% in at least one of their core studio courses each semester to advance to further Material Art & Design studio courses.

MAAD 3B45

Drawing and Rendering: Jewellery

Department: Design

Subject: Material Art & Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course will build on the knowledge and skills acquired in Drawing as Process by introducing specific techniques for the ideation, rendering, and presentation of jewellery and metal designs. A variety of hand and computer methods for compiling visual research, and developing and communicating ideas will be covered.

Prerequisites: MAAD 2B35 Drawing as Process OR MAAD 2A01 Drawing as a Tool together with MAAD 2A02 Drawing, Rendering and Visualization Methods

and 9.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Professional Practice

Department: Design

Subject: Material Art & Design

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course prepares the student to work as a practicing artist/designer. It covers résumé writing, photographic documentation of work, portfolio preparation, the sale of work (through galleries, shops and fairs), studio set-up and equipment acquisition. Insight and advice is provided through discussions, field trips to established studios and visits by practicing artists/designers and gallery owners.

Prerequisites: 14.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirement (10.0 credits)

MAAD 4B07Fibre: Design 3*

Department: DesignSubject: Material Art & DesignCourse Type: StudioCredits: 0.50

This course is designed to challenge students to pursue their own strategies while they apply design theories, acquired knowledge and technical skills to create 1) a line of production design, and 2) a site-specific environmental response. A high degree of personal motivation and strong research skills are essential to this course. The class will be delivered using lectures, demonstrations, field trips, in-class discussions and one-on-one and group critiques.

Prerequisites: MAAD 3B34 Fibre: Constructed Design 2 or MAAD 3B34 Fibre Design 2: Constructed or MAAD 3B43 Fibre: Surface Design 2 or MAAD 2B05 Fibre: Surface Design Print

and 14.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirement (10.0 credits)

Co-requisites: MAAD 4C01 Thesis II: Project Development

Anti-requisites: MAAD 3B33 Fibre Design 3: Advanced Studies

Conditions: Requires a minimum grade of 60% to advance to further Material Art & Design studio courses.

MAAD 4B08*Jewellery: Development for Production*

Department: DesignSubject: Material Art & DesignCourse Type: StudioCredits: 0.50

Does high volume production have more potential than simply producing hundreds of the same thing? How are multiples/modules developed? These are some of the issues discussed and developed during this course. The student produces one 'line' and explores all stages of development including concept, modelmaking, pricing and marketing. A field trip to a studio jeweller or exhibition is part of the curriculum.

Prerequisites: 14.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirement (10.0 credits)

Thesis II: Project Development

Department: Design
Subject: Material Art & Design
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 1.00

This course allows students to propose and develop a body of work in their MAAD concentration with the guidance of faculty. Preparation of a statement of intent articulating a conceptual direction, techniques and processes is an important part of the proposal. Students research and prepare thorough documentation of their process throughout the project.

Prerequisites: MAAD 3B05 Thesis I: Research & Preparation OR GDES 3B68 Design (As) Research

Please note that starting in 2011/12, Material Art & Design students must complete all required courses from third year before accessing MAAD 4C01 Thesis II: Project Development.

and 14.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirement (10.0 credits)

Conditions: Requires a minimum grade of 60% to advance to MAAD 4C02 Thesis III: Project Development.

Should a student be unsuccessful in attaining a 60% average in MAAD 4C02, they will be required, regardless of their mark in MAAD 4C01 to repeat the fall component of Thesis, MAAD 4C01, as well as the winter component of Thesis, MAAD 4C02.

Notes: Students are provided with three hours, weekly, of Open Studio time in addition to scheduled class time in order to complete thesis work.

Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

This precursor of contemporary offset lithography introduces students to stone printing techniques, and provides the technical challenge of combining direct and spontaneous elements in the form of line and wash with the more studied approach of sustained drawing. Class demonstrations, discussions, individual and group critiques assist students in the development of black and white and colour directed projects.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Notes: Priority in registration is given to Printmaking majors.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

PRNT 2B17

Intaglio

Department: Art
Subject: Printmaking
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Students will explore the creative potential of intaglio techniques such as etching, drypoint, engraving and other methods of working with incised surfaces and focusing on sustainable materials and practices. Class discussion, presentations, demonstrations, group and individual critiques assist in the development and realization of assigned projects.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Notes: Priority in registration is given to Printmaking majors.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

PRNT 2B18

Printmaking for Painters

Department: Art
Subject: Printmaking
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

This course explores the flexibility of traditional and contemporary methods of creating print-based work through the adaptation of technical skills from painting. Students will explore a variety of printmaking techniques such as serigraphy, collagraphy, relief and intaglio to create monoprints, mixed media works or multiples on paper. Hands-on studio work is supplemented by group and individual critiques.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

PRNT 2B20

Book Arts: Bookbinding

Department: Art
Subject: Printmaking
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

This course explores the traditional and contemporary concepts of the book as an art object and information vehicle. It introduces students to alternative book structures and bookbinding methods, including sewing, case binding and the construction of boxes, slip cases and book containers. Students produce several working book models and an independent project.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

PRNT 2B21

Digital Printmaking Studio

Department: Art
Subject: Printmaking
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

This course allows students to explore Photoshop techniques in printmaking; digital input (scanners, cameras, Internet) and digital image generation as they relate to both traditional (the use of computers to prepare negatives for photo techniques) and digital art print processes. The potential for rapid colour proofing, facile compositional changes and the use of collage, montage, cropping and overlays reinforce the emphasis on the use of computers to generate original art prints rather than its use as a reproduction tool.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

PRNT 2B22

Non-Toxic Printmaking

Department: Art
Subject: Printmaking
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

This course offers a sustainable approach to printmaking. Students are introduced to a range of print media which are water-based, non-toxic and, in some cases, portable enough to be set up in a private studio. Students work with water-based relief printing, and learn how to make their own brush-on inks in the Japanese Print tradition, as well as learn about roll-on inks. Students work with water-based mono-printing, which allows painterly images to be layered and multiplied as prints. This course allows students to explore screenprinting on textiles and work on larger scaled work.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

PRNT 2B25

Contemporary Issues: Art Today (PRNT)

Department: Art

Subject: Printmaking

Course Type: Studio/Seminar

Credits: 0.50

This introductory studio-seminar course exposes students to some of the theories, visual and material strategies, and conceptual frameworks that inform contemporary art practice. Each weekly seminar explores issues and problems through the following forums: readings and discussions, analyses of texts and artworks, lectures, gallery visits, and student presentations of projects. Seminar topics include: modernity and post-modernism; the mediation of the world through technology; issues of representation, difference and identity; the ideological and political dimensions of art; and the impact of globalization on art practices today.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Notes: CIAT is required for all Faculty of Art students. The various sections of CIAT address the program through which it is offered; however, students may enroll in any section in any program. This course is required at the 200 level of study. Students may receive credit for only one of these courses: CRCP 2B01, DRPT 2B13, INTM 2B22, PHOT 2B12, PRNT 2B25 and SCIN 2B09 BUT Priority in registration is given to Printmaking Majors.

Nano Publishing: Independent Publications

Department: NULL

Subject: Printmaking

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This hands-on course examines the nature, history and politics of independent publication with an emphasis on active community engagement, distribution models, and strategies for working outside of frameworks offered by mainstream media conglomerates and retailers. Using a variety of studio techniques including letterpress, silkscreen, digital printing, and book arts, Art and Design students make zines and artists' multiples, organize a public exhibition of their work, participate in local book related initiatives, and establish consignment relationships with local galleries and shops.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

PRNT 2B27

From Letterpress to Contemporary Typography

Department: Art
Subject: Printmaking
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

This course will bring art and design students together to explore applications of letterpress printing in contemporary typography. Both contemporary typography and desktop publishing have their roots in the tradition of letterpress. This tradition is introduced to students by utilizing methods of handset lead and wood type, linotype, foil-stamping, hand-cut wood, linoleum blocks, and photographic polymer plates. Moreover, contemporary design platforms provide a forum for interpreting the relationship between typography, language and meaning.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

PRNT 2B95

Matrices, Multiples and Materials

Department: Art
Subject: Printmaking
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

This course focuses on the potential of the print media as it relates to materials and the issue of multiplicity. Students are introduced to a wide range of processes from relief, etching and lithography to screen-printing. Techniques support both hand-rendered and photo-based imagery. Projects are designed to help students understand how the print medium distinguishes itself from and connects to other disciplines. As such, it is suitable for students at all levels, with or without printmaking experience. Presentations and critiques contextualize students' interests in terms of contemporary culture and visual literacy.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Notes: New title: formerly General Printmaking Studio

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

Screenprinting or Papermaking

Department: Art
Subject: Printmaking
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Students continue their studio work in either screenprinting or papermaking and may, in consultation with the instructor, develop a curriculum encompassing both media if the student has the necessary prerequisites for this level of study. Students are encouraged to explore the integration of conceptual ideas and technical skills in the context of contemporary practice. Demonstration, individual and group discussions, and critiques are an integral part of this course.

Prerequisites: One of the following - PRNT 2B01 Screenprinting, PRNT 2B05 Papermaking, PRNT 2B07 Hand Papermaking, PRNT 2B08 Papercasting or PRNT 2B23 Introduction to Lithography & Screenprinting or equivalent and 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits).

PRNT 3B16

Alternative Media and Techniques

Department: Art
Subject: Printmaking
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

This course allows students to explore non-traditional printmaking materials as well as challenge conventional processes. Students produce unique works on paper using a variety of approaches, two and three dimensional, installation format, virtual / electronic and/or performance works. Methods of retrieving, appropriating and serializing are also explored. Hands-on studio work is supplemented by group critiques, lectures and readings.

Prerequisites: Minimum 0.5 credit in a 200-level PRNT course and 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken PRNT 2B14 Alternative Media/Techniques may not take this course for credit

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

Collaborative Print Explorations NOT OFFERED 2012/2013

Department: Art

Subject: Printmaking

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This course is designed to explore and challenge students' ideas about art making and creative processes. By participating in a variety of collaborative projects, students will consider their work and productive methods in relation to the work of their peers. With an emphasis on print media techniques that may be expanded with sculptural, performance and installation or more traditional applications, students will participate in assignments which range from the incongruous to the synergistic. Students will work on a range of assignments from the selecting of a collaborator and establishing parameters to projects with guidelines designed by the instructor. Through visual and lecture presentations, students will gain an understanding of how and why artists choose to collaborate.

Prerequisites: Minimum 0.5 credit in 200-level PRNT course and 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits).

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

Contemporary Media and Digital Printmaking

Department: Art
Subject: Printmaking
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Non-traditional printmaking materials are used to create multiples and unique works on paper in two dimensional, three dimensional and installation format. A series of workshops introduce students to contemporary ways of creating images by using appropriated, retrieved, multiple and serial images to adapt and combine digitally generated, photographic and traditional images for use with print media techniques. Work may be constructed by applying a variety of strategies including digital mono-printing, photo-transfer and found objects. Students are encouraged to complete project work in open studio.

Prerequisites: PRNT 2B21 Digital Printmaking Studio or 0.5 credit 200-level PRNT studio and basic working knowledge of digital media 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits).

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

The Book as Art: Making Artists' Books

Department: Art
Subject: Printmaking
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

This course continues the study of the methods and techniques used to produce limited-edition book works. The emphasis is placed on book structures, bindings and the printmaking processes used to create them. Fresh perspectives on past and current technologies assist students in applying those relevant techniques to their own work. Examples and discussion of both traditional and contemporary artists' books are investigated to encourage students to contextualize their work in terms of historical relevance and to provide inspiration for experimentation and innovation. Projects include the creation of unique artists' books.

Prerequisites: PRNT 2B20 Book Arts: Bookbinding and a minimum 0.5 credit in 200-level PRNT course and 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken PRNT 2B91 The Book as Art: Making Artists' Books may not take may not take this course for credit

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

PRNT 3C05Intermediate Printmaking Studio*

Department: Art
Subject: Printmaking
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 1.00

This course provides the student with the opportunity for sustained print work in one or more of the printmaking media. Building on skills developed in the fall semester, students are encouraged in their print making practice to develop individual methodologies and to begin preparation for thesis and independent studio work. An oral presentation and research paper of 1500-2000 words is part of a required research project. Hands-on studio work is supplemented by group critiques, lectures and readings.

Prerequisites: Minimum 0.5 credit in 300-level PRNT course AND 2.0 credits Liberal Studies and 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits).

PRNT 3C06*From Paper to Book NOT OFFERED
2012/2013*

Department: Art
Subject: Printmaking
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 1.00

This course explores the possibilities of making books from scratch. Students will first make paper from rags and linters, then print, draw and otherwise make their mark on the newly formed sheets. Finally, these pages will be bound into a book format. Books can be more than just paper between boards. Contemporary and traditional books will be examined as the class explores the nature of the book. Students will be challenged to stretch the book's form and structure as they learn how the traditional forms of the book have evolved and how artists today are redefining this age old structure.

Prerequisites: One of the following: PRNT 2B91 The Book as Art: Making Artists' Books , PRNT 2B20 Book Arts: Bookbinding or PRNT 2B05 Papermaking and 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits).

Co-requisites: Students who have taken PRNT 3B22 From Paper to Book may not take may not take this course for credit

Notes: This class will be scheduled in D1, over the Fall and Winter semesters. Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

SCIN 2B01

Intermedia Studio: Body and Object

Department: Art
Subject: Sculpture/Installation
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

This introductory studio course looks at the practice of installation art as it relates to the body and the object. Students apply personal problem-solving strategies to three major projects. These projects encourage the student to explore a personal language choosing from a wide range of practices, from performance and photo-based installations to representational and object-based sculpture. Individual presentations of completed projects as well as written and group critiques form an important aspect of this course.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Notes: Required for Sculpture/Installation Majors. Priority in registration is given to Sculpture/Installation Majors.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

SCIN 2B02Nature, Transformation & Change*

Department: ArtSubject: Sculpture/InstallationCourse Type: StudioCredits: 0.50

Nature as a topic is commonly explored by artists working in all mediums. With a special focus on nature as it relates to notions of transformation & change, this studio course provides students with the opportunity to acquire a working knowledge of a range of materials and processes. Students are encouraged to develop an innovative artistic approach as they explore formal and conceptual concerns relating to contemporary interpretations of nature in a rapidly changing world.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of Liberal Studies (including the Writing course with a passing grade of 60%).

Issues in the History of Sculpture

Department: Art

Subject: Sculpture/Installation

Course Type: Studio/Seminar

Credits: 0.50

This intermediate-level studio-seminar course examines the idea of sculpture in the last century as a history of specific cultural moments. Rather than offering a chronological sweep, it focuses backwards and forwards on specific works that present clues to the conditions facing sculpture in certain places at certain times.

Prerequisites: One of the following Contemporary Issues: Art Today - CRCP 2B01, DRPT 2B13, INTM 2B22, PHOT 2B12, PRNT 2B25 or SCIN 2B09 OR GDES 2B03 Think Tank I: Awareness, AND 2.0 credits Liberal Studies and 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits).

Notes: Required for Sculpture/Installation Majors. Priority in registration is given to Sculpture/Installation Majors.

SCIN 3B04

Sculpture Studio: How Objects Work

Department: Art

Subject: Sculpture/Installation

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This intermediate course examines how the object works in a contemporary sculpture practice. Within a studio environment, students apply significant case studies and critical texts to the production of work. Particular attention is paid to concepts of the object that will include an introduction to and examination of such important investigations as phenomenology, semiotics and contemporary epistemology.

Prerequisites: 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: Priority in registration is given to Sculpture/Installation Majors.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

SCIN 3B08

Intermedia Studio: Problems in Visual Language I

Department: Art

Subject: Sculpture/Installation

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

This intermediate-level studio course focuses on the working theories and practices required to produce/ fabricate artworks that successfully employ a number of media. Students examine case studies and develop a personal language. The course encourages a wide range of practices, from performance- and photo-based installations to representational and object-based sculpture. Gallery and site-specific forms of address are also explored. Students examine, critique and discuss different approaches to problem solving using a visual language.

Prerequisites: SCIN 2B01 or SCIN 2B14 and one of the following Contemporary Issues: Art Today - SCIN 2B09, CRCP 2B01, DRPT 2B13, INTM 2B22, PHOT 2B12, or PRNT 2B25 OR GDES 2B03 Think Tank I: Awareness AND 2.0 credits Liberal Studies and 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken SCIN 3C01 Intermedia Studio: Problems in Visual Language I may not take may not take this course for credit

Notes: Required for Sculpture/Installation Majors. Priority in registration is given to Sculpture/Installation Majors. Register for SCIN 3C02 Intermedia Studio: Problems in Visual Language II in the Winter semester.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

Introduction To Contemporary Aboriginal Sculpture Practice

Department: Art
Subject: Sculpture/Installation
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

This course encourages students to explore the poetic resonance of natural materials through an orientation to traditional gathering and construction practices. Students are encouraged to develop alternative approaches to making and design using natural found or foraged objects or elements. Students examine issues relevant to contemporary Aboriginal artists working in an alternate narrative and aesthetic tradition, located within land and the body.

Prerequisites: 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

SCIN 3B14

Life Study for Sculpture III

Department: Art
Subject: Sculpture/Installation
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

This course brings further focus to aspects of modeling the human head and figure in clay. Formal exercises utilizing the life model increase the students' perception in the areas of observation, technique and expression. As technical proficiencies increase students are encouraged to explore their individual directions.

Prerequisites: Either SCIN 2B19 Life Study for Sculpture I or SCIN 2B20 Life Study for Sculpture II and 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken SCIN 3C03 Life Study for Sculpture III: Intensive may not take may not take this course for credit

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

SCIN 3B15

The Immaterial & the Material

Department: Art

Subject: Sculpture/Installation

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 0.50

Graphic and pixilated representations dominate contemporary Western culture and experience, a phenomenon that has impacted our relationship with sculpture and the world of molecular objects. This course examines how technologically mediated events, images and objects affect our rapport with the real and privilege the "distant" over the "near." Providing an overview of major disturbances in self-perception from eugenics, and social Darwinism during the Second World War, through to cybernetics and biotechnologies, this Studio course is guided by key texts from writers such as Ursula Franklin, Paul Virilio and Jordan Crandall. A series of hands-on workshops detail how to subvert various electronic media towards artistic ends. While slanted towards the digital domain, this course is open to final projects incorporating various media and materials.

Prerequisites: 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits)

Notes: Priority in registration is given to Sculpture/Installation Majors.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

SCIN 3C02

Intermedia Studio: Problems in Visual Language II

Department: Art

Subject: Sculpture/Installation

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 1.00

This course continues the examination of working theories and practices in the fabrication of artworks employing intersecting media. Students examine case studies and develop a personal language. Students apply problem-solving skills to the production of projects. Works are critiqued and discussed.

Prerequisites: SCIN 3B08 Intermedia Studio: Problems in Visual Language I, 2.0 credits Liberal Studies and 8.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits).

Notes: Priority in registration is given to Sculpture/Installation Majors.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

SCIN 4B03Public Art*

Department: ArtSubject: Sculpture/InstallationCourse Type: StudioCredits: 0.50

This course introduces students to public art as an area of artistic practice. Emphasis is on historical and contemporary ideas surrounding issues of public and private domains and the politics of public spaces. Students are involved in the planning and production stages involved in public art, including concept development, budget preparation, contracts and collaboration. Classes include lectures, studio exercises and visits to public art sites.

Prerequisites: 13.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirements (10.0 credits)

Notes: This course is open to art and design students.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it. Priority in registration is given to Sculpture/Installations Majors.

SCIN 4B06*Doubt & Paradox*

Department: ArtSubject: Sculpture/InstallationCourse Type: StudioCredits: 0.50

If belief has been responsible for transcendental wonder, doubt has fueled alternatives to the oppression of conventional habit. Doubt's most effective tool has been paradox, with its playful challenge to the assumptions in common sense, and its veiled relationship to the problem of truth. Students are invited to research and discuss these themes in order to experiment with their application in the production of work

Prerequisites: 13.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirements (10.0 credits)

Notes: Priority in registration is given to Sculpture/Installation Majors.

The Human Figure in Contemporary Sculpture NOT OFFERED 2012/2013

Department: Art
Subject: Sculpture/Installation
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 0.50

Through a series of formal projects, students will be encouraged to develop their personal approach or language based on the human image. Conceptual concerns and contemporary precedents will be investigated. Life models will be available for reference.

Prerequisites: SCIN 3C03 / SCIN 3B08 Life Study for Sculpture III and 13.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirements (10.0 credits)

Notes: Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

SCIN 4C01

SCIN Studio Thesis: Research

Department: Art
Subject: Sculpture/Installation
Course Type: Studio
Credits: 1.00

In this advanced studio course, students use their individual experience, research and analytical skills to develop methodologies for making and contextualizing artworks. Students are also encouraged to develop their studio production and formulate independent research areas through a variety of approaches: class presentations; interviewing professional artists, critics, curators and dealers; and researching contemporary and historical artists and issues. Methods for producing, analyzing and critiquing artworks and theories are examined, and students regularly present their studio work and research for class discussion.

Prerequisites: All required 200- and 300-level SCIN Studio and STU/SEM courses and 3.0 credits in Liberal Studies and 13.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirements (10.0 credits).

Notes: Required for Sculpture/Installation Majors. Studio Thesis Research SCIN 4C01 and Studio Thesis Presentation SCIN 4C02 must be completed in the same academic year.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

SCIN 4C02

SCIN Studio Thesis: Presentation

Department: Art

Subject: Sculpture/Installation

Course Type: Studio

Credits: 1.00

This culminating advanced course in Sculpture/Installation builds on experience gained by students in their previous studies and provides them with a context in which to prepare a written thesis statement and graduating exhibition. This Thesis course will link studio and research skills and will enable students to both realize and articulate their accomplishments. Students may spend twelve hours weekly on preparations, which typically involve library and field research, writing and studio fabrication time. The student meets with a Faculty Panel for an average of three hours weekly. Evaluation is based on the submission of a written Thesis and on the installation of completed work.

Prerequisites: SCIN 4C01 SCIN Studio Thesis: Research and 13.0 credits, including all first-year and second-year requirements (10.0 credits).

Notes: Required for Sculpture/Installation Majors.

Please take special note that this course has material fees associated with it.

SCTM 2B01

Introduction to Biology

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: Liberal Studies

Course Type: Academic Course

Credits: 0.50

This lecture course addresses the fundamentals of biology within the broad context of the ways in which our society is increasingly influenced by science and technology. Students acquire a basic natural science literacy through the study of ecology, evolution, genetics, cell biology and basic physiology, with a strong focus on applying the information learned to everyday life and an examination of the profound changes taking place in the areas of science and technology, such climate change, genetic engineering and cloning, and the loss of biodiversity and habitat.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of first-year liberal arts & sciences (including the Writing course with a minimum passing grade of 60%).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken SCTM 2B04 may not take this course for further credit.

SCTM 2B02

Human Form and Function: Introduction to Anatomy

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

SEE NOTE AT BOTTOM

This course provides an introduction to musculoskeletal anatomy to provide a deeper understanding of the human form based on accurate observation. Students will learn to identify the shapes underlying the surface of the figure and understand the anatomic basis of movement through a study of the human skeleton, cadaver specimens and living anatomy from models and their own bodies. While the central purpose of this course is to enhance the student's understanding of what they see in the human form, this course will also place anatomical "facts" within a cultural and scientific context.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of first-year liberal arts & sciences (including the Writing course with a minimum passing grade of 60%).

Notes: Priority registration for Illustration majors ONLY IN FALL semester.

Priority registration for this course will be lifted on Monday, July 30, 2012.

SCTM 2B03

Astronomy: An Exploration of Scales and Structures in our Universe

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

This course will explore the science of Astronomy from the perspective of scale and structure: how, from the microscopic scales of atoms, molecules and light, we have come to understand the macroscopic scales of stars, nebulae, galaxies, and the large scale structure of the Universe. Astronomy is an intensely visual science, with exquisite structures and morphologies revealed by increasingly sophisticated technologies, probing wavelengths the human eye can and cannot see; yet surprisingly the visual contains only a small fraction of the known Universe. Instead, "Dark Matter" and "Dark Energy" make up the bulk of our Universe. We will examine the scientific method of astronomers, and how they have reached such unanticipated results.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of first-year liberal arts & sciences (including the Writing course with a minimum passing grade of 60%).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken SCTM 2B94: Special Topic in Science, Technology and Mathematics: Astronomy: An Exploration of Scales and Structures in our Universe may not take this course for further credit.

SCTM 2B05

Modern Physics (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

The goal of physics is to understand the workings of nature through observation, experimentation, and theory. In this course, we will explore the world of physics through its observations and visualizations of nature, from the realm of the human scale through microscopic and macroscopic scales. The course will examine such topics in modern physics as cosmology, relativity, and quantum mechanics, along with their classical historical contexts. Particular emphasis will be placed on the role of visualization in science, and interrelations between science and art. (Note: As little mathematics as possible will be used; emphasis is on conceptual ideas. No background in science/math is presumed.)

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of first-year liberal arts & sciences (including the Writing course with a minimum passing grade of 60%).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken SCTM 2B95: Special Topic in Science/Technology/Math: Modern Physics may not take this course for further credit.

SCTM 2B06

Introduction to Computer Science: Logic and Coding

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

This course introduces students to the fundamentals of logic, and computer programming. It emphasizes object-oriented languages, allowing students to understand and later develop capacity in a wider range of programming methods. The material will be contextualized within both art and design practices, introducing students to programming for environments, objects and online, as well as practices of interaction, automation, generation, networks and visualization. Students will understand how to incorporate and recombine existing code and to use established design patterns. Basic foundational coding languages will be used to introduce key concepts that students can employ in their subsequent study of advanced programming languages. Students will be asked to bring in work-in-progress from their studio courses that can be implemented through coding.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of first-year liberal arts & sciences (including the Writing course with a minimum passing grade of 60%).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken SCTM 2B94 Special Topic in Science/Technology/Mathematics: Introduction to Computer Science: Logic and Coding may not take this course for further credit.

SCTM 2B07

Introduction to Inclusive Design

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

The course will provide an interdisciplinary introduction to the inclusive design of information and communication technologies and practices, where inclusive design is defined as design that is inclusive of the full range of human diversity with respect to ability, language, culture, gender, age and other forms of human difference. The course will cover the theoretical background, critical analysis, underpinning social and economic motivations, design methods employed, controversies, as well as the major challenges or problems to be addressed. Students will engage in both a review and analysis of relevant research and the current state of the field combined with more experiential problem solving and the application of inclusive design theory and methods introduced during the course. The course will equip students to engage in well informed, in-depth critical analysis of inclusive design of information systems and services and to apply rudimentary inclusive design methods.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of first-year liberal arts & sciences (including the Writing course with a minimum passing grade of 60%).

SCTM 2B10

Introduction to Psychology

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

This lecture course introduces students to the scientific study of human and animal behaviour, with a particular emphasis on the individual as the unit of study rather than the group. Through discussion, the course text and clips from Universal Studio films, students survey key concepts, issues and research methods in the various sub-disciplines of psychology and relate these to contemporary life and culture. Topics include: physiological processes, motivation, learning, perception and sensation, memory and thinking, and social, developmental and abnormal psychology. Students learn to develop their critical thinking and analytical skills and learn to distinguish between the average layperson's notion of psychology and psychology as a science.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of first-year liberal arts & sciences (including the Writing course with a minimum passing grade of 60%).

SCTM 2B20

Introduction to Earth Sciences (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

Beyond the study of minerals and rock types, the science of Geology is fundamental to understanding current issues in ecology and resource management. This lecture-based course presents the dynamic processes that shape our planet, with a focus on how they influence how we live today. Within a Canadian context, students will explore plate tectonics, rock formation and classification, earthquakes and volcanoes, geological structures, water and mineral resources, surficial processes, and the geology of Canada. The role of plate tectonics as the key process driving geological change will be stressed, beginning with structure of the planet and running through to geological influences on ecological concerns. The approach of observing the present as a key to understanding the past will help students appreciate the dynamic nature of our planet.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of first-year liberal arts & sciences (including the Writing course with a minimum passing grade of 60%).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken SCTM 2B90: Special Topic in Science/Technology/Math: Introduction to Earth Sciences in 2004/2005 Summer, Fall or Winter semesters may not take this course for further credit.

SCTM 2B21

The Mathematics of Art and Design (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

This course explores the ways in which aspects of mathematics intersect with the practical concerns of artists and designers. We will see that much like artists, mathematicians are interested in the study of patterns and abstractions that can arise from these patterns. The notion of truth however can be quite different for a mathematician than for an artist. We will take a good look at how mathematicians reason and will encounter occasions where this reasoning has shaken the foundations of mathematics. We will also acquaint ourselves with the impact mathematics has had on designers and artists.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of first-year liberal arts & sciences (including the Writing course with a minimum passing grade of 60%).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken SCTM 2B91: Special Topic in Science, Technology and Mathematics: The Mathematics of Art and Design may not take this course for further credit.

Topics in the Science of Colour (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

A cross-disciplinary approach in examining colour, with the aim of understanding colour from the multiple viewpoints of art, physics, chemistry, physiology and history. Topics include: perception, wave nature of light, spectroscopy, colour harmony and contrast, natural phenomena, dyes and pigments.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of first-year liberal arts & sciences (including the Writing course with a minimum passing grade of 60%).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken SCTM 2B90: Special Topic in Science, Technology and Mathematics: Topics in the Science of Colour may not take this course for further credit.

Special Topic in Science/Technology/Mathematics: What is Time?

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: Liberal Studies

Course Type: Academic Course

Credits: 0.50

The concept of time has intrigued thinkers from all ages. The impact of measuring and marking time intervals on the development of human culture, and our understanding of the world around us, cannot be understated. The drive to measure and understand time led ancient peoples to a very sophisticated knowledge of the sky; from that knowledge emerged accurate calendars, as well as mathematics itself. We will look at time from ancient to modern contexts: topics include sky calendars, timekeeping devices, and the arrow of time. We will look at how changing concepts of time drove changes in physics, and vice-versa. Newton's Clockwork Universe was built on laws completely based on the notion of an absolute and external time.

Whereas for Einstein, time was no longer an absolute quantity, and instead depended on one's frame of reference. We will examine current controversial notions of time, including the idea that time may not be real, but instead is emergent from a timeless configuration of all possible "nows". This course may include a visit to the Perimeter Institute and/or guest lectures by scientists from the Perimeter Institute. Work for the course includes building a clock, researching current scientific views on time which incorporate ideas from Relativity and Quantum Mechanics, and creating a time-based artwork.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of first-year liberal arts & sciences (including the Writing course with a minimum passing grade of 60%).

Notes: This "Special Topic" course provides more advanced analysis of a topic of general interest or relevance. This course fulfills 0.5 credit toward the Liberal Arts & Sciences requirements for a BFA or BDes.

Thinking Statistics: Data, Meaning & Analysis

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: Liberal Studies

Course Type: Academic Course

Credits: 0.50

This course introduces students to quantitative research methods and statistical analyses. Students learn about the research process and strategies to choose appropriate methodologies given specific research questions and approaches. Students learn about statistical thinking and how to make meaning from data as a way of understanding the world from evidence based perspectives. Students learn to distinguish between unfounded, anecdotal and legitimate research evidence, strengthening their critical thinking, analytic and research literacy skills. Students learn how to (i) design a research study, (ii) collect, analyze and report data, (iii) write a report of research findings, (iv) evaluate and understand research findings.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Human Factors for Designers

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: Liberal Studies

Course Type: Academic Course

Credits: 0.50

This course introduces students to ideas and issues that are important to a contemporary understanding of ergonomics, human factors, and user-centred design. Through a thematic examination of the growth and development of the field, including a wide-ranging review of case studies, the course provides students with a framework for studying industrial and environmental design processes as they relate to the satisfaction of human needs.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including 1.0 credit of second-year liberal studies (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken VISC 2B91: Special Topic in Visual Culture: Human Factors and User-Centred Design in the 2004/2005 academic year, VISC 3B27, VISD 3B27, or SOSC 3B27 may not take this course for further credit.

Biological Principles of Sustainability

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: Liberal Studies

Course Type: Academic Course

Credits: 0.50

This course examines major scientific issues surrounding the concept of sustainability. Topics covered will include: population growth and the human carrying capacity, land use and agriculture, biotechnology and genetic engineering, climate change and pollution, and ecosystem services in urban design. Each section of the course will discuss the scientific principles and concepts relevant to understanding sustainability within these areas. Students will apply their scientific knowledge to examine and critique contemporary design and cultural practices from the perspective of biological sustainability. An additional focus on emerging biologically focused design tools such as Biomimicry will be discussed.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken SCTM 2B04: Biological Principles of Sustainability may not take this course for further credit.

Introduction to Social Science: People and Social Worlds

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: Liberal Studies

Course Type: Academic Course

Credits: 0.50

This course introduces students to basic concepts and methods used in the social sciences. An important goal of studies in the social sciences is to understand the actions and ideas of society and culture. In this course we will examine, on the one hand, the relationship between human behaviour and subjectivity and, on the other, social and cultural differences that transcend and shape personal experience in our rapidly changing world.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of first-year liberal arts & sciences (including the Writing course with a minimum passing grade of 60%).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken SOSC 2B01: People, Culture and Social Worlds: Introduction to Cultural Anthropology may not take this course for further credit.

The Basics of Doing Human-Centred Research in Art and Design (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

Students will acquire basic skills in the collection, preparation, and reporting of human-centred research. The research methods to be taught will include content analysis, ethnographic field research, interviewing, and the development of surveys and questionnaires. The course will also review a range of ways of presenting research findings. This will all be taught with a view to working with human research subjects in an ethical manner.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of first-year liberal arts & sciences (including the Writing course with a minimum passing grade of 60%).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken SOSC 2B04 or VISC 2B41 may not take this course for further credit.

Material Culture and Consumer Society

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

In its broadest sense, material culture is the study of the objects people make, use, purchase and consume to interact with their physical worlds and to construct visible social relationships. This course explores how objects are a reflection of the individuals and societies that produce them, and examines the design of objects and their meanings through interdisciplinary methodologies. Using a case-study approach to find what objects "say" about us, we examine a range of Western and non-Western objects including furniture, household products, clothing, cars and architecture, and topics such as collecting, souvenirs, branding and gift-giving.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken ACAD3B22, HUMN 3B22 (2001) or VISC 3B22 (2002) may not take this course for further credit.

Sociology of the Body

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

The human body is the focus of a wide range of sociological specialties including the sociology of health and illness, of the emotions, of entertainment, as well as social studies of science and technology. This course examines how "bodies" are integrated into patterns of everyday social interaction and become visible in broader social contexts such as culture and politics. Students are provided with the concepts and tools necessary for exploring sociological questions raised by bodies in society.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Childhood, Families and Social Change

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

This course adopts an interdisciplinary approach in which the insights and techniques of sociology, anthropology and psychology are combined to examine parent-child relations from a socio-historical perspective and includes a critique of traditional theories on families and child socialization. Issues such as domestic partnerships, same-sex families, family/work roles, reproduction, childcare and child education will be explored. Special attention will be given to the link between family experiences and sources of inequality such as social class, race, gender, disability, ethnicity, sexuality and age.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Social Psychology and Consumer Behaviour

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: Liberal Studies

Course Type: Academic Course

Credits: 0.50

The course explains how and why we buy goods and services. In other words, the course studies how individuals come to make decisions around the spending of their available resources (time, money, effort) on consumption-related items. Relatedly, it addresses why we often buy excessively (the consumer society critique). This necessarily requires us to look at what good and services mean to us such that we purchase them. That is, how do goods and services give expression to the tastes, values and affiliations of individuals and groups (i.e., self-representations)?

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken SOSC 2B90: Special Topic in Social Science: Social Psychology and Consumer Behaviour in the 2004/2005 academic year or SOSC 2B03 may not take this course for further credit.

Mental Health: Science, Culture, Society (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: Liberal Studies

Course Type: Academic Course

Credits: 0.50

This course provides a theoretical approach to understanding the role of psychiatric science in society and culture. Students will read from historical and critical literatures on scientific and cultural practices of mental health and illness in western societies and beyond, with attention to late capitalist practices. The class will explore mental health in a model suggesting that scientific knowledges change with paradigms of thought. Mental health will be positioned as a range personal, social and scientific “technologies” which often produce particular behaviors. Topics of discussion will include: the interstices of art and madness, changing notions of the human subject and the self, health’s relationship to citizenship and consumer society, and the historical pathologisation of distinct populations of people, based on gender, race, ethnicity, sexuality, and more.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

(Re)Writing Culture: Reflexive Ethnography in a Globalized World

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

Ethnographic writing of the last 25 years has served as an important catalyst in the production of critically reflexive and interrogative works across geographical and disciplinary terrains. To this end, students will be exposed to different ethnographic styles that derive primarily from anthropology, but also include sociology, journalism, and literary studies. In addition to critically reading a selection of diverse ethnographies, students will pay attention to context specific methodologies that both facilitate and contest the “writing of cultures”. The production of ethnography will serve as a tool to unpack and engage with issues of power, resistance, ethics, inequality, objectivity, alternative socio-cultural arrangements, fieldwork and “thick” cultural descriptions.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Taronton, Onitاريو, Kanata (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

Taronton, Onitاريو, Kanata examines the socio-economic and political history of Toronto as a traditional territory of Indigenous peoples, from its pre-colonial roots as an Aboriginal trading centre, through the waves of dislocation, relocation and migration of Aboriginal people to and from the city from the 19th century to the present. The course investigates the growth and diversity of Toronto's Aboriginal population, including its disproportionate representation among the homeless and its substantial membership in the middle class. Students explore the ways in which contemporary urban Indigenous populations engage with the city and the extent to which their actions redefine and enrich what it means to be Aboriginal in Toronto.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Cultural Geographies: Narrative, Landscape and Community

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

This course will introduce students to the field of cultural geography by investigating concepts of the land and landscapes as frameworks for both the natural and built environment. Through lectures and readings the course will examine how humans have transformed and manipulated space over time, while simultaneously developing cultures that encompass a range of ideas and attitudes towards landscape, place, identity, narrative and community. Global in scope, and situated in a humanistic perspective, the course will apply traditional and alternative critical frameworks and methodologies to case studies set in Toronto and in Canada as a focus.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken HUMN 2B02: Cultural Geographies: Narrative, Landscape and Community may not take this course for further credit.

Risk and Society

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

Students will be introduced to theories and methods used in the social sciences for studying the role of “risk perception” in constructing visions about our common future. The course begins with an examination of how a range of social responses to risk in history have had an effect on the interconnectedness of individuals, social life, economic advancement, and the environment. We then move on to consider a number of contemporary critical debates concerning complexity in living systems, the Anthropocene, post-sustainability, existential risk, and transhumanism.

Prerequisites: 10.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits) and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken SOSC 3B90: Special Topic in Social Science: Risk and Society in 2005-2006 may not take this course for further credit.

Gender, Globalization and Social Change

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: Liberal Studies

Course Type: Academic Course

Credits: 0.50

This seminar course examines anthropological/social science perspectives on the role that gender plays in organizing society and in understanding social change. We begin by analyzing initial research in the early 1970s that sought to understand gender hierarchies by identifying universals in sexual status cross-culturally and the subsequent critiques of this early approach. We conclude by studying feminist approaches and methodologies that have developed in the anthropology of gender. To contextualize the theories of gender, we examine geographically and culturally diverse empirical studies of households, labour markets, agriculture, industrialization, development projects and visual culture in both rural and urban contexts.

Prerequisites: 10.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits) and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

History of Modern Art

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: Liberal Studies

Course Type: Academic Course

Credits: 0.50

This lecture course surveys major artistic movements and artists from the 1860s to the 1970s. We begin by examining the roots of Modernism and proceed to a consideration of movements such as Impressionism, Post-Impressionism, Fauvism, Cubism, Futurism and Constructivism. We then examine Duchamp and the Armory Show of 1913 to illustrate the influence of the early-20th-century European avant-garde on North American art and aesthetics, particularly Abstract Expressionism. We conclude with a discussion of mid-20th-century art movements, including British and American Pop, Conceptual Art, Minimalism, Performance, Land-based Art and Post-Minimalism.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of first-year liberal arts & sciences (including the Writing course with a minimum passing grade of 60%).

Art of Europe: The Northern Renaissance (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: Liberal Studies

Course Type: Academic Course

Credits: 0.50

This course deals with the signs and symbols, as well as with the sheer artistic brilliance that characterizes this period of artistic production in Northern Europe. Starting with a brief discussion of manuscript painting (the Limbourg Brothers), the lion's share of this course is devoted to the extraordinary genius of the great Flemish masters (Campin, van Eyck, van der Weyden, van der Goes, Memling, Bosch and Bruegel, among others). The final section of this course is given over to an examination of the unique qualities of contemporaneous painting in Germany, including such artists as Durer, Grunewald and Holbein.

History of Printing & Printmaking

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

This lecture course traces the development of printing processes from the 15th century to the present in relation to the histories of art and design in Western culture. We examine how the growing sophistication of printing processes has had two dramatic results: freeing the visual artist from the confines of galleries and museums, and freeing the designer from the esotericism of the artists' prints. The range of topics covered includes: the inventions of movable type and the printing press, print publication and printmaking, book design and visual communication, and the impact of digital culture.

Canadian Art: The Modern Era

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

This course looks through a post-colonial lens at a formative period (c.1920 to 1960s) that saw the advent of competing strands of modernism in Canada. The Group of Seven offered their stylized yet conservative northern landscapes as symbols of Canadian national unity, while Quebec artists countered with visions based in social memory and formal experimentation. First Nations, erased from the landscape in the Group's paintings, then extended their ancestral traditions to address a wider public. Finally, as designers and artists adapted the international concepts of Modernism and High Realism to regionally varied Canadian settings, Canada celebrated its coming-of-age with Expo 67.

Contemporary East Asian Art

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: Liberal Studies

Course Type: Academic Course

Credits: 0.50

Contemporary Asian arts are fascinating outcomes of Asia's modernization and of the intersections of various indigenous and international cultural elements and visual traditions. This course aims to explore aspects of practices and issues in contemporary Asian visual art which have developed through a radical break from, and revision of, traditional art making. This course not only covers a wide range of historical and cultural products from contemporary Asia but also presents issues and methods in Transnational Visual Cultural Studies. The course will look at contemporary arts from different Asian countries such as Japan, Korea, Singapore, the Philippines, and China (including Hong Kong) as well as Asian exhibitions in Western metropolises such as London, New York, and Los Angeles. This will be combined with the analytical reading of art criticism from regional experts. The sessions will deal with important questions such as contemporaneity, tradition, (multi)modernity, anxiety, and transnationality in Asian art. They will also locate questions of global/local, originality/hybridity, translation/ untranslatability, desire/image/language, memory/history in the context of a body of study.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Into the 21st Century: Photographic Practices, Theory and Criticism

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

This course will provide an overview of recent photographic practices and an examination of the theoretical debates and key writings on photography and genre in the modern and contemporary contexts. Critical areas to be discussed include the role of photographic realism, the documentary form and social change, staged photography, photomontage and digital convergence. The place of the photograph will be explored within the broader contexts of concurrent conditions in contemporary art and society, which will provide a range of perspectives on the modernist and post-modernist agendas which have framed practices leading to the present.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken VISC 3B43 may not take this course for further credit.

Notes: Priority registration for Criticism and Curatorial Practice and Photography majors.

Priority registration for this course will be lifted on Tuesday, July 24, 2012.

South Asian Art and Culture: Vision of the Sacred (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

This course will address some of the most formidable stages of artistic creation in South Asia (broadly the area that currently includes India, Pakistan, Bangladesh, Tibet, Nepal and Sri Lanka) dating from the prehistoric period to ca. 1000 CE. Students will study the development of religions, such as Hinduism, Buddhism, and Jainism, the cultures that developed in the countries concerned as well as their interaction with each other through the transmission of artifacts, ideas and belief systems. Among other elements, the course will focus on the imbrications of vision and cognition within the context of the “sacred” in South Asian thought. Using historiographic material as well as contemporary writings addressing the issue of the “sacred” this course will critically evaluate the art and culture in question through a re-reading of the monuments/objects as visual texts.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits) and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken VISC 3B44 may not take this course for further credit.

South Asian Art and Culture: Multiple Modernisms (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

This course follows from VISC 3B44: South Asian Art and Culture Vision of the Sacred and will address the protean explosion of artistic developments under the rule of different foreign (Persian, Islamic, Western) and local political and religious systems, from ca. 1100 CE to the late twentieth century. The continuity of indigenous creative vocabulary despite the presence of dominating – and mediating – systems of authority will constitute a major component of this course. Students will learn to think in terms of multiple degrees and forms of modernism instead of a single – Western – modernism largely imposed through colonialism. The final classes will focus entirely on the highly different – at times controversial – modes of contemporary artistic practice in South Asia.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits) and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken VISC 3B45 may not take this course for further credit.

Notes: VISC 3B44 South Asian Art and Culture: Vision of the Sacred is strongly recommended in advance of taking this course.

Art & Fashion (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

While haute couture has become a central fixture in postmodern culture, fashion has held a special interest for artists since at least the nineteenth century. Whether clothing served as a medium for creativity to be applied to the warp and woof of everyday life, a means to re-engineer the fabric of social relations, or a target for critiques of tradition, functionality and commercialism, fashion attracted the attention of artists from diverse aesthetic and political positions. This class will explore sartorial explorations over the past 150 years -- from Aesthetic Dress in the nineteenth century to Futurist and Constructivist utopian experiments in the twentieth to cybernetic skin-suits in the twenty-first – and the many ways in which artists have broken out of the domain of high art to address issues of gender, ethics, identity, subcultural affiliation and alterity through the material realm of clothes.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits) and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken VISC 3B91 Special Topic in Visual Culture: Art and Fashion or VISC 3B47 may not take this course for further credit.

Special Topic in Visual Culture: Art in Revolution: European Art 1750-1850

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

This course examines European art from the mid-18th century to the mid-19th century. It explores the role of art in the development of modern politics and political discourse in a period of revolution, nationalism, imperialism and propaganda. Against the backdrop of political, scientific, industrial and social revolutions, the course addresses the changing role of the artist, art academies, exhibitions and the art market, the rise of art criticism and modern aesthetics in the work of artists such as Fuseli, Wright of Derby, West, Goya, Greuze, David, Friedrich, Géricault, Delacroix, Daumier, Courbet and many others.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits) and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Notes: A "Special Topic" course provides more advanced analysis of a topic of general interest or relevance. This course fulfills 0.5 credit toward the Liberal Art & Sciences requirements toward the BFA or B.Des.

Special Topic in Visual Culture: Islamic Art and Architecture

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

This course examines contemporary art and architecture from the Middle East since 1979, the Western art world's rising interest in it, and the methodological problems inherent in such a study. Through an analysis of specific monuments, artists, theoretical writing, curated exhibitions, journal articles, and contemporary visual culture, we will address issues of central concern: the problem of naming "the middle east", centre vs. periphery, war and exile, what constitutes modern and contemporary and who is empowered to make that distinction, "difference" and its relation to capitalist consumption. Because such issues are grounded in post-colonial critiques of master historical narratives, we will also need to evaluate key writings by Edward Said, Homi Bhabha, Dipesh Chakrabarta and others to see if these theories remain effective guides for understanding the western reception of Middle-Eastern art today.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits) and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Notes: This "Special Topic" course provides more advanced analysis of a topic of general interest or relevance. This course fulfills 0.5 credit toward the Liberal Art & Sciences requirements for a BFA or BDes.

Special Topic in Visual Culture: Aboriginal Cultural Politics: Gender, Art and Activism

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: Liberal Studies

Course Type: Academic Course

Credits: 0.50

This course is an exploration of Aboriginal artists who are working with themes of gender, politics and contentious issues. The focus will be on artists who see their art making as both critically engaged and as part of their relationship to their communities. This will involve analyzing their work through personal testimonies, reviews and readings in the context of Aboriginal political and social issues. The course will work through theories of dialogical aesthetics, community-based and site-specific art practices and how this does or does not relate to Aboriginal epistemologies. Reflecting on differing stances on gender relations and feminism/theory, the course will examine how Aboriginal artists reject or participate in this dialogue. It will also reflect on the current role art has in our global society. In western or colonial countries such as Canada the function of art has often been confined to a gallery space with visual aesthetics being the primary rationale for art production, we will begin to complicate and problematize this stance.

The course will reflect on local and established Aboriginal artists such as Rebecca Belmore, Faye Heavyshield and Jeff Thomas and will draw comparisons with Indigenous artists from the United States and various Latin American countries. The course will consist of readings, in class discussions, visual presentations, films, field trips and any other related possibilities.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits) and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken VISC 3B96 Special Topic in Visual Culture: Aboriginal Cultural Politics: Gender, Art and Activism may not take this course for further credit.

Performance and Performativity

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

Performance, a marginalized form of artistic activity during the reign of modernism, has in the time of postmodernism become a central component in art, culture and theory. This course will examine the diverse range of practices in recent performance art as well as explore some of its historical precedents. Course materials are interdisciplinary and will cover several of the many critical fields influencing contemporary performance discourse, such as feminism, postcolonial studies, and cultural studies. The term "performance" in this course is understood in the broadest sense. Works to be discussed will include artists' projects as well as events in mass media, politics, popular culture and "real life."

Post-War European Art (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

This seminar will look at some of the most creative moments in European art since 1945. The class will address a number of artistic propositions emerging from several groups (e.g. Arte Povera, Supports/Surfaces, Fluxus) as well as works by a range of artists (e.g. Yves Klein, Francis Bacon, Joseph Beuys, Magdalena Abakanowicz). Particular emphasis will be placed on the re-figuration of the “body” in various forms of artistic practice and on a re-contextualization of earlier (both modern and pre-modern) works of art.

Specific examples of artistic practices and discussions of critical texts will enable students to understand the different, often overlapping, contexts (social, historical, and philosophical) of postmodern and contemporary artistic production in post-war Europe.

Improvisational Music and the Visual Arts in the Late 20th Century (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

Improvisational music such as jazz and blues had a considerable impact on the visual arts during the first half of the 20th century. From mid-century onward, however, the impact in question has turned increasingly into interactions or correspondences between the two artistic forms. With a particular focus on the implications of the term “improvisation,” this course will explore the multiple types of correspondences in different media (painting, photography, video, film) between the two disciplines in the latter part of the twentieth century. Discussions of “allographic” versus “autographic” works and the theoretical premise of “framing” will enable students to interrogate the varying status of correspondences between the visual arts and improvisational music.

Prerequisites: 10.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits) and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Modern Korean Art and Society (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

This course examines the dramatic transformation of Korean society and art from the end of the 19th century until today. Korea’s history and art are a result of its historic interaction with the hegemonic powers of China and Japan and the contemporary influences of the United States. Its modern history and art are heavily indebted to the experiences of colonialism, war, the territorial division into North and South Korea, military authoritarianism, rapid industrialization, consumer culture and grassroots democratization movements. The course will draw on diverse materials such as art works, film, history texts, in order to show the interactions between politics, culture, arts and ideas during this historical transformation.

Reading Images of Aboriginal People (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

Canadian collective identity is constructed from a mix of myths, stereotypes and everyday cultural norms. To explore this premise, this course analyzes images and narratives grounded in the contemporary Canadian visual landscape – local and global media, archival material, literature, film, photography and art – to engage in a critical examination of post colonial and other contemporary cultural theories. Students will determine in what ways these ideologies and the images that proliferate around them serve to effectively decode the rapidly evolving dynamics of Aboriginal visual culture. The course will engage a discussion about how images have been historically located and how they may be used, manipulated and deployed within Aboriginal theories and ideologies.

The Senses in Artistic Practice (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

While many of the senses are involved in the experience and production of art, little attention has been devoted by art historians and critics to the senses beyond vision. Savoury, tactile, aromatic and sonic sensations have been employed by artists since the birth of the avant-garde to not only enliven antiseptic gallery and museum spaces, but to address the subtle but powerful links between everyday life, aesthetic experience, and cultural meaning. This class will explore the senses – especially taste, touch, smell and hearing – and their use by contemporary artists. Artworks in a diverse range of media will be addressed, including interactive performances, immersive installations, audio art and synaesthetic technologies. Critical analysis of the hierarchy of the senses and ocularcentrism will be addressed, along with how engaging the senses invariably brings forward complex (and conflicting) attitudes toward the body, personal identity and social affiliation.

Arts and Cultures of Asia and Oceania (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

This course explores the cultural production of Asia and Oceania to consider the impact of colonialism and globalization on local art forms, and how they are invested with meanings through cross-cultural exchange and consumption. Students develop an understanding of how meanings in traditional art have been reinterpreted and transformed through the dynamics of colonial encounters and global consumption. Field trips and a case-study approach provides students with the analytical tools necessary to understand how social, economic and political forces construct and transform cultural categories and issues such as gender, museums and representation, authenticity, tourism, cultural appropriation and the "primitive".

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

This course will examine monuments and memorials as expressions of collective memory, trauma, and identity. Some of the questions to be addressed will include: How are memories constructed? What are the politics of memorialization? Who decides which events should be commemorated, and how? How do memorials bear witness to history? In addition to addressing relevant theoretical concepts, we will study specific examples from diverse contexts, including the Vietnam Veterans' Memorial in Washington, Holocaust monuments in Germany and Eastern Europe, memorials to genocide in Cambodia and Rwanda, the World Trade Center Memorial in New York City, and the memorializing of violence against women in Canada and Mexico. Required reading will include texts by theorists (James E. Young, Marita Sturken, Erika Doss, Sharon Rosenberg, etc) and makers (Jochen Gerz, Daniel Liebeskind, Maya Lin, etc) of memorials and monuments.

How do researchers in visual and critical studies conceive of their objects of study? How do they gather, evaluate, and interpret information as the basis for their accounts? How do they structure their research and conclusions into coherent narratives? This course examines these and other questions, through an introduction to the diversity of methods utilized in the study of visual culture. Methods to be studied may include but are not limited to: practice-based research, qualitative and quantitative methods (ethnography, interviews, field-work), archival and bibliographic research, textual analysis, formalist, stylistic, and typological analyses, and selected theoretical frameworks (Marxism, feminism, psychoanalysis, etc.).

Special Topic in Visual Culture: Visual Narratives

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

Historically much of art was narrative. Despite the seeming overreliance on words since the rise of literacy, images have remained an important tool for communication. Visual narrative is an important subgenre of Visual studies and as such is a concern for contemporary designers and theorists across a range of subjects. This course will explore visual narratives and introduce you to methodologies to analyse and evaluate them. It asks how images, objects, and spaces can 'tell stories' with or without words. Narrative perspectives across disciplines and practices will be examined to aid your understanding of culture, and your role within it.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits) and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

History of Material Arts: Ancient Egypt to Modern Europe

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: Liberal Studies

Course Type: Academic Course

Credits: 0.50

This course surveys human-made things across time. It is concerned both with historical change and the social, economic, ideological and aesthetic contexts of materiality, invention, fabrication and use. Acknowledging the problematic category of the decorative arts, this course considers the development of ceramics, glass, textiles and metal work across time – from the ancients worlds to the contemporary one – in an effort to understand why things are made and how, and how they are used and why. Operating as a study of “material culture,” the course interrogates what is called craft but does so within the larger frame of social existence.

History and Evolution of Typography

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

This course addresses the historic development of the typographic form from the calligraphic forms that pre-date Guttenberg's invention of movable type and letterpress to current digital typography. We consider the cultural, technological and historical contexts critical to the understanding of typography and its uses. Typographic nomenclature as it has evolved is studied with respect to anatomy of the letter, its measurement and its technological history. Through lectures, class discussion, readings and research, students will learn to analyze typography and its effectiveness in the shaping of "word pictures."

Design Thinking

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

Design practice is becoming increasingly more interdisciplinary, socially focused and complex. As a result, design as a discipline has needed to initiate new modes of thinking about design which includes adapting methodologies from fields other than design. This course explores a broad range of contemporary design practices such as industrial design, environmental design and material art & design within this framework. Students will read contemporary texts written by or about designers and design theorists, analyze exemplary contemporary design practices through case studies and be encouraged to view design in an expanded field of related disciplines and practices.

Prerequisites: 3.0 credits of first-year studio and 1.0 credit of first-year liberal arts & sciences (including the Writing course with a minimum passing grade of 60%).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken VISC 2B38: Design Methodologies, VISC 3B11: Design Methodologies: Theories and Concepts, ENVR 3B11 or VISC 2B38: Design Thinking may not take this course for further credit.

Architecture in Canada, Past & Present

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

Through a survey of architecture in Canada, this course will explore the relationship between historical developments and wider changes in socio-political, technological and aesthetic realms in architecture and the built environment. From post-contact hybrid Aboriginal architecture to the most recent manifestations of environmentally responsible design, this course will examine architecture as a cultural practice shaped by its own rules and contexts, including spatial forms, materials and discourse. The course will analyze the relationship between these complex contexts and contemporary architectural and associated design practices.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM), and VISD 2B10: History of 20th century Architecture.

VISD 3B21Illustration and the Rise of Popular Culture*

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

This lecture-seminar course traces the development of illustration in the 19th and 20th centuries in relation to popular culture and literacy in the Western world. The range of subjects covered includes: posters, book illustration, advertising, magazine covers and editorial illustration. Students analyze the relationship of illustration to the written text/narrative, the effects on illustration of the evolution of printing technology, its links to publishing and the spread of the popular arts. The course emphasizes the contemporary scene, examining the work of illustrators who have developed distinctive styles challenging traditional assumptions about the nature and scope of illustration.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken ACAD 3B21 or VISC 3B21 may not take this course for further credit.

VISD 3B32*History of Furniture*

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

This lecture course introduces students to a survey of the history, form and function of Western furniture design. The course traces the diverse cultural influences on the development of furniture and considers how furniture reflects the changing social structure of society and the internal environment. The importance of the religious, social and cultural connotations of furniture will also be discussed. Particular emphasis is placed on the relationship of furniture design to its role in representing social status in Western culture and, by the late 19th century, domestic comfort. Prerequisite: 1.0 Liberal Studies credit at the 200 level, including 0.5 VISC credit.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

VISD 3B35The Writing on the Wall: Radical Graphics and the Culture of Protest*

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

This course examines the history of radical political movements and their graphic expression between the 18th century and the present, looking at the role of popular graphics (posters, pamphlets and magazines, graffiti, caricature, and graphic novels) in articulating political positions against the mainstream. We will consider a range of graphic work including 18th- and 19th-century revolutionary graphics and satirical prints; John Heartfield's anti-Nazi photomontages of the 1930s; 'third world' anti-colonial graphics; Situationist graphics and May '68; anti-Vietnam war posters and underground 'comix'; Canadian protest graphics (particularly in Québec); AIDS activist graphics (Gran Fury et al.); and contemporary anti-globalization graphics. We will consider the historical texts and contexts of these movements alongside their graphic strategies, and reflect on the broader relationship between graphics and politics in the modern era.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits), and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

VISD 3B36*The History and Theory of Interiors: Design and Production*

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

This course examines the history and theory of interior design between the seventeenth century and the present. Beginning with the lavish interiors of the Baroque and Rococo, we will explore the Neoclassical and Gothic revivals of the 18th and 19th centuries, the rise of the bourgeois dwelling, the Victorian interior, art nouveau and early modernist interiors, the mid-century suburban interior, and late modern interior design. This course considers the designed interior as a key site of formal experiment, marketing and consumption, and social relations, and we will explore historical case studies alongside theoretical perspectives from psychoanalysis, feminism, Marxism, and phenomenology.

*Sustainable Design Theories & Practices
(NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)*

*Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50*

This course provides a theoretical and historical framework for understanding sustainable design within its evolving context. This course combines the analysis of historical events, important texts and significant figures in sustainable design history with case studies utilized to illustrate and critique contemporary and historical sustainable design practices. Case studies are organized categorically by fields that include architecture, industrial design and urban planning among others. An emphasis on the interdisciplinary nature of sustainable design is placed within a broader cultural context, which includes a healthy dose of informed cynicism and active critique of contemporary sustainable design production and consumption. This course includes field trips and independent research.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits) and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

This course examines the multifaceted impact of the car in the 20th century, from its invention to the most recent examples of cars (electric, hybrid, Tata's people car, etc.). It will use the automobile as the entrée to an understanding of the culture of mobility. It will explore questions of the design and production of cars, taking into account gender and cultural differences; the effect cars have on the natural and built environment as well as the representation and the use of cars in the visual arts. The course will also examine car culture in relation to the far reaching challenge that sustainability represents for the 21st century.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits) and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Critical Play

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: Liberal Studies

Course Type: Academic Course

Credits: 0.50

Through critical play practices, we experiment with identity, creative expression and invention, and we learn to improvise in a system of rules. This course addresses how such forms of play can generate criticality among players. Students will explore meaning-making in play through exploration of a range of games, and by tracing a history of subversive art practices from Surrealism to contemporary game creation. Finally, the course presents diverse analytical approaches, including art history, critical theory and visual culture, to enable students to construct critical play practices. Understanding games beyond entertainment, the course seeks to foster critically-aware gamers.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits) and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Television Criticism (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

This class is designed to familiarize students with different approaches to television criticism, and to introduce students to practices of formulating and writing television criticism. The focus is on a critical tradition to understanding meaning making in television, and as such the class provides multiple perspectives, including textual approaches (such as semiotics), producer-oriented approaches (such as auteur analysis), audience research (such as audience-oriented research and critical audience research), and finally ideological analysis (such as feminist and critical cultural studies). Readings include both theoretical and materialized pieces of critical television criticism scholarship. Students will gain knowledge of important television research methods and their usefulness. In addition, students will, through the readings, learn about the economy/business and politics of television production, the aesthetics or codes of various TV genre, will address identity and TV representation in terms of gender, ethnic, sexual and other characteristics, and will learn about the processes by which audiences negotiate television. Upon concluding the class, students should be able to articulate the tenets of multiple television genres, determine the type of television criticism most appropriate to a particular type of question regarding television, articulate the steps of four different types of television criticism, and conduct an actual (undergraduate level) television research project.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits) and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Latin American Cinema (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

Latin American cinema has consistently proven to be one of the most formally and thematically innovative regional cinemas in the world, even though it is a cinema produced with limited financial resources. This course will focus on Latin American cinema from 1960 to the present and will include films from Cuba, Argentina, Brazil, Bolivia, Chile and Mexico. The course will examine how the original oppositional and revolutionary intentions of this cinema in the 1960s have been reformulated and re-invented over time in keeping with general political, economic and cultural shifts, from Modernism through Post-Modernism to post-industrial globalism. The range of aesthetic and intellectual strategies in the films presented is broad and will include documentaries, narrative fictions and hybrid works primarily in a feature format. The films to be screened address an equally broad range of issues and themes, including underdevelopment and development, colonial and post-colonial histories, popular revolution, race, gender, sexual orientation, aboriginal rights, exile, border crossing and multiple identities. This is a lecture/seminar course based on in-class screenings of films, readings of related critical and/or theoretical texts and the discussion of ideas that emerge from the screenings and readings.

Prerequisites: 7.5 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits) and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

This course examines contemporary approaches to documentary film, video and digital media from 1980 to the present. The primary focus of the course is on post-1980 reflexive or auteur documentaries and their use of narrative and subjective points of view, and the conventions of fiction. We consider the changing relationship between established documentary approaches and newer media forms including mass media television (reality TV, real-time news) and interactive and networked digital forms (CD-ROM, Internet, web-cams, home digital movies). This is a lecture-seminar course based on screenings of films, video and digital works and readings of related critical and theoretical texts.

Prerequisites: 10.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits) and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken VISC 3B40 or VISC 4B03 may not take this course for further credit.

Re-presenting Women: Feminist Film and Video (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies

Subject: Liberal Studies

Course Type: Academic Course

Credits: 0.50

This course will review some of the seminal and contemporary writers and theorists in feminist film and video, including the formative work of Teresa DeLauretis, Laura Mulvey, Jane Gaines, Tania Modleski, Jackie Stacey, B Ruby Rich, and others. The course will review essays that employ a variety of methods and theoretical approaches, including critical theory, psychoanalysis, post-structuralism and cultural studies approaches that enable a decidedly feminist critique of film and video. The course will also consider how feminist theories of film, and the aforementioned theoretical directions and methods have been integral to the establishment of "women's film" or feminist forms of filmmaking. Given that the subject matter, the range of subjects, theoretical approaches and topics will be interdisciplinary and diverse, addressing queer, diasporic, "third world", African American and other types of feminist filmmaking and theorizing. Through the semester, the class will look at both dominant and women's cinema. We will consider the representation of woman and the female in dominant Hollywood film forms, such as the "Weepies," Hitchcock, and Film Noir, employing feminist film theory. We will explore attempts at representing or re-presenting women in the work of feminist filmmakers and video artists such as Chantal Akerman, Cheryl Chisholm, Marlene Gorris, Bonnie Klein, Helke Sanders, and Trinh Minh Ha, among others. In so doing, we will consider issues in representing female time/space, female narrative, female relationships and female sexuality. The course will work as a seminar, with students introducing, considering and dialoguing with regard to the essay at hand. Each session will include the screening of a film that speaks to the essay at hand.

Prerequisites: 10.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits) and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken VISC 4B04 may not take this course for further credit.

Future Cinema: Digital Narratives (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

Film, video and digital media have converged and continue to open new possibilities for multimedia production. Classical cinematic narrative is transforming into a new culture of drama, gaming and fiction-based forms that merge traditional cinema, experimental literature, television, video, and the Internet. This seminar focuses on a range of contemporary film, video and digital artists who move across analogue and digital media forms to construct experimental narratives and to represent developing discourses of post-human existence and embodied imaginaries produced by media convergence. The course will present a range of contemporary theoretical approaches to frame analogue and digital narratives, including Peter Weibel's "Future Cinema" and Katherine Hayles "How We Became Post-Human". As well, key theoretical approaches to new multimedia narratives will be presented. The course involves weekly screenings and discussion of readings; assignments include a research paper and analytical essays.

Prerequisites: 10.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits) and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken VISC 4B05: Cosmopolis: New Narrative in Contemporary Media or VISC 4B05: Future Cinema: Digital Narratives may not take this course for further credit.

Global Mesh: Internet, Networks, Globalization and Digital Resistance

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

As representation becomes increasingly digital, virtual and global, cultural convergences and divergences multiply in unexpected and innovative ways. This course is designed to explore paradoxical contemporary formations of digital power and resistances by examining a range of theoretical approaches to digital networks and globalization, from political-economic and anthropological theory to technology and new social movement theory, by leading theorists, including Manuel Castells, Bruno Latour, Antonio Negri, Naomi Klein, Nestor Garcia Canclini and Arturo Escobar. These theoretical approaches to networks will be considered in relation to contemporary Internet representational practices, including anti-globalization networks, logic of the land networks, netwar networks, and reflexive culture jammer networks. Students develop the critical and practical tools to construct their own interventions as a new representational network. This course involves ongoing on-line research and weekly reading assignments, as well as essays and presentations.

Prerequisites: 10.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits) and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken VISC 4B06 may not take this course for further credit.

The Body and the Machine: Interrogating the Posthuman in Art and Design (NOT OFFERED IN FALL/WINTER 2012-13)

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

Since the deus ex machina was used as a means to resolve the plot in Greek tragedy, we have relied on the machine to augment the everyday and improve (?) our quality of life. The "posthuman" has emerged from postmodern discourse to describe our desire to extend beyond the limits of the human body. In this participatory seminar we will interrogate the ways that artists and designers have contributed to the production of the posthuman, examine its history in western and eastern cultures, and critique the process of its evolution.

Prerequisites: 10.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits) and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Anti-requisites: Students who have taken VISC 4B94 Special Topic in Visual Culture: The Body and the Machine: Interrogating the Posthuman in Art and Design may not take this course for further credit.

Special Topic in Visual Culture: Looking and Motion: Mobile Practices & Technology

Department: Liberal Studies
Subject: Liberal Studies
Course Type: Academic Course
Credits: 0.50

Mobility is a grounding concept in the history of communication and technology. This course uses "mobility" to traverse the history of mobile subjects and technologies from early mass society to the contemporary digital age. The class addresses the political, economic and social norms that articulate mobility as a desirable practice for contemporary, consuming subjects. As well, mobility is examined as key to technological developments and wide ranging, digital technologies and is theorized as a time- and space-based practice that encourages resistance in both discursive and aesthetics practices.

Prerequisites: 10.0 credits, including all first-year requirements (5.0 credits) and 1.0 credit of second-year liberal arts & sciences (including 0.5 credit in VISA/VISC/VISD/VISM).

Notes: This "Special Topic" course provides more advanced analysis of a topic of general interest or relevance. This course fulfills 0.5 credit toward the Liberal Art & Sciences requirements for a BFA or BDes.
